TARIFF BILL MEETS OPEN ANTAGONISM

for their industries when it comes to a permanent tariff unless they do the fair thing now."
Against this came the statement of the senate Democratic steering committee that they did not regard the measure as an emergency proposal and would demand that it be considered by the finance committee in regular order when it reaches the senate. Senator Harrison, Mississippi, Democrat, served notice from the floor of the senate that he would oppose the bill.
"The Democratic party," he declared, "cannot afford to stultify itself at this time upon so important a question of principle as that which the tariff proposals involve."
Measure is an Embargo.
"Let me say to my friend from Mississippi," Senator Thomas, Democrat, Colorado, interjected, that I sympathize with his view and between us we may be able to keep some part of the Democratic party in line."

Representative Rainey, in presenting the minority views, warned of dangers which he said would beset the business of the country should the emergency measure pass. He declared that the measure amounted to an embargo and that it would "inevitably lead to retaliatory tariffs."
New Commercial Units Framed.
"All commercial treaties between nations were practically annulled by the war," Mr. Rainey's report said, "and today new commercial units are in process of formation. Every commercial nation is today prepared with the means of quick retaliation and there is grave danger that they will quickly respond to the challenge we give them in this bill."
The Rainey report also charged that the bill had been framed without hearings and that no experts had examined it. It asserted that the majority in congress proposed protection as the medicine for every economic evil, adding that "this bill is protection made." The Republican plan of protection in this instance, the report declared, offered a remedy worse than the ill it sought to correct.
After reviewing the trade figures in exports and imports, the minority statement asserted that the assessment of prohibitory tariff rates meant eventually a lowering of production in America.
"Of course Europe can pay only in gold or goods," he continued. "They cannot pay in gold and they are not manufacturing at the present time enough goods. Even if they were, we propose in this bill to make imports less unless. If we are to remain a creditor nation, and we must do that or suffer now immeasurable financial calamities, we must import more than we export."
"It might be possible to report out a more hastily prepared, ill-considered measure than this, but up to the present time it never has been accomplished."
Mr. Rainey concluded his expression of views by predicting that the report submitted by Chairman Fordney "would not venture far from shore" and that the Republican supporters of the bill would merely demand that "everybody vote for this legislation whether he believed it right in principle or not."

PAPER MILL'S PROSPECT GOOD

About "Over the Top" Says Man in Charge of Selling Stock Here

Salem's new paper mill is about "over the top."
It is going fine.
It has been making a profit every day since it commenced making paper in September.
Last week four carloads of paper were shipped; and these cars ran about $12,000 each in value.
The payroll of the institution is about $23,000 a month, and growing, and going to grow right along. Quite a nice contribution to the solidity and prosperity of Salem.
More than that, a large amount of the stock of the Oregon Pulp & Paper company, the corporation owning and operating the mill, is held by Salem people—so the interest and dividend money sticks here, too, as well as the wage money.

A. G. Beach, the man who has been selling preferred stock of the paper mill company to Salem people, said yesterday that last week he took a crowd of 39 Salem people through the plant—seven of them bought stock. One man who already had bought stock, took two more blocks last week.
This has been going so well that there is only about $30,000 worth of the preferred stock yet to sell.
Mr. Beach says he has been all over the United States, and there is no place that has the prospects of great growth that Salem has— if only the people here will cooperate, as they have done in helping finance the paper mill.
Nothing can stop Salem, he says, if only the surrounding country is properly developed—and he says the people who are here now can supply all the mon-

PONZI WRITES SONG

BOSTON, Dec. 20. — Charles Ponzi, whose slogan last summer of "fifty percent profit in 45 days" won him the confidence of thousands of investors and ultimately a five-year sentence in the jail at Plymouth, has written the words for a song. In a letter from the jail received today by a Boston newspaperman, Ponzi asked for information as to the necessary copyright procedure. The title of the lyric was not mentioned, but Ponzi announced that the lines had been composed for the tune of "Casey Jones."
