GET-TOGETHER MEETING HELD
Work of Church is Reviewed and Suggestions by Congregationalists

The first get-together meeting of the year for the First Congregational church was held in the church parlors last night, a large representation of church members and outside friends circling the big tables for the supper which was prepared and served by the women of the congregation.

For several winters these affairs have taken place about every three months and have yearly grown more popular, and bringing together, as they do, the members in an intimate, personal way they have served to stimulate a splendid spirit of co-operation and friendliness, that perhaps could be brought about in no other manner.

Following the supper hour, the various active members of the departments of the church were called upon to respond to given subjects, with which they were particularly familiar. Mrs. Alice H. Dodd presided in a most satisfactory way as toastmistress, and Mrs. W. I. Staley in an equally efficient way as hostess.

PERSONAL MENTION
Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Westbrook of Albany were Salem visitors recently.

H. W. Libby, district state engineer for the Pacific highway commission, will in the future make his headquarters in this city. Mr. Libby closed his offices in Eugene Wednesday.

M. Digon of Seattle is moving to Salem and will engage in the mercantile business here. He has purchased the business formerly conducted by A. Ackley at 205 South Twenty-fifth street.

Judge G. E. Unruh expects to spend Saturday in Portland.

W. J. Culver, Marion county road master, went to Marion yesterday on matters pertaining to his office.

Attorney Charles R. Glos of Portland was attending to legal business in the justice court yesterday.

Fred E. Anderson, formerly of this city, but now engaged as an engineer for the Standard Oil company, was in Salem Thursday.

H. S. Van Trump was in Woodburn Thursday inspecting nurseries in that vicinity.

Melody Minstrels Better Than Ever, Says Manager

The eighth annual production of the Melody Minstrels under the direction of A. G. Graham, promises to be one of the most pleasing and tuneful shows ever produced at the state penitentiary.

Exceptional soloists and a harmony chorus, together with the pick of the musical numbers from 50 music publishing houses in the east, assures the public of a rare treat. The opening musical numbers have been written especially for the Melody Minstrels by the Henry Burr Music corporation of New York City and is restricted solely to their use. The above firm has also sent two numbers which will be used in the first part and olio.

The costumes will excel in beauty those used last year, and those who witnessed last year's production will remember the beautiful costumes. Mr. Graham claims to have one of the best base soloists in the state, who, in conjunction with 24 entertainers will make you feel glad "O'Connell."

The dates on which the Melody Minstrels will appear in "Black and White" are November 11 and 12. The public is invited. The admission will be 50 cents.

Portland Specialist to Attend Baby Clinic Here

Word has been received by officials of the Marion County Children's bureau that Dr. Charles U. Moore, the child specialist of Portland, will be present at the next eugenics clinic held in the Commercial club auditorium, October 28.

Dr. Moore was scheduled to speak earlier in the year but owing to severe illness, which necessitated an operation he was unable to attend. He will aid in the examination and will also address the mothers on the care of children. It is considered a wonderful opportunity for mothers to secure expert advice concerning their children and it is expected that a full clinic will be secured.

Game Law Still in Force, Says Attorney General

Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle has written an opinion in response to an inquiry by A. J. Moore, district attorney for Deschutes county, holding that the law is still in force in Oregon making it unlawful at any time to hunt for or hunt in possession any mountain sheep, mountain goat, antelope, elk, moose, caribou, beaver, female deer, or spotted fawn or young deer of the first year, or any portion thereof, except for scientific, breeding or other purposes, except as otherwise provided by law.

DALLAS MAN HONORED
DALLAS, Or., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Statesman)—Lieut. S. Finsett of this city who is honored by the Knights of Pythias of Oregon at Marshfield last week by being elected to the office of grand vice chancellor, was given a reception by the members of Marmion lodge No. 96, his home lodge in their castle hall Monday night.

eral talk and exchange of opinions was taken up. A much appreciated feature of the evening was the musical numbers by Albert H. Gilie, who was accompanied by Mrs. Lillian Hartshorn.

Local Republican Club on Real Business Footing

The Harding-Coolidge-Stanfield club is now established in its new rooms in the Oregon building, third floor, room 229, and activities are being carried on in a systematic way. Someone is stationed in these headquarters during the daytime hours of 9 to 5 o'clock, and it is planned to keep the room open shortly, during the evening, so that those who are unable to call during the day may secure campaign material and peruse the literature at that time.

Sample ballots have been received, and there is also a large supply of buttons and posters on hand which are to be given out to those interested. Anyone unable to call will receive the same attention by writing, much of the material being secured in bundles ready for community work.

SNOW MAKES APPEARANCE
DALLAS, Or., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Statesman)—The first snow of the season has made its appearance on the mountains west of this city and when the weather is clear the higher peaks in the Coast range are covered with a white mantle which varies in depth from six inches to several feet. A party of hunters returning from a deer hunting expedition in western Polk county reported that it had considerable difficulty in making way over some of the trails on the summit owing to the depth of snow.
