

SOCIETY

BY MOLLY BRUNK

PUNCTUATING the mid-week in a social way was the dancing party—the first to be given by the employees of the Ladd & Bush bank, in Cotillion hall last night, which was a delightful, informal affair. Saturday had been set aside for the event, but owing to Cotillion hall having previously been secured for that date, the earlier evening was accepted.

Supper culminated the evening's festivities. The committee in charge of arrangements was composed of Roy Burton, John E. Brophy, George Riches, and Lou Aldrich. Employees, their wives and friends were included in the list of those participating.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winslow of Tillamook are spending the week in Salem as the guests of Mrs. Winslow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Prince.

Mrs. U. G. Shipley will be at home to the members of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the regular December meeting Saturday afternoon at the Salem School of Expression.

her residence, 245 North Thirtieth street. A program and payment of dues will be the details of most interest and importance. Annual election of officers will come later.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McCullough are removing this week-end from 1680 Fir street into their attractive new residence on South Church street.

Mrs. L. G. Altman and her daughter, Mrs. Alta Martin who is visiting here from Los Angeles, returned last night from Portland, where they spent several days.

Mrs. Herbert Scott of Portland, a former resident here, is being welcomed by numerous friends during her visit in Salem this week.

Miss Nina Parrish and Miss Hallie Hinges are spending several days in Portland, going down the early part of the week.

Mrs. H. Snook spent the week-end in Eugene, going down to join Mr. Snook who is the contractor in charge of the new woman's building on the campus, at the University of Oregon.

The regular monthly meeting of the P. E. O. society will meet this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. E. E. Fisher on Market street. Tomorrow evening the members and their husbands will participate in a Christmas party at the same place, which will be preceded by a dinner.

The twelfth birthday of Eloise Wright was celebrated with a delightful little party, which was given at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. David Wright Monday afternoon, and to which a gay coterie of young friends were invited. A birthday luncheon was served, with all the table appointments in yellow. Candles, beneath yellow shades lighted the board, and the big birthday cake which formed a centerpiece also displayed 12 tiny tapers.

Games and juvenile pastimes rounded out the afternoon, the following participating: Eloise Wright, Eleanor Wright, Pauline Welch, Minnie Shrods, Marjorie Hewitt, Dorothy Hewitt, Dorothy Stafford, Laverne Lind, Dorothy Moore, Elizabeth Waters, Virginia Berger, Evelyn Berger, Bert Hoffine, Alvin Burton, Wesley Heise and Lynn Heise.

The holiday vacation which begins at the Oregon Agricultural college and University of Oregon tomorrow and extends over New Year will send a large number of students hurrying home to be with parents and brothers and sisters over the period. Many of the boys and girls will bring college friends with them, who will be included in the round of gaiety that will mark the Yuletide inter-im.

Miss Maude McCoy will arrive tomorrow from Corvallis, where she is a student at the O. A. C.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Hayne is another student who will be home. She will spend the fortnight with her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Hayne. She also is a student of O. A. C.

Mrs. Edward E. Domagalla and small daughter Jean will arrive the first of the week from Astoria and will remain with Mrs. Domagalla's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davey until after the holidays. She will be joined by her husband over Christmas.

Miss Elizabeth Brown of Portland, who has many friends in Salem gained through her several years secretaryship for Representative William Banks of Portland, at the state legislature, has returned to her home, after being entertained as the guest of Mrs. James E. Godfrey. Miss Brown will be here during the coming legislature.

Mrs. Edward Gillingham has returned from Portland where she spent several days.

The second dancing party given by the members of the Three Links club in Cotillion hall Tuesday night was another successful contribution to the series of similar affairs which the club is giving this winter. Two large Christmas trees, gaily decorated, with the novelties of Yuletide in red and green ornamented the big room, baskets of Oregon Grape furnishing further decorative material. About 40 couples attended. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. Ray W. Simeral, Mrs. Homer Ingrey, and Mrs. R. G. Henderson. The club plans to give another dance in January.

Mrs. Frank Jaskowski and Miss Lucille Jaskowski spent the early part of the week in Portland.

The marriage of Miss Edna M. West and Frank L. Prince was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. West, 1029 Sakinaw street, Saturday night, Rev. J. J. Evans of the First Christian church using the ring ceremony. Mrs. Ray Clark played the wedding march. The couple was unattended.

The bride wore a simple gown of blue satin, and carried an arm bouquet of roses. The rooms were embellished with fern, trailing ivy and late roses. A collation followed the service.

Both young folk are graduates of the Salem high school. Mr. Prince being an A. E. F. man, with Company M. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Prince.

After the first of the month Mr. and Mrs. Prince will be at home to their friends at 1356 Ferry street.

Winslow, of Tillamook, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Given, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Prince, Mrs. Nellie Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. West, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. BUTTER A CONCENTRATED AND VITAL FOOD PRODUCT

The Most Efficient Nation is One Whose People Use Plenty of Milk and Eat Freely of Butter, Cheese and Ice Cream

The National Dairy Council, with headquarters at Chicago, uses a very attractive card showing the following things:

That the people of the United States spend on an average of 20 per cent of their food expenditures for milk and milk products, whereas they should spend 44 per cent for these essentials.

That "the most healthful nation is one whose children have plenty of milk."

That "a healthy child is the cream of a nation."

That "the most efficient nation is one whose people use plenty of milk and eat freely of butter, cheese and ice cream."

That "there are no substitutes for dairy products and healthy children."

And that "the greatest nation is built on milk, butter, cheese and ice cream."

On the reverse side of their card, under the title of "Butter, a Concentrated Vital Food," is the following:

Butter is all food and no waste. It is a highly concentrated nourishing food. One pound of butter contains as much digestible food as 42 eggs or 4 pounds of beefsteak, and in addition it contains that vital element absolutely necessary to growth and health.

Because butter contains this vital food substance, it is an indispensable food. No child can grow and develop without receiving a liberal supply of this vital element, the principal source of which is butterfat. Other food fats do not contain this vital substance, hence there is no substitute for butter.

This makes butter more than a fat. It makes butterfat the first and most important item to be considered in the selection of food. The presence of this essential substance for growth and health puts butter and other foods containing butterfat in a class by themselves as the one group of absolutely essential foods.

Use butter in every way possible in preparing and cooking other foods. By so doing you not only improve their flavor, but add tremendously to their food value. Remember there is no substitute for butter.

THE PRICES OF BERRIES, CHERRIES, ETC., FOR 1921

The Paulhamus Combination Wants Especially Black Raspberries, Gooseberries, Rhubarb, Currants and Montmorency Cherries, but Loganberries Not Being Stressed at the Present Time

(In answer to an inquiry of The Statesman, the following letter has been received from the Albany manager of the Puyallup & Sumner Fruit Growers Canning Co., which is the Oregon representative of the Paulhamus combination.)

Editor Statesman:

In reply to your kind favor of the 12th, please be advised that we are contracting Munger black raspberries at $140 per ton; gooseberries at $100 per ton; rhubarb at $20 per ton; red and black currants at $140 per ton, and Montmorency sour cherries at $100 per ton, f. o. b. Albany cannery, on the basis of five year contracts, or less, giving the contractor the benefit of the higher price if the market warrants.

We are not stressing on loganberries at the present time, neither are we stating what the price will be for the season of 1921. It is my personal opinion that loganberries will be considerably cheaper than last year, but the winter is not over nor the crop secure. Therefore it is simply a guess until we see what the crop holds forth for us. Naturally under normal conditions we look for a very heavy loganberry crop, season 1921, and I trust a good price will obtain.

It has always been the policy of our president, Mr. Paulhamus, to pay the big rather than the small price, believing that a satisfied grower is the strongest asset in building up a fruit business. The grower when making money is satisfied and will increase his acreage, but when dissatisfied and in doubt as to the future of his industry, not only will not increase his acreage but is very apt to plow up that which he already has in. Therefore, a proper spirit of co-operation should exist between the grower and every canner, for one must lean on the other. With kind personal regards,

P. & S. FRUIT GROWERS' CANNING CO.
By W. R. Scott, Albany Manager.
Albany, Or., Dec. 14, 1920.

In a letter of November 27 from Puyallup headquarters, to The Statesman, the following offer was made: "Mr. Paulhamus advises that his company is willing to enter into a contract with the growers for a series of years on red currants at 7 cents per pound and black currants at 8 cents per pound." It will be noted that this is 1 cent a pound higher than is above quoted on contracts for black currants—Ed.)

Be sure that your family is well, not expensively fed, by using milk. Use plenty of it, note how nourishing it is.

Milk is a food.
It is a necessary food.

There is no substitute for it.
Nature has not made, man cannot make, a substitute for milk.

To the children of today—the men and women of tomorrow—you must drink milk, if you would attain vitality.

The butter on the child's bread is worth more to the child than the bread.

The athlete must have milk to increase his muscles. Milk furnishes the substance for new flesh as the body grows.

The milk sugar in milk furnishes the brain and nerve tissue. Nothing else will do it.

Milk is a lime food. It contains more lime than does lime-water. To keep your teeth and bones hard and to make teeth and bones for the baby you must have milk.

Without iron there can be no red corpuscles. We must have iron in the blood; at the rate of elimination we would lose all the iron in our blood in 200 days. Milk contains iron—more than most foods outside of spinach.

In treating wounded men in France, the value of milk was thoroughly demonstrated. Bone-dry America will find in milk a tonic with no regrets.

Even the water in milk, known as "water soluble," is a growth substance. Without this, men will lose completely all muscular control.

If we live a long time, we will have to form the milk habit.

No one need fear milk. Even though milk sours, it is still good food. Witness the increasing use of Bulgarian milk and buttermilk, to prolong life. It is folly to fear milk.

Milk is the food for the sick. Doctors are increasingly prescribing milk or a milk diet exclusively. You can lay on flesh or take off fat with a milk diet.

The army doctors have found that milk will make a satisfactory ration out of almost any mixture of other foods. Any one of the others may be substituted, but not milk.

Good, clean, fresh milk is the best safeguard against disease. Milk builds bone and tissue—it makes blood and muscle, and it makes sound, beautiful teeth.
