

SOCIETY

BY MOLLY BRUNK

The local Y. W. C. A. has been visited this week by a trio of field secretaries from Northwest headquarters in Seattle. Miss Janet Smith, town secretary; Miss Clara Taylor, industrial secretary; and Miss Alice Brown, student secretary. Miss Smith arrived the first of the week and has been conferring with Miss Eva Scott, local Girls' Work secretary, concerning the forthcoming annual institute of the Y. W. C. A., which will be held in Salem, January 19 and 20.

She has also been assisting in the Girls' Reserve work, thirty-five new members from the high school being initiated yesterday afternoon. An address was made to the Reserves of the Washington high school Wednesday evening, and last night Miss Smith accompanied Miss Scott to Woodburn where a Girls' Reserve was instituted and members initiated. Miss Taylor and Miss Brown stopped off in Salem for a one-day stay Thursday, the former addressing the assembly at Willamette university. Miss Smith will return to Seattle today.

With the exception of Miss Brown, all will return to Salem for the institute, and other field secretaries of the northwest will come with them, including Miss Eleanor Holgate, Miss Ruth Benson and Miss Edith Denison.

The larger portion of the articles on sale at the War Mothers' bazaar held Wednesday in the sample room of the Hotel Marion, were sold, and therefore, the affair was considered a success. The greater part of the general utility articles, however, were still unsold by evening, and these with the rugs which the War Mothers are still working upon will be combined and placed on sale early in January. The money goes to establish a ward in the Salem hospital for ex-service men.

Mrs. Winifred Denison of the state accident commission, who has been on an extended visit to friends and relatives in Chicago, and other points in Illinois, returned to Salem this week.

Mrs. D. W. Matthews returned home this week from Woodriver, Ill., where she spent several months as the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Matthews (Blanch Brown). Joining her later to return home with her was her sister, Mrs. Enola Meyers.

Friends will be happy to learn that Mrs. E. C. Richards is rapidly recovering from several weeks illness.

A happy surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. Abner Lewis at their East State street home, last Sunday afternoon, the occasion honoring their fifty-first wedding anniversary. Old-time friends and relatives composed the group who spent the afternoon in pleasant reminiscences. A luncheon served by Mrs. O. E. Lewis rounded out the celebration.

Those present besides the honorees were Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. R. Peck, Mrs. A. Peebles, Mrs. W. H. H. Darby, C. A. Lewis and family, Frank Lewis of Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Lewis, Thelma Martin, Hazel Martin, Lucile Lewis, Marjory Lewis, David Lewis and Edward Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Millar McGilchrist are spending the week in Eugene as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Foster.

Miss Isabelle Springer of Albany has returned to her home after being entertained here as the guest of her sister Mrs. I. M. Doughton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Halverson are entertaining as their house guest, the former's sister, Miss Christine Halverson, of Eugene, who will remain until after the holidays.

Mrs. A. F. Marcus is entertaining as her week-end guest her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas B. Wait, and two small sons, Tommy and Charles of Tillamook, who arrived Thursday.

The Three Links club will entertain with a large Christmas party in its rooms in the I. O. O. F. building this afternoon, which is for members only.

Mrs. A. A. Lee will open her home to the Junior Standard Bearers of the First Methodist church this evening, at 7:15 o'clock. Miss Ocie Brown will have charge of the lesson, and the hostesses will be Miss Faith Tridy, Miss Cora Pierce and Miss Bessie Wood. A feature of the evening will be a picture book shower for Miss Cora Cushman, a missionary in Tientsin, China.

The Marion Lawrence Bible class of the First Methodist church held its regular monthly social evening Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Edward Miller. The assistant hostesses were Mesdames Ryder, Park and Pontius. The room were attractively decorated with Christmas greenery and emblems. A program was followed by refreshments. A large number of class members enjoyed the entertainment furnished.

The regular monthly meeting of the West Central circle of the First Methodist church, at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Baker, 545 Court street, Wednesday afternoon, developed into a Christmas party. Devotions were led by Mrs. J. W. Beckley. A short business session was followed by a special hour, after which the 20 guests were ushered into the dining room decked with Christmas greens and trimming, and all were seated around one large table, centered with candelabra bearing Christmas candles. At either end were bouquets of red carnations.

Mrs. E. E. Upmeyer was toastmistress, calling on the following to respond: "The Relation of the Circle to the Church," Mrs. B. L.

Steeves; "What the Circle Means to Me," Mrs. E. E. Fisher; "The Christmas Spirit," by Mrs. J. A. Mills, Rev. and Mrs. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick, who were honor guests, followed with impromptu talks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Grilley of route 3, Salem, are going to Jefferson to make an extended visit with Mr. Grilley's sister, Mrs. E. M. Law.

The Christmas concert to be given Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, by the members of the choir of the Central Congregational church is being happily anticipated by music lovers. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bross and members of the Appolla club will assist.

Dr. and Mrs. G. V. Ellis are anticipating a visit from their son, Dr. R. V. Ellis, who has been located for a number of years at Ketekikan, Alaska, and who is expected to arrive this week-end to remain over the holidays with his parents.

The members of the W. R. C. were guests of Mrs. Melissa Persons at her home on North Fourth street yesterday, when she entertained with a luncheon and informal social afternoon.

Interesting contributions to the Christmas number of the Willamette Collegian just out is a short story "The Christmas Committee," and a poem "Merry Christmas," by Miss Audred Bunch, whose literary talent is attracting wide attention. Miss Bunch is a niece of Mrs. W. F. Fargo and Mrs. Edna L. Dailey, both writers for current magazines.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cheffings of Eugene came up the first of the week and are spending several days with relatives.

Mrs. E. Weiser of Seattle is expected to arrive shortly to remain until after the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Tracey.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith were mid-week visitors in Portland, motoring down.

The United Artisans entertained with another of their popular open meetings last night in their hall, a large number attending. A splendid program was given, followed by refreshments. Mrs. R. H. Campbell and Glen Nichols headed the committee in charge of the affair.

Mrs. E. P. McDonald entertained with an afternoon of cards Wednesday, her guests being members of the "S. H." club. The rooms were aglow with Christmas decorations, principal of which was the lighted and ornamented tree, from which gifts were dispensed to each member. At the culmination of the game prizes were given to Mrs. Fred Bernardi and Mrs. Robert Yokum. The next regular meeting of the club will be held in a fortnight at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Keath on South High street.

A larger party will be given at home of Mrs. R. C. Kriesel on the first Saturday evening in the new year when members and their husbands will be entertained at an evening affair.

The appearance of Frederick D. Wards at the armory tonight in his address, "Fifty Years of Make-Believe," is one of the most interesting offerings of the week-end, and promises to attract a large audience. The number is the fourth on the Salem Lyceum course.

The Modern Writers class of the Salem Arts league has postponed sessions until after the holidays, when the meeting days will be changed from first and third Fridays to first and third Thursdays in each month.

Mrs. A. B. Jensen was hostess

Wednesday afternoon to the members of the Lucy Anna Lee circle of the First Methodist church. Business matters and the finishing of a quaint patchwork quilt, the work of a woman 73 years old filled the hours, a collation being served afterward.

Those present were Mrs. Benjamin Balthford, Mrs. Elizabeth Merrill, Mrs. F. A. Lerge, Mrs. E.

W. Marsters, Mrs. A. G. Hallin, Mrs. J. E. Thomas, Mrs. L. L. Nicklin and Mrs. A. A. Lee.
