I consider Foley's Kidney Pills the best kidney remedy in the world. No recurrence of my trouble." Sold everywhere.

J. L. ETHERIDGE IS ARRESTED

Van Winkle Sends Evidence—Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle yesterday transmitted to Walter H. Evans, district attorney for Multnomah county, evidence which has come into his possession uncovering previous criminal activities of John L. Etheridge of Portland and his prison record of two terms in the New Jersey penitentiary. The evidence will be used by the Multnomah county district attorney as information in his criminal investigation of Etheridge's career, including his alleged speculation as head of the bonding house of Morris Brothers, Inc., of Portland.

Upon inquiry at the office of State Treasurer Hoff yesterday, Van Winkle was informed by James Crawford, assistant state treasurer, that the treasurer holds no interim certificates from the bonding house of Joseph G. Richardson, former assistant state treasurer, several months ago made inquiry of the state legal department whether he could accept interim certificates from Etheridge. He was informed by Mr. Van Winkle emphatically that he could not and that to do so would be a violation of the law and would make the treasurer liable.

State Policy More Cautious—The revelations of Etheridge's duplicity, however, date from exposures published nearly a year ago, showing that the Morris Brothers, Inc., or Etheridge, had received undue profits on bonds sold to the state treasurer, an expose which was followed by a grand jury investigation in Marion county. The grand jury's inquiry resulted in no criminal indictments, but caused a tightening up of the policy of the state treasurer in bond transactions.

State Treasurer Hoff yesterday issued a statement in which he said that since he had been in office opportunity has never been given for the breaking of any bond house to affect the state treasury.

"No money has ever been paid," he said, "until the bond or its collateral was in the office, and no interim certificates have ever been accepted."

"Oregon Grower" Becomes Magazine of Large Size

"The Oregon Grower," the official magazine of the Oregon Growers' Co-operative association, has grown within one year from a 16-page pamphlet, to a 40-page magazine, taking rank as an authority with the best horticultural magazines published in the west.

The January issue published today contains articles of special value to prune growers. In fact, it is a special prune issue with articles by the leading horticulturists of the west.

C. I. Lewis of the Oregon Growers' Co-operative association, contributes articles on "Prune Strains," on "Prune Fertilizers" and on "Pruning Hints." Prof. H. P. Barras of Oregon Agricultural college experiment station writes on "Mushroom Rot," "Brown Rot in Prunes" and on "Prune Leaf Spot."

Prof. W. S. Brown, chief in horticulture at Oregon Agricultural college writes on "How to Prune" and Prof. Frank H. Lathrop, of O. A. C. experiment station on "The Root Borer."

R. C. Paulus, sales manager of the association has contributed an article on "How Sales Are Made," containing much inside information.

Prof. A. L. Lovett of the O. A. C. experiment station writes on "The Prune Twig Miner."

The January issue of the magazine contains more illustrations than any horticultural authority published in the west and in many ways will be an authority for prune growers for years to come.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Yes; a little rain.

But 100 times better than snow.

Are you caught with any interim certificates?

An interim certificate is a receipt for your money, and you get your bond if the concern issuing the receipt is good. If not, you whistle for your bond.

Looks like an open winter openly arrived at; but there are some days yet ahead with possibilities. However, the Williamette valley has never yet, since the country was settled, had a deep snow after January 10.

If there is a needy family in Salem still not supplied with groceries and clothing, needy and deserving, it is only necessary to have the fact known, and that family will be speedily supplied.

Signed articles for the forthcoming Welcome Edition of The Statesman are already coming in. These alone will make this a worth while edition.

Not such a demand for tables for the New Year's eve orgies as there used to be. Drinking the health of a friend in pure hy-drant water, however, is all right, if there is sincerity back of it.

An expert says that in 300 years there will be no blondes in the world. But he is saying it under his breath. He is smart enough not to allow any blonde to hear him.

Many a man when he prays, "lead us not into temptation," has a mental reservation, involving a good chance and nobody any the wiser. We are of such sordid stuff.
