A DAUGHTER OF THE DUST

Audred Bunch

A daughter of the dust am I, A dust as red, as coarse, as dry, As mountain soil, where gnarled trees With gnarled limbs, survey the seas;

A daughter of the dust—and yet, The scented sweet of mignonette, And rosy words of love attuned To silent skies serenely mooned,

Have left my clayey frame a-throb, Until in rapture, voice a-sob, I've cried to leave all common things, I cried for iridescent wings,

But, now I'm crying so, because My filmy wings of irised gauze, Must beat so hard against their cage, Because the clay's my heritage.

delightful program was one of the features of the afternoon. Mrs. John Roberts pleased the women with a song, beautifully rendered. Mrs. Clifford Brown gave an interesting and lively discussion of current events, and was heartily applauded. An exceptionally fine reading, "Ministers of Mercy," was given by Mrs. Thomas Burroughs. Mrs. Lillian Hartshorn acted as piano accompanist for the vocal numbers.

Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the session. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Dan Fry, Sr., and Mrs. F. D. Kibbe.

Gathering at the home of Mrs. J. T. Hunt, 1137 Court street, Friday afternoon, the women of the Missionary society of the First Christian church, enjoyed one of the most pleasant meetings of the year. Lavender and white, the class colors, were used in decorating and carried out in the refreshments. The brief business meeting was followed by an admirable program and pleasant social hour. Mrs. T. E. McCroskey was manager of the meeting. Papers were read by Mrs. O. J. Hall, Mrs. Eugenia Gillingham, Mrs. H. M. Styles and Mrs. McCroskey.

Mrs. Hunt was graciously assisted by Mrs. S. C. Stone, Mrs. J. W. Herritt, Mrs. Nona White and Mrs. H. Albright.

When Alessandro Bonci, the great Italian tenor of the Chicago Grand Opera pronounced Albert Lindquist the most promising tenor he had heard in years, and advised him to give up the study of law and begin a musical career, he laid the foundation of one of the most sensational successes in the musical world ever witnessed in recent years. Following the advice of the great man, Mr. Lindquist took up the study of music, and today is pronounced one of America's greatest tenors.

Through the efforts of the local managers of the Lyceum course, Salemites will be enabled to hear Mr. Lindquist in concert Friday, December 10. He will be assisted by two artists of exceptional ability, Miss Leonora Allen, formerly with the Chicago Symphony, the St. Louis Symphony, and the Chicago Operatic quartet, and Robert MacDonald, pianist, who is generally conceded to be one of the most brilliant artists among the younger American pianists.

The Lindquist recital is the second number on the Lyceum course. The program chosen by Mr. Lindquist is beautiful and varied, composed of the following numbers:

Tuesday evening, December 14, has been set aside by the members of the Business and Professional Woman's club for their large banquet which will be given at the Hotel Marion. Miss Cornelia Marvin, state librarian, will be the speaker of the evening.

A delightful affair of Saturday night was the dinner over which Colonel and Percy A. Willis presided at the Hotel Marion. Besides the hosts, covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hendricks and Mr. and Mrs. William Stolger.

The regular meeting of the Salem War Mothers will be held next Tuesday in the Commercial club auditorium. A large attendance is desired. All War Mothers in Salem and Marion county are expected to furnish something for the hospital fund bazaar on December 15. Fancy work, all sorts of cooked food, canned fruits and jellies and articles for the grab-bag will be acceptable. All donations and contributions must be at the armory on Tuesday, December 14. A committee will be present at that time to receive the gifts, and all packages addressed to the War Mothers at the armory.

And giving is not limited to war mothers only, but any one interested may aid; indeed, are urged to aid in this most worthy cause.

Do your bit!

Outstanding on next week's program will be the large Kensington Wednesday afternoon, for which Mrs. Charles Kent Spaulding, Mrs. Walter Leon Spaulding and Mrs. Roy Henry Mills have issued invitations, the affair to take place at the home of the former.

On Friday evening the beautiful Spaulding home will again be opened, when Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding will entertain with an evening of cards.

Mrs. David Eyre entertained the Bridge Luncheon club at its regular meeting Tuesday evening. The handsomely appointed table was centered with Richmond rosebuds, and candles in silver candlesticks were used in the lighting effect. Small nut baskets were used as favors marking the places at the guests. Additional guests at the delightful affair were Mrs. William Walton and Mrs. W. E. Brown of Portland. The club will be entertained by Mrs. George F. Rodgers at the next meeting.

The Lady Foresters of St. Joseph's church, sponsored a bazaar in the Knights of Columbus hall on State street yesterday, which was successful in every way. This was the annual Christmas bazaar given by some organization in the church each year. Mrs. J. G. Naddon was chairman of the executive committee and was assisted by a number of prominent women in the church.

Mrs. Jessie Lane, chief ranger, was chairman ex-officio, and with Mrs. Joseph Domogalla managed the sale of dresses. Miss Willa Huckestein and Miss Mary Neeson had charge of the open sale while the fancy articles were cared for by Mrs. B. F. Dimelar and Miss Rose Zellinski. Mrs. Paul Reidy and Mrs. Steinger were in charge of the lunch, the cooked food sale being in the hands of Mrs. Josephine Suins and Mrs. J. Bernard. Miss Gladys Dimeler and Miss Marie Naddon presided in the candy booth, the candy packages sold among the crowds being handled by Honora Reidy, Mildred Suing and Vivian Nadon. Mrs. Nadon herself took entire charge of the miscellaneous articles. The bazaar started at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and there was a record attendance from the time the doors opened until they closed late last night.

One of the most elaborate events on the week's social calendar was the function given at the home of Mrs. George H. Burnett, 335 North High street, last Tuesday afternoon. The affair was in honor of the past matrons of the Eastern Star, their husbands and friends.

The dinner was served in the two spacious parlors the guests being seated at four tables. Carnations in pink and white and chrysanthemums in the same delicate shades were used abundantly about the rooms and as centerpiece for the beautifully appointed tables. Thirty-four guests were seated.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Marie Flint, Mrs. M. L. Meyers, Mrs. James Godfrey and Mrs. George H. Burnett.

Miss Irene Fox of Brownsville is being entertained at the home of Mrs. F. L. Purvine, 2009 North Fifth street, during a short visit in the Capital City. Miss Fox accompanied Mrs. Purvine to Salem the early part of the week, after the latter had visited at the Fox residence in Brownsville for several days.

Recent hostesses were Mrs. Frank Myers and Mrs. Frank Brown, who entertained with an informal dinner at the Myers residence, on South Commercial street. Yellow and lavender chrysanthemums, charmingly offset with amilax, formed a pretty centerpiece for the well appointed table at which covers were laid for the following: Mr. and Mrs. Eliner Halden (Denlah Myers) and their two sons, Walter and Robert; Miss Birdine Meyers; Miss Helen Allen, Mrs. Clara Myers, O. J. Myers, Robert Perrich, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Giddins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown.

Mrs. N. S. Savage and Mrs. W. Lebold were joint hostesses for the Mothers' club of the First Methodist Sunday school last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Savage. After the business session an interesting program was rendered, including discussions of social topics. Dainty refreshments were served in the afternoon. About 25 ladies were present.
