The supper and dinner parties that were inspired by the Monday Night Club's dancing party the first of the week, were among the gayest, prettiest affairs of the past six days, gathering together as they did, folk who were particularly congenial. The largest of these was the supper for which Mrs. William McGilchrist Jr. and Mrs. Merlin Harding were joint hostesses, at the residence of the former. Two large tables were employed, and for one there was a centerpiece of vivid, scarlet salvia, and for the other a lovely mound of salmon-hued gladioli and fern. Places were marked with unique Hallowe'en cards.

Those circling the tables were: Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stiff, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. Millar McGilchrist, Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Neill, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brophy, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glover, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Grier, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Harding, and Mr. and Mrs. McGilchrist.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spaulding complimented Miss Francelle Hawley, daughter of Senator and Mrs. C. L. Hawley with their dinner, for which covers were laid for eight. It was a charming affair, marked by the unusually beautiful decorations. All the insignia of Hallowe'en ornamented the chandelier above the board, a silver candelabra bearing yellow candles, and black and place cards, bearing out the black and yellow color motif.

The rooms also reflected the season, wierd jack-o'-lanterns gleaming from banks of autumn foliage, interspersed with zinnias and box berry.

Another of these delightful affairs was the supper, over which Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Geer presided as hosts. Guests circled a table that was festive and beautiful, with a color motif perfected in red, salvia, candles, and favors all being in this color.

Those bidden were: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Galloway, Mr. and Mrs. Armin Steiner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kirk.

Still another contribution was the supper given by Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Darby, which called together fourteen guests. Here again Hallowe'en decorations prevailed.

Announcement of an another event of paramount importance just made is that of the Junior Guild dance, to be given in the armory early in November. It is an annual event, and conforming to past affairs of the same nature, promises to be one of the smartest and most largely-attended, of any of the season's dances.

A great deal of interest is attached to the large dancing party, which Mr. and Mrs. R. L. White are giving for their daughter, Miss Margaret White, which will be an outstanding affair of the Holiday season, the date falling on Christmas eve.

A large invitational list will call together member of the youngest social set from both Salem and from out of town.

Motoring down to Woodburn last night to attend a carnival.

HALLOWE'EN

By Gertrude Robison Koss

I leaned last night on the little sill Where many a time we have leaned before, And my heart was struck with a sudden chill, For something white was at the door; And it beckoned me—and still and still, It may have been the mist—no more.

I knelt me down by my bed to pray That He bring my love safe home again, And ever above the prayers I'd say I heard the cry as one in pain, And it frightened me—but today, today, I'm sure that it must have been the rain.

I know that God will not forget To bring him back, for God is kind; But a voice kept calling through the wet, And drenched with fear my heart and mind; And I knew the voice—and yet, and yet, It may have only been the wind.

given under the auspices of the Order of the Eastern Star, were a group of Salem folk, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Z. J. Riggs, Miss Edna Simonton and O. K. DeWitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mills are entertaining as their house guest the former's mother, Mrs. A. R. Mills, of Springbrook, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert W. Macy (Miss Anna Rader Campbell) whose marriage was an event of October 14, in Walla Walla, Wash., will arrive in Salem tomorrow, from their honeymoon, which was spent in Eastern Oregon.

Pennants and emblems of the order made the dance of the Arabian Knight's club in Moose hall Tuesday night, a distinctive and beautiful affair, from the point of view of the decorative background, and there were the few deft touches of Hallowe'en added to the red, yellow and green of the order that made the setting bizarre and striking in the extreme.

A great many new and lovely gowns were noted, the affair being marked in every way as one of the most attractive and delightful of any given during the season. Hunt's orchestra of five pieces furnished the music for the evening.

From out of town there came to be in attendance, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Walker Powell, and Mr. and Mrs. John Steelhammer, of Woodburn, and the following from Salem: Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Love, Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gilie, Mr. and Mrs. Lear B. Davis, Dr. and Mrs. O. A. Olson, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Darby, Paul Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Z. A group of Salem golf enthusiasts will motor to Portland this morning to try out the new Municipal links. While there the men will be the guests of Percy Bretherton, who recently visited in Salem as the guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brown. Tonight Mr. Bretherton is giving a dinner in honor of the visitors, who are Chester Cox, William H. Inghardt, Frederick D. Thielsen and John W. Harbison.

Kirk, and the following additional guests: Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gilbert, C. B. Clancey, Dr. and Mrs. B. L. Steevens and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baker.

A joint birthday celebration will be held at the Dr. W. H. Byrd home today when Dr. Byrd and Virginia Mary Byrd, the little 2-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Bird will celebrate their natal anniversaries. It will be a family gathering, including Dr. Don Byrd of Portland.

The rooms are attractively decorated with pink and white dahlias, and the dining room presents a most festive and beautiful appearance with yellow dahlias, greenery and marigolds, the table being centered with a big basket of autumn fruit and lighted with yellow candles. All the other appointments carry out the note of Hallowe'en.

One of the prettiest juvenile parties of the week, which had a Hallowe'en motif, was the one given by Mrs. C. A. Lewis Friday evening for the pleasure of her little daughter, Elizabeth, and a group of her small friends.

Novelties of the season were in evidence throughout the rooms, the pretty table being done in yellow, with yellow candle-light diffusing a soft glow. Entertainment appropriate to the time was enjoyed.

The guest list included Katherine and Dorothy Cory, Roberta Mills, Lucille Nash, Dorothy Kloppeing, Mildred Drager, Dorothy Ross and Roy Page.

Mr. and Mrs. Claybourne H. Walker arrived in Salem this week from Newport and will remain for some time as the house guests of their son in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Condie Dyer. Later they expect to go to Southern California where they will pass the greater part of the winter.

Mrs. Roy Bishop and Mrs. Bert Haney asking her to be their guest for the affair at the Heilig theater.

Mrs. Ralph A. Glover was a gracious hostess Thursday night, when she entertained with a dinner in celebration of Mr. Glover's birthday. A golden mound of marigolds formed a centerpiece for the table around which were seated Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich Moir, and Miss Jean Duncan, recently of New York City, and Mr. and Mrs. Glover.

Miss Elizabeth Lord and Paul Wallace were Salem folk attending the Junior-League dance in Portland Tuesday night, the affair being one of the largest and smartest events in many years in the metropolis.

Preceding the dance Miss Lord and Mr. Wallace were guests of Mrs. George Gerlinger, who was entertaining with a twelve-cover dinner at her residence.

Karlene Elizabeth Rice, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Rice, was the inspiration for a charming little birthday dinner which Mrs. Rice gave Monday night.
