DEMOCRATS TO ORGANIZE SOON

William G. McAdoo Urges a Complete Readjustment of Defeated Party

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 8.—Immediate steps to organize the Democratic party for future campaigns under a national chairman who will "devote all or practically all of his time to party affairs" were urged tonight by William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, at a Jackson day dinner of the Southern California Democratic club here.
Mr. McAdoo said the recent Democratic defeat was "due in large measure to a lack of effective national organization and to the failure to get the Democratic side before the people through proper publicity." He declared he wished to criticize methods rather than individuals and continued:
"The officers of the national committee are the best managers of the party and political machines in these days require business management of the highest order. It is not the duty of the national officers to determine party policies, nor to select the presidential candidates, nor to use the power of their offices to influence the selection of party candidates, nor to champion the cause of any candidate for the presidential nomination. Nothing could more certainly destroy the usefulness of national officers than to become involved in matters of this sort.
"The establishment and maintenance of permament national headquarters with sufficient force to carry on its legitimate operations, the raising of necessary funds for this purpose, the educational work to be done through proper publicity, are all objects of the highest importance and should receive the whole thought and attention of the national officers."
In all parts of the country, Mr. McAdoo said, Democrats are asking eagerly "what is to be done for the future. We must have party leadership in the future that will stay on the job and will make the business of the Democratic party its only job."

TOY MAKERS ASK PROTECTION

Japanese Manufacturers Duplicate American Articles at Less Cost

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The staid business of tariff making halted today in the house ways and means committee room while committee members scrambled for toys. Committeemen went home with dolls and animals bulging from their pockets.
J. O. Foote, a toy manufacturer, played Santa Claus. He came to appeal for tariff protection on toys, particularly celluloid toys. Every time Americans turned out a new toy, he said, Japanese imitators duplicated it and shipped over tons for sale at a lower wholesale rate than American factories could make.
To support his argument, Mr. Foote came armed with a huge box of toys. He exhibited them, seated solemnly behind the great horseshoe desk on its high platform.
Argument finished, Foote said he had no further use for his exhibits and the scramble began. The solone were boys again in a second and when the rush was stopped the toy box was empty.

Alleged War Between U. S. and Japan is Fabrication

TOKIO, Jan. 8.—Statements published in Shanghai, in which it was alleged the Japanese government had informed Yukichi Obata, Japanese minister to China that there were signs of war between Japan and the United States, and directed him to adopt a friendly policy toward China, are stigmatized as canards by the foreign office.
"Such fabrications," it says, "do not merit refutation."
Press reports that Minister Obata is about to resign his post at Peking are also denied by the foreign office.

Crest of Winter Freshet in Willamette is Passed

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 8. — With a drop of 1.4 feet in 24 hours recorded today, the crest of the annual winter freshet in the Willamette has passed, in the opinion of Edward L. Wells, district forecaster. Continued rain for the next few days, he said, would probably fall more to the north of Portland than through the Willamette valley, and the temperature was not expected to again soon reach a point at which it would start the snow down from the mountains.

DALLAS GETS LIGHT SNOW

DALLAS, Ore., Jan. 7. — (Special to the Statesman)—The residents of this city were surprised to find upon awakening this morning, the ground covered with snow. Snow began falling last night about 10 o'clock and alternated with rain the greater part of the night. Toward morning, however, it started to snow in earnest, and the ground was soon covered. The sun coming out soon afterwards, however, was warm and the snow disappeared before noon. The hills and mountains west of Dallas are covered with snow from a depth of several inches to five feet.
