Efficiency And the Eyes

Efficiency slips away more easily through faulty vision than from any other cause.

When eyesight suffers all other dependent senses become impaired also. Bad vision tells upon us both physically and mentally.

Properly fitted glasses will do much to restore normal vision. The virtue of glasses depends not upon the glass of which they are made but on the skill with which they are fitted. The exact needs of each eye must be determined to the most minute degree, which calls not only for scientific appliances, but for the most accurate methods skillfully employed.
