To assist him in celebrating his 70th birthday, a group of relatives surprised J. D. White at his home 1490 Chemeketa street, Tuesday evening. A birthday dinner was served, with decorations carried out in lavender. Children of the honoree present were: John F. White, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. White, Elsie White, Etta White; grandchildren: James Dixon White third, Helen Katherine White and James Oglethorpe White; other guests being: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ingrey, Miss Helen Ingrey, Mr. and Mrs. James Shipp, John W. Broadwell and Mrs. E. J. Cook.

One hundred and fifty parents and a number of additional guests attended the presentation at the Englewood school Friday evening of an original play composed by Miss Lyla Murray and Miss Helena Willett, teachers at the school. The play was entitled "His Christmas Tree," and was based on one of the prettiest Christmas legends in literature.

A small wail, played by Robert King, falls asleep beneath a large fir tree after Christmas decorations that he had a Christmas tree decorated with the beautiful things that other children have. While he sleeps a group of spiders creep in, and after discussing the situation spin a fine web around and through the decorations. Upon their departure a number of Brownies appear, blowing bubbles, which take the form of shining balls and cling to the fir boughs. They in turn are succeeded by honey bees who fashion candles out of bees wax, leaving them for the fireflies to light. The snowflakes complete the decorating with a downy covering of crystal stars, and the little boy awakes to find his heart's desire fulfilled.

Seventy children took part in the play. Thirty-five of these were in the chorus, and the other 35 were in costume, representing the spiders, brownies, bees, fireflies and snowflakes. The costumes were designed and executed by the teachers at the Englewood school. Miss Tom Mortenson was in charge of the dances, a number of which proved to be some of the popular bits of the performance. Invited guests were Superintendent and Mrs. George W. Hug; L. A. Pickett, of the Y. M. C. A.; Anna Fisher, Edna L. Sterling and Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Meyers.

The two membership teams of the United Artisans lodge, headed by Mrs. R. H. Campbell and Glenn Nichols as captains, put on another of their successful open meetings in their hall in the I. O. O. F. building Thursday evening, members and friends attending in large number. A splendid program was featured including selections by a violin quartet made up of Ernest Aegerter, Albert Ramsden, Harold Kupert and Ross Harris; saxophone sextette by Messrs. Snyder, Alley, Brown, DeSart, Lee, Deacon and Nichols; song by Little Maxine Clark; reading by Lulu Rosamonde Walton; reading by Miss Louise King; vocal solo, Miss Gertrude Aldrich; reading by H. N. Aldrich.

The Allah Harmony orchestra furnished selections and the Liberty band was also much enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

Canton Capital No. 11 P. M. of the I. O. O. F. initiated 10 new members at a session Tuesday night and after the ceremonial was given by the Ladies Auxiliary Capital No. 3. The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of Mrs. R. G. Henderson, Mrs. Thomas Claggett and Mrs. Ray Simeral. The two branches are thriving and have a promising outlook for the future, locally.

The annual election and business meeting of the Woman's Union of the First Congregational church took place Friday afternoon, with the following officers chosen for the coming year: Mrs. John Bayne, president; Mrs. W. C. Kuntner, first vice-president of the Missionary department; Mrs. Frederick S. Stewart, second vice-president; Mrs. William Fleming, secretary and Mrs. H. P. Chase, treasurer.

A large number of friends of Mrs. Oscar B. Gingrich are planning to form parties to motor to Dallas, to attend the program put on at the Majestic theater, in which Mrs. Gingrich is to be featured in Indian pantomime work. Mrs. Gingrich was scheduled to appear tomorrow night, but owing to an attack of la grippe, has postponed her appearance until Monday, the twenty-seventh.

Appeals of every description and from every source come to us annually, but there are none that yearly makes a stronger tug on our heart and purse strings than the one coming from the board of managers of the Old People's home.

This year they are asking that generous Salem folk remember the 14 inmates on Christmas eve, in some manner or another. It doesn't matter much which form one's giving takes, so long as it is something that will help to bring cheer and gladness to these aged men and women who in this way are largely made to feel that the Christ spirit, which is the real essence of Christmas, is not dead.

Members of the Rappaherian society enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Roy Shields and Mrs. Lee Unruh, which they dispensed Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Shields. A large Christmas tree, attractively decorated, was employed with several miniature trees, candles and novelties to deck the rooms. Luncheon was served at several small tables. Mrs. Alta Altman, Martin of Los Angeles and Mrs. John Sampson were additional guests.

The HI club met at the residence of Mrs. E. P. Donaldson, 1160 South Fourteenth street, on Wednesday afternoon, and the time was spent playing five hundred. High score was made by Mrs. Fred Bernard and low score by Mrs. Robert Yokum. After this luncheon was served and the members enjoyed a Christmas tree. The next meeting of the club will be at the residence of Mrs. W. J. Kaerth, 283 South Church street, Wednesday afternoon, December 23.

Other girls home from the Oregon Agricultural college for the holiday vacation are Miss Grace Hunt and Miss Marion Miller.

Time turned backward in its flight Tuesday night, when Miss Ava Miller entertained the members of the Chemistry club of the high school with a "children's party" at the home of her sister, Mrs. Walter Spaulding. About 25 girls participated, and these came in the furbelows, the be-ruffled skirts, flat-heeled "Mary-Janes," long curls and braids conforming to fashionable dictates for the very young.

Pastimes were in keeping with the spirit of the affair, juvenile diversions being participated in by the guests. Refreshments, which rounded out the evening, were likewise those that would have delighted very small folk.

The holiday offering of the local Shrine club will be a dancing party in the Derby building, Tuesday evening, December 28.

The holiday dance of the Thillicia club will be held in Moose hall Tuesday night, additional guests to be included on this occasion.

Mrs. H. W. Dunham and small daughter, Laddie Louise of Chicago, arrived Thursday evening to remain until Saturday night as the guests of Mrs. Ray L. Farmer. They left from here for Los Angeles, where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. Dunham is a former Salem matron, and therefore, her brief visit was of much interest to a wide coterie of friends.

Mrs. J. L. Stockton and Miss Zoe Stockton returned the first of the week from Portland where they spent several days as the guests of friends.

A pleasant surprise was planned in honor of Rev. and Mrs. G. S. Roder, 684 North Winter street, Friday evening, the occasion being the 25th anniversary of their marriage. A purse of 25 silver dollars (and some more for good measure) was given by the congregation to the esteemed couple. Singing and a number of informal diversions were the main features of the evening. Thirty-eight guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holman went to Portland Saturday to remain over the week-end with Mr. Holman's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Whit Holman, the former recuperating from an accidental gunshot wound received while he was playing on the Waverly golf links.

Mrs. Grace Eoff asked a few friends in Thursday for an informal evening of cards, those participating being Mr. and Mrs. Bliss Darby, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Howersox, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Craig.

Miss Pauline Remington and Miss Evelyn DeLong returned Thursday night from Newport, where they have been enjoying a cutting for the past two months.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Strom are re-joining over the birth of a daughter, born Friday, at the home of Mrs. B. M. Woodworth, 730 South Nineteenth street. The little new arrival has been named Petty Gladys Barron Strom.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ralston and son Zayne Ralston of Woodland, Cal., returned to their home Friday night, after passing a week with friends in Salem, where they formerly made their home, and where Mr. Ralston was engaged in business. They have resided in California about four years.

Judge Henry L. Benson returned last night from a fortnight's business visit in California, and he was accompanied by the Benson's daughter, Mrs. N. C. Briggs and small son, Frank, of Hollister, Cal., who will remain until after the holidays.

The Cecilia club met for a regular fortnightly session at the home of Miss Frances Hodge on Tuesday night.

On Wednesday afternoon the women of Jason Lee Memorial church gathered at the hospitable home of Mrs. C. M. Roberts for their regular quarterly "coffee," with Mesdames C. M. Roberts, Emma Roberts and E. E. Roberts as hostesses. During the afternoon Mrs. Thomas Acheson gave an interesting talk on Irish domestic life.

Covers were laid for 22 business and professional women of the city at the first banquet given by the Business and Professional Woman's League at the Hotel Marion Tuesday night. Dr. Mary C. Rowland, president of the organization, presided, Miss Cornelia C. Marvin being the speaker of the evening, using as her subject, "The Orient." Pink carnations and asparagus fern centered the board, covers being placed for the following: Dr. Rowland, M. D., Miss Marvin, state librarian; Mrs. Hattie C. Jackson of the juvenile court; Miss Grace Elizabeth Smith, attorney; Miss Lena Belle Tartar, vocal instructor; Mrs. L. E. Carter, milliner; Mrs. M. E. Brewer, druggist; Miss Miriam G. Blair, librarian; Mrs. Margaret Montfourey, head of delicatessen department of Roth Grocery store; Miss Elizabeth Lamb, retired landlady; Miss Nora Linton, stenographer; Miss Helen F. Dickson, librarian; Miss Irene Scott, beauty specialist; Miss Ruth Jacobson, manicurist; Miss Mildred L. Simons, telephone operator; Mrs. Clara Patterson, superintendent of Girls' Industrial school; Miss Grace L. Taylor, school nurse; Miss Ruby H. Kennedy, junior high school teacher; Mrs. H. D. Trover, artist; Miss A. E. Lyons, corsairiere; Mrs. Ora F. McIntyre, reporter; Mrs. Myra L. Shank, police matron.

Senator A. M. LaFollette left yesterday for Corvallis, Or., where he will remain over the holidays with his sons, Charles LaFollette and Perry LaFollette, and their families. Today Senator LaFollette and his 110-year-old grandfather, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles LaFollette, are celebrating their birthdays, the former being 76 and the latter being 2 years old.

Miss Ina LaFollette preceded her father a fortnight ago and granddaughter, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles LaFollette, are celebrating their birthdays, the former being 76 and the latter being 2 years old.
