

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Here's Idea—There are a lot of idle men in Salem. Also there are a lot of poor trees. And a lot of trees in town are blown down by the wind. Friday afternoon and night a Salem woman suggests that would be a good plan for the men and the downfallen trees to be brought together, have the assistance of the heads of some of the poor families and produce a few cords of winter fuel for the benefit of the poor.

Little Xmas Trees and Big—The War Mothers at their Bazaar Wednesday will have all sizes of Christmas trees for sale, at all prices. Phone 1362W or 163.

Love, Watchmaker and Jeweler—337 State street, Salem.

Truck and Auto Crash—An automobile collision occurred at the intersection of Court and Capitol streets Friday night. William Stensloff, driving his car west on Court street, collided with a trailer on a state highway truck traveling east on Court, and which attempted to make a turn onto Capitol street. According to the police report no damage resulted.

Commercial and Chemeketa street
His machine collided with one driven by C. K. Knickerbocker, according to a report made to the police department. The running board and fender on the Arnold automobile were bent.

Wanted—Chambermaid, to start work tomorrow morning. Bligh hotel, phone 742.

Bicycle Is Recovered—A bicycle was found Friday night at Chemeketa and Court streets by Police Officer Brown. It was later identified by Morris McKinney as being one taken from the high school building.

Wanted—Chambermaid, to start work tomorrow morning. Bligh hotel, phone 742.

Woman Loses Purse—A pocketbook containing $5 in currency and $2 in change, belonging to an elderly woman named Mrs. Messerli of route 5, was lost on the street in Salem yesterday. Mrs. Messerli reported the loss to the police station and asked their assistance in finding the purse.

Specialty Packaged—For Christmas gifts, dried pines and berries in sealed tight cartons wrapped in holly paper. Willamette Valley Prune association.

Wood Contract Awarded—A contract for cutting 250 cords of wood from the county farm was let Friday by the county court to G. D. and E. L. Fuller. The wood will be used by the county. Two hundred and twenty-five cords will be for which the county will pay $2 a cord for cutting. The remainder will be scrub oak and $2.50 will be paid for the cutting. The court estimates that a saving of nearly $1000 for the county was made last year through the county cutting their own wood.

An Ideal Gift—To those Eastern friends is a sealed tight carton of Pheasant brand dried fruits, packed by Willamette Valley Prune association.

McHenry Arrested—D. McHenry, who lives at South Cottage and Wilbur streets, was arrested by the police last night on a charge of assault on Frank Lennon, a next-door neighbor living at 1556 South Cottage street. McHenry put up a bond of $25 to appear Monday for hearing. Lennon alleges that McHenry without provocation attacked him with an umbrella early yesterday.

Every Suit at Mosher's—Reduced. See our patterns.

Rate Increase Sought—An application for increased service rates was filed Saturday with the public service commission by the Kilpatrick-Collins Co-operative Water Users' association of Multnomah county. The association claims to be a utility and asks for a meter system, declaring that the flat rate system is impracticable. The application says that the users are willing to pay $1.50 for the first 600 cubic feet of water used.

Tailored Overcoats, $50—See the coatings at Mosher's.

Dalziel Addresses Students—W. A. Dalziel, deputy state sealer of weights and measures, addressed the students of Oregon Normal school at Monmouth Friday and gave them a demonstration in the testing of gasoline.

Order That Suit Now—At a liberal reduction. Mosher.

Camerman Leaves—Perry Prescott Reigelman, cameraman for the American Lifeograph company of Portland, who has been spending the past few weeks at his home on Mill street, in response to a telegram received yesterday afternoon, will go to Portland Monday to take up work again with the motion picture company. The company has received contracts for four big feature pictures, starring Jane Novak, noted film actress, but at present is commencing work on a comedy. The filming of these pictures will occupy, it is expected, the greater part of the coming year.

Tailored Suits; Reduced Prices—See Mosher, Court street.
