ANOTHER LAST WORD

Two matters of outstanding importance are involved in the election of today:
 Getting rid of the Wilson administration—
 And securing a protective tariff.

A great many things are involved in the first above mentioned matter—
 Like getting rid of the first administration in this or any other country that ever fought a great war as a partisan war, playing political favorites and creating a whole crop of Democratic profiteering millionaires at the expense of the people—
 That spent hundreds of millions on airplanes, and never got an airplane to the fighting front—
 That spent a hundred million dollars for tanks, and never got a tank to the fighting line—
 That spent $150,000,000 for port terminals, mostly in the South, without a ship ever sailing from one of them—
 That spent $120,000,000 for a nitrate plant in Alabama, where no nitrate was made—
 That "put a concentration camp, airplane field or factory or camp of some kind in every dismal swamp and deep mud-hole and wide place in the road in the South"—
 And sent Northern boys down there to swelter and shake with fevers and die—
 That literally squandered and threw away billions—
 And piled up a national debt of $26,000,000,000, and levied unjust and unequal and burdensome taxes to pay the interest on that debt—
 And then, when our soldiers had won the war, at the useless sacrifice of many lives on account of lack of protection from airplanes and on account of bunglesome methods generally, this Democratic administration kept on the federal pay-rolls 100,000 to 200,000 useless seat warmers, and keeps them today—
 And wanted to spend $4,000,000,000 more in wasteful methods, and would have done so but for a Republican Congress.

The above is only a generalization of the thousands of things that were done and are being done now, that make it very important to get rid of Wilsonism and all its works—and to have a clean sheet and get the government back into the hands of the people and its business down to brass tacks and back to first principles of economy and efficiency.

That is enough, God knows, to warrant a change. But a protective tariff is still more important. Just before Kaiser Bill started for Paris, the present Democratic free trade tariff law was the cause of bread lines and soup houses in all the industrial centers.

The war came and changed the world over night. But that law is still in force, and this country is being now flooded with goods from foreign lands, made and produced by laborers receiving wages so far below the scales and standards in this country that there will soon again be bread lines and soup houses.

We must have a protective tariff.

The wages of our workers in this country make up an aggregate that makes them four times as important to our nation's welfare as all our wealth of every kind.

These wages must be made secure—
 Or there will be trouble ahead for us all.
 And they should be made secure, and at the same time a large part of the revenues of our government should be collected at the custom houses.

A Republican victory will assure this; and it will guarantee work at good wages for all who want to work; and profitable returns for every dollar of capital wisely invested in this country.

That is the biggest thing of all—
 It threatens poverty and rags and ruin and riot on the one hand—with Democratic victory.
 And it promises smiling prosperity and unprecedented progress on the other hand—with Republican victory.

And, too, it is not enough to elect Harding and Coolidge. There must be a Republican Senate, and it is the duty of every man and woman in Oregon, of any political party, to vote for Stanfield, in order to make the clean sweep clean and to make the protective tariff an assured thing.

Do not forget to write in the names of George M. Brown for Justice of the Supreme Court, and I. H. Van Winkle for Attorney General. These men are worthy and well qualified. Owing to sinister opposition, they may both need the vote of every one in this section. Their names are not printed on the ballot, so you must be sure to write them in.

is being fed to keep him alive until after the national election. The silence strike is still on.

Why should any man, even a Democrat, be asked to vote his own head off? That's what the free trade party's flegmen are asking.

After the sweeping Republican victory of today, watch Liberty bonds climb to par, and watch business boom all over America—especially in Oregon.

If Emma Goldman wants to come back why don't she write to President Wilson for a pardon. Secretary Baker would endorse the application.—Exchange.

If the good people would devote as much time and labor to elections as the roughnecks, the latter would soon shrivel up and never enter politics again.

Yes, the people of the United States have had all of Wilson and Wilsonism they wanted; a comfortable sufficiency; "more as they could use." So will be the verdict today.

Senator Harding will celebrate his 55th birthday today, and a large majority of the men and women voters of America will send their compliments and wish him many happy returns, from the polling booths.

Oh, yes; Chamberlain is a good handshaker. But his candidacy is against every single interest of every man and woman in Oregon. Why should any one be asked to vote the bread out of his children's mouths, even for the suave and sociable George?

Of 10,000 women polled in the city of New York by the Herald's nonpartisan canvass, 8000 in round numbers were for Harding and Coolidge. The great majority, giving their reasons, said they wanted to get rid of Wilson and Wilsonism. The women are surely going to hand it to Cox today.

The Democratic bunchgrasses east of the Cascades know a hawk from a handsaw, when the wind is from the south. They are going down the line today for protection to their products, in the only way they can be sure of it—by voting the straight Republican ticket, from Harding down to Stanfield.

The party that says in its platform that it is in favor of the "traditional" policy of a tariff for revenue only—which is a lie, for it is no tariff at all and produces no revenue—that party will be notified by Oregon today that it can go away back and sit down and nurse its traditions. We want protection.

Cox is wet in the wet states; dry in dry states; jollying the progressives in progressive states and the stand-patters in the stand-pat states, and even paying tribute to William J. Bryan after having roasted him in his newspaper in 1914. No wonder the common people cannot understand his antics. But it is Cox's way.

"The whole purpose of democracy is that we may hold counsel with one another so as not to depend upon the understanding of one man, but to depend upon the counsel of all." Who said this? Not a prominent Republican, but Woodrow Wilson, in one of his speeches in the campaign of 1912.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Vote early—
 And vote 'er straight.
 Polls open from 8 to 8.

The returns will be both flashed and megaphoned at The Statesman office.

They will be flashed across the street onto the side of Hotel Marion.

Chamberlain votes for Cox today. And still he is asking 100,000 Republicans in Oregon who will vote for Harding to vote for him.

And asking them to vote for him with the full assurance that he will vote with the Democrats in congress, against every single interest of Oregon.

The gall of the man!

It is high time Oregon Republicans thought of their own interests—and the Bits for Breakfast man predicts that they will do this very thing today.

Watch the Oregon women soak the wet candidate for president today.

The Bits for Breakfast man proposes to vote for the two platoon system, the $25,000 for the general fund asked for by the city council, and for Moffitt for city marshal.

Filbert slogan in The Statesman on Thursday. Growing to be a great industry. If you can help, it is your duty to help prove it.

A lot of folks in this world have nothing to say—and insist upon saying it.

Are the widows and women of mature years taking proper advantage of the leap year privileges? Tempus is fugiting.

We are getting on. Until recently the agricultural department always referred to them as "milk cows." Now it is "milk cows." And why not.

Georges Carpentier, the French prize fighter, uses perfume and we are not the one to say that Jack Dempsey could not use some of the stuff in his business.—Exchange.

The dollar is slowly but surely advancing in value, but the trouble is that, while it is likely to be worth more, it will also be harder to get. There are some unchangeable rules about this money business that we were never "hep" to.

It is a good sign that the life insurance rates on the president of Mexico have not advanced lately.

A lot of the things that never come true in this life are what we often dream about when we are awake. Not all of the dreaming is done when we are in the arms of Morpheus.

The famous humorist, Bailey, of the Danbury News made his fame writing an article about a man putting up a stovepipe. There is a garland for the funny man who will embalm the scene of a man getting out and under an automobile.

EDITORIALS OF THE PEOPLE

New York Not Dry Then
 Editor Statesman,
 This government placed its compelling hand on 2,000,000 of our young men and subjected them to such service in France as in some instances to shatter their nerves and partially dethrone their reason.

These men are now herded in that he is possessed of such common sense and common sense among all the degenerates, imbeciles and derelicts of the state. These boys are casualties of the war as much or more than if they had lost an arm or leg. We have these men in Salem, and the government applied for opportunity to place more of them here, which offer was turned down unless they were citizen soldiers of Oregon.

Have you ever heard Senator Chamberlain raising his voice against this brutal treatment of the nation's defenders?

But of course these poor boys can't vote.

We are continually reminded by Senator Chamberlain's friends that he is possessed of such commanding ability and long legislative experience that it would be a calamity to dispense with his services as a senator.

Let us see, Senator Chamberlain was the chairman of the military committee of the senate. He at least did not prevent this thing

Vote 'er straight.
 Let's go. Today's the day.
 Watch that elephant rush that mule.
 Watch the solemn referendum today.
 Vote for protection and prosperity.
 This is the day we return the government to the people.
 Let 'er buck; and make it snappy, and make it straight.
 Don't tie Harding's hands. Give him a chance. Vote for Stanfield.

Promises, but no protection. That's Democracy. Watch 'em swat 'em.
 It's going to be a regular McKinley victory and a regular McKinley revival.
 This is Republican weather, unless the goosebone falls as a political prophet.
 Finally, the day has arrived to swat Wilson and all his works. Watch 'em go to it.
 "It has all the appearance of the United States emerging from purgatory on Tuesday, Nov. 2."

No level headed man or woman will vote for the single tax; and no sane or honest man or woman will vote for the 5 per cent interest criminal proposition.

Vote for five:
 1. Oleomargarine bill.
 2. Extending county officers' terms.
 3. Consolidating Portland ports.
 4. Divided session bill.
 5. Market commission bill.

The two latter are designed to prevent red radical legislation, and to head off the activities of that bunch of pirates sailing under the name of the Nonpartisan league.

Practically all of the admirers of Senator Chamberlain hark back to some real or supposed personal service.

For instance: Every civil war resident of Oregon after the passage of the recent pension bill received a personal letter written by Senator Chamberlain's private secretary, hired at public expense, explaining all about the law, etc., etc.

Now, this bill was introduced in both houses by a Republican, and every vote cast against it was a Democratic vote.

I confess that I rather admired Senator Chamberlain's New York speech where he so vigorously denounced the Democratic party in power—which of course included himself.

But New York was not dry then.

Do You Know Why Kryptok Glasses Are So Popular?

The person acquainted with Kryptok (pronounced triptok), Glasses knows that their popularity is due to the fact that they are the only invisible bifocals.

What does "invisible" mean? It means that whereas, in all other bifocals you can see or feel a line, seam or hump across the lenses where the far vision and near vision segments of optical glasses are joined, in Kryptoks there is absolutely no trace of line, seam or hump. In Kryptoks the segments are so fused together that the Kryptok lenses can not be distinguished from a single vision lens. That is why they are the only invisible bifocals.

Prescribing Kryptoks is one of the features of our service in keeping eyes up to their maximum efficiency. Only an examination can reveal the need of Kryptoks, because they are only for people whose eyes need help for both near and far vision. Whether your eyes need Kryptoks or some other glasses, we are fully equipped to serve you.
