young musical prodigies, furnished some beautiful selections during the social hour. In the dining room where a perfectly appointed luncheon was served, a color scheme of red was carried out, emanations of the brilliant coloring and shaded candles being used. Red favors at each plate completed the motif. Additional guests were Mrs. Ercel Koy, Mrs. Curtis Cross and Miss Virginia Byrd.

Mrs. Mary Gilbert entertained the Cecilia Music club in its regular November meeting at her home at the state training school. Formal initiation of the new members of the club took place. Members of the club are: Helen Corey, Marian Emmons, Mary Gilbert, Frances Hodge, Junette Jones, Miriam Lovell, Mabel March, Lola Millard, Lucile Moore, Leah Ross, Frances Shrode, Katherine Vincent, Ruth Wechter, Gertrude West, Florence Young, Myrtle Martin, Ruth Page and Iva Clair Low.

The members of the bridge club composed of a group of young married people, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hawkins Thursday evening and enjoyed an evening of cards. High honors went to Mrs. Joseph McAllister and Frank Spears.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Drager were Portland visitors for several days this week. While in the metropolis they were guests at the Multnomah.

A FEW elite affairs on the past week's social calendar claimed the attention of Salem society folk. The reason of their eminent importance and the perfection of detail which marked their presentation. The Kay-Huntington wedding the first of the week is unrivaled in the annals of the social history of the city for the distinguished combination of beauty and simplicity with which it was carried out. The Spaulding-Mills party at the Illahee Country club Friday evening was one of the most brilliant functions of the present season. Closing the week's activities the dinner party at Hotel Marion last evening in honor of Miss Catherine Slade was undoubtedly a high light on the winter's program.

THE week had an auspicious beginning with the wedding of Miss Marjorie Kay and Miss Willson Huntington, which was celebrated Monday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Representative and Mrs. Thomas B. Kay on Court street. It was a beautiful affair marked by artistic appointments and the large number of out-of-town guests. Owing to the prominence of the families, and also because of the popularity of the bride and bridegroom the event attracted state-wide interest. Mrs. Huntington is generally conceded as being one of the most beautiful girls in the capital city. She is a devotee of all out-of-door activities and is a particularly adept tennis player. She was exceedingly popular during her years at the University of Oregon, from which she was graduated last year and where she was a Gamma Phi Beta.

Mr. Huntington met his bride at the university, where he was a Phi Delta Theta man. He wedding collation was served on the second floor, where mauve chrysanthemums and greenery banked the mantle, and boxes of fern added their decorative touch. The table was particularly beautiful. A great mound of exquisite pompon chrysanthemums, snowily white, were used as a centerpiece. Festoons of metal ribbon and white tulle were attached to the tablecover and were gracefully looped about the flowers. On either end Mrs. Hamilton Weir of Eugene and Mrs. Ben W. Olet served, and they were assisted by a group of Gamma Phi Beta girls. Mrs. Ercel Kay and Mrs. E. C. Cross assisted on the first floor, and Mrs. John Roberts and Mrs. Frank Spencer on the second. Telegrams of congratulations were received from far and wide, and the wedding gifts were unusually beautiful, nearly filling a large room on the second floor.

THE first private dancing party ever given at the Illahee Country club took place Friday night, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leone Spaulding and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henry Mills being accorded the initial privilege of entertaining at this exclusive clubhouse. A large number of invitations were issued for the affair, and despite the inclemency of the weather, nearly all called forth a personal response. Congenial groups formed, motoring out for the event. The interior was effectively treated with a color motif of yellow, an effective and original note being struck in the employment of bizarre Indian blankets, baskets and decorative material. A totem pole was an interesting detail on the punch table, which was presided over by Miss Ava Miller, an Indian robes, multi-colored candles, and a table cover displaying the same hues completed this idea.

Garlands of evergreen festooned the ceiling and hanging baskets with their greenery and golden flowers were suspended from the chandeliers. A cheerful fire glowed in the hearth and the mantle was embellished with a big jar of yellow chrysanthemums. Credit for the decorations was given to C. B. Clancey. The smartness of the gowns was another feature of interest. Among those noted were the following: Mrs. Walter Spaulding—Silver and coral sunburst silk, with black sequin forming the bodice and relieving touches on the skirt. Mrs. Mills—Paprika colored striped charmeuse, with accessories to harmonize. Mrs. Charles K. Spaulding—Black satin, elaborated with gold lace, worn with a picture hat of gold lace. Mrs. Charles E. Bates—Black silk net over black, ornamented with silver beads. Mrs. Frank G. Andrae—Black Satin, with modish panel on skirt. Mrs. Armin Steiner—Pink maline over white satin, bouffant hip effect with garniture of tiny pink rose buds. Romeo Goulet—White silk with flame colored overdress. Mrs. Walter Kirk—Black silk with flounces of maline. Mrs. P. E. Fullerton—Black satin heavily beaded with jet. Mrs. William S. Walton—Old gold foundation with maline used in combination. Mrs. Chester Downs—White foundation with flame-colored maline in bouffant hip effect. Miss Ila Spaulding—Black net over black satin, with sequins and red corsage. Mrs. Frederick Lampert—Yellow charmeuse with iridescent girdle.

The invitation list follows: Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Andrae, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Byrd, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Bates, Dr. and Mrs. Grover Bellinger, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Miss Marie Churchill, Miss Gertrude Hartman, Miss Margaret Rodgers, Miss Ila Spaulding, Miss Ellen Thielsen, James Crawford, Lewis Griffith, Otto Hartman, O. J. Meyers, Paul Wallace and C. B. Clancey. For the pleasure of the members of the Monday Afternoon club and a few additional guests, Mrs. Arthur H. Moore entertained with a delightful Five Hundred party Friday evening at her home on Court street. A brilliant bit of coloring was introduced in the unique decoration of red rose tips that graced the room of the Moore dwelling. Miss Ruth Moore and Miss Dorothy Brock assisted the hostess with the serving of refreshments. Mrs. W. I. Staley and R. B. Goodin won high honors. The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Staley, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Brock, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. John Brophie, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Bowersox, Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Brandt, Mrs. Grace Eoff, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Goodin, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glover and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Haid.

One of the most feted members of the younger social set during the past week was Miss Catherine Slade, who leaves Tuesday evening for Nova Scotia, where she will make her home with her parents. Chief among the social compliments in her honor was the dinner at Hotel Marion last evening for which a group of young men, prominent in social activities, were hosts. The handsomely appointed table was centered with a huge bunch of violets and pink rose buds, made up of individual corsage bouquets. At the close of the dinner each young lady was presented with one of these as a favor. Covers were laid for Miss Slade, Miss Catherine Carson, Miss Helen Lovell, Miss Margaret Rodgers, Carl Gabrielson, Carl Becke, James Young and Lawrence Hofer. Dr. Phil A. Parson of the University of Oregon will be the speaker on child welfare day, Saturday, December 11, for the Salem Woman's club. Mrs. E. E. Fisher is chairman of the day. Following Dr. Parson's address members of the club will inspect children's books on display, which have been carefully selected by Miss Flora M. Case, city librarian, and the members of the literature committee of the club, of which Mrs. J. C. Nelson is head, and which includes Mrs. M. O. Buren, Mrs. Louis Lachmund and Mrs. W. C. Dibble. A musical program and informal tea hour will culminate the afternoon. Supplementing the Spaulding dance at the Country club Friday evening, Mrs. Paul Johnson entertained a coterie of friends at an informal dinner. Ping carnations as a centerpiece, and pink shaded candles were used as table decorations, covers being laid for Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Colony, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Hates, Mr. and Mrs. Bliss Darby and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. P. J. Kuntz entertained the members of the P. E. O. Sisterhood at their meeting Thursday afternoon. Among the matters taken up at their business meeting were plans to further the furnishing of a ward at the Deaconess hospital, which the Sisterhood has undertaken, and plans for a Christmas party at which the husbands of the members will be guests December 17 was set as the date for the party.

With 200 persons present, the meeting of the Marion County Veterans' association, held last week at McCornack hall, was the largest and most successful in the history of the organization.

Mrs. Inez Hendricks, president, presided and Mrs. Norma Terwilliger, secretary, was in charge of the memorial. The morning session was occupied with a business meeting and at noon a sumptuous dinner was served. Special guests at dinner were Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Powell, Rev. and Mrs. H. N. Aldrich, Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Acheson, Miss Vera Fitzhugh, Miss Madeline Giesy, Miss Gertrude Reischbach, Ralph Harris, Harold Rupert, Robert Ramsden, Ernest Azgerets and Cecil Denson. Memorial services for members who have died in the past year were followed by the regular program composed of instrumental and vocal musical numbers and reading selections. Seven new members were taken in. The hall decorations consisted of shaggy yellow chrysanthemums and Oregon grape. A resolution pledging the support of the association in any movement to erect a memorial building for the use of veterans, was unanimously adopted. The closing benediction was given by Rev. C. H. Powell.

Mrs. W. T. Rigdon was hostess at the meeting and tea of the Missionary society of the First Methodist church Thursday, at which 50 members were present. The rooms of the Rigdon residence were appropriately decorated with season's flowers and the hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. A. A. Lee, Mrs. U. G. Bover and Mrs. Upmeyer. Mrs. Pindley was in charge of the devotional and Mrs. George H. Alden gave a report of the national convention held recently in Minneapolis.

The semi monthly meeting of the Rhateterians society took place at the lovely home of Mrs. C. E. Bates on Center street Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Bates was assisted in entertaining her guests by her sister, Miss Margaret Graham. The following members of the club were present:

Mrs. Ronald Glover, Mrs. Alpheus Gillette, Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. Grover Bellinger, Mrs. Roy Shields, Mrs. Guy Smith, Mrs. L. M. candles carried out the delicate color scheme, which was used likewise on the luncheon table. High card honors went to Mrs. Charles Strickland.

Assisted by Miss Theresa Fowle and Mrs. Curtis Cross, Mrs. W. P. Fowle entertained the Piety Hill club Thursday afternoon at her home on North Capitol street. The rooms in which the meeting was held was lavishly decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. Master Albert Lachelle, pianist, and Leonard Chadwick, violinist, two of the city's Salem high school has been the scene of earnest competition during the past week. Students of the art department, December 1, were busy in producing posters conveying the idea of the value of more and better reading. The results are superior to those generally found in high schools. It has been demonstrated this year that there is much latent talent and during the nine weeks since the opening of school great enthusiasm has been shown due to the efforts of Miss Hazel I. Paden, a graduate of the Massachusetts Normal Art, at Boston. Many students in the department have expressed an desire for further investigation into the subject.

The H I club met at the residence of Mrs. Andress on Wednesday afternoon, December 1. The afternoon was spent playing five hundred. The high score went to Mrs. Fred Bernardi and the low score to Mrs. R. C. Kriesel. On Saturday evening last the club entertained the husbands of the members at the residence of Mrs. Williamson. The next regular Wednesday afternoon meeting will be held on December 14 at the residence of Mrs. Williamson.

Yellow chrysanthemums were used abundantly as decorations at the home of Mrs. James Nicholson when she entertained the members of the Wednesday Bridge club last week. Yellow shaded
