

POOR LIGHT IS FURNISHED FOR WORKERS

Survey of Illumination in Eleven Oregon Plants Reported to Gram

BETTER LAWS NEEDED

Exits and Stairways in Most Establishments Not Properly Guarded

Lighting accommodations in Oregon industrial plants are not satisfactory, particularly exit and stair lighting, declares a report that has been submitted to C. P.

Gram, state labor commissioner, by the illuminating engineering society, which has general offices in New York, and of which F. H. Murphy, who is with the Portland Railway, Light & Power company in Portland, is the Oregon representative.

The report urges that the legislature enact laws to remedy the situation. Many accidents and physical weaknesses that come upon workers, it is claimed, are due to improper lighting.

Eleven Plants Examined
"A survey of 11 typical industrial plants in this state, covering 32 different departments and representing 1328 employees shows that 73 per cent had no exit lights and 64 per cent had no stair lights," the report says.

Artificial Light Poor
"On the other hand, the artificial lighting does not appear in anything like the same favorable light. In 82 per cent of the departments investigated bare lamps were being used. This means that glare exists to a greater or less extent in 82 per cent of the cases, although in the investigation apparently this condition was not fully recognized.

"Why don't you smile once in a while? You can catch more flies with molasses than you can with vinegar."
"What do I want with flies?" demanded the acidulous waitress.

CONDITION OF STATE CHARITY HELD CHAOTIC

Loose Methods Censured in Report by Governor's Special Committee

CENTRAL POWER URGED

State University, Findings Say, Should be Clothed With Authority

That the social work department of the University of Oregon be invested by law with power to make inquiry into both sources and objects of public charitable expenditure in Oregon as a means of centering the activity, and preventing waste and duplication, is recommended in a report to Governor Olcott by a special committee appointed by him about a year ago to study organization of charity organization in the state.

The members of the committee are Richard W. Montague, Helen T. Ayer, Gertrude R. Corbett, Rufus C. Holman, William P. LaRoche and Ben Selling. They conferred with the head of the social work department of the state university and with President P. L. Campbell before reporting to the governor.

RECOMMENDED TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

This is the season when children are subject to croup, colds and coughs. Rena C. Marchard, 36 Lawrence St., Salem, Mass., writes: "I used Foley's Honey and Tar with good results. I had a very bad cold and it gave me relief at once, so I recommend it to every child that goes to school." This standard, low priced medicine loosens and clears mucus and phlegm, checks strangling coughing, makes easy breathing, soothes and heals raw, inflamed membranes, and stops tickling in throat. Sold everywhere.

Chaos is Found
The committee reports that it "has found the difficulties in the way of anything like a complete and thorough performance of the task assigned to it to be too great to be overcome with the means at its command."

The chaos into which the work of public, not to mention private, charitable administration has fallen makes it exceedingly difficult for a body without ample inquisitorial and visitatorial powers to ascertain with any completeness the facts essential to any thorough presentation of the problem.

To show the need of a systematic study of the subject by a central authority, the report continues:

Duplication Cited
"The legislature, of 1919 appropriated considerably in excess of two and one-half million dollars for charitable and allied purposes for the biennium now about to end. The special session of 1920 found it necessary to approprate some two hundred thousand dollars more for like, largely for the identical objects for which the legislature of 1919 had already made appropriations.

HOW HE ENDED KIDNEY TROUBLE
"I had a severe attack of kidney trouble and for three weeks could not get out of doors and scarcely out of bed," writes C. E. Brewer, Village Springs, Ala. "Could not bend over at all without the most excruciating pains. I purchased a bottle of Foley Kidney Pills. Was relieved after first few doses and continued their use until completely cured. I consider Foley Kidney Pills the best kidney remedy in the world. No recurrence of my trouble." Sold everywhere.
