

SOCIETY NEWS OF THE WEEK

By MOLLY BRUNK

THE Capital City is all agog over the approaching visit of a real nobleman and his wife—Count Ilya Tolstoy and Countess Tolstoy, the former the son of the noted Russian novelist. Both are refugees from their native country, and are now en route from San Francisco to New York city, coming up to Salem from Portland, where they are stopping for a few days.

Count Tolstoy and the Countess will arrive either Monday morning or shortly after noon, and while here will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Bishop, who will entertain with a small dinner for the distinguished visitors in the evening, preceding Count Tolstoy's address at the armory.

Mrs. F. M. Jordan of Seattle inspired several pleasant affairs this week, and will be the motif of much of the entertaining during the coming even days. Miss Elizabeth Sterling also continues to be complimented with farewell attentions as does also Mrs. William T. Neill.

Socially, the coming week shows a calendar with every day filled with things of particular interest. Beginning on Monday night, there is the large dancing party which the Neills, Millar McGilchrist and W. M. Hamiltons are giving in Cotillion hall. On Tuesday night the local Shrine club gives its large dance at Dreamland auditorium. Thursday night there will be the Guild dance at the armory. Friday and Saturday local folk will motor to Portland to see Pavlova.

Entertaining for Mrs. Jordan begins on Tuesday, when Mrs. T. A. Livesley gives an afternoon of bridge. Mrs. John McNary follows with a similar affair on Wednesday, and there are sufficient additional events already scheduled to make the week a notable one.

Splendid music will be the outstanding feature of the Guild dance to be given at the armory next Thursday night for the benefit of St. Paul's church. The committee in charge began its activities with this thought in mind and has gleaned the best musical talent of the Capital City to assist on that evening, and then not being content with doing this the members have gone outside for an accordion artist, F. Peranzi, who will come up from Portland. Other musicians who will make up the nine-piece orchestra will be Harry Talmadge Headrick, who will lead her players through a program of swinging, irresistible numbers that will include the dances that are most popular this winter; Earl Headrick, saxophone; David Talmadge, xylophone; Charles Pabst, cornet; Warren Hunt, drums; Arthur Schlar, trombone; M. Horace Bykes, piano, and Bob Mann, banjo.

Enough for that part of the program. Now comes the singing and dancing numbers, the songs to be given while the dancing is in progress. There will be no long intermissions while any feature is presented, those who come to dance to be given that privilege. And to appear in these numbers a group of Salem's best voices has been secured, the vocalists to include Mrs. A. J. Rahn, Mrs. D. W. Eyre, Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, Mrs. W. H. Prunk, Miss Ada Miller, Albert Bishop, Claude Stevenson, Albert Egan and King Bing Charles E. Knowland.

Owing to the fact that the dance was postponed from October until January, because of the presence of legislators in the city at the latter time, it is expected that solons and many of their wives will be largely represented. And so while the dancing contingent eagerly awaits the date the sale of tickets goes merrily on.

Scholarship Loan Fund day, which is Red Letter day for the Salem Woman's club, will be observed next Wednesday with a silver tea at the residence of Mrs. Harry M. Hawkins, 1635 State street. The hours will be from 2 to 5. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. William Burghardt Jr., Mrs. John H. McNary and Mrs. Frank Spears.

For the program the committee has secured Franklin Launer, pianist, pupil of Mrs. Paul Petri of Portland.

That the Oregon Federation of Women's club adopt the last Wednesday of January as scholarship loan fund day was resolved at the La Grande convention last year, and the day has accordingly been set aside, when every club in the state is asked to do something to increase the fund which is being loaned to young women to assist in their education.

Prominent visitors in Salem yesterday were Mrs. John R. Keating, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution; Mrs. John Pearson, regent of Multnomah chapter, and Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, all of Portland, who were entertained upon their arrival with a luncheon at the Hotel Marion by the members of the board of Chemeketa chapter.

In the afternoon they were the guests of honor at the meeting of the D. A. B. at the home of Mrs. O. P. Hoff, when Mrs. Hoff and Mrs. Frances Cornell were joint hostesses.

Before their departure Mrs. Seymour Jones, regent of the local chapter, entertained with a dinner in their honor, having covers additionally for Mr. and Mrs. Homer Goutlet and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson.

Mrs. F. M. Jordan of Seattle, house guest of Mrs. Henry Meyers, inspired several of the most enjoyable affairs of the week, conspicuous of which was the small bridge which Mrs. T. C. Smith, Jr. gave Thursday afternoon, entertaining with four tables.

As a setting for the affair a floral color scheme of pink had been employed, carried out with begonias, chrysanthemums and ferns. Mrs. Ben W. Olcott and Mrs. David W. Eyre assisted during the afternoon. The high score honors fell to Mrs. T. A. Livesley.

Those bidden were: Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Meyers, Mrs. John H. McNary, Mrs. David W. Eyre, Mrs. T. A. Livesley, Mrs. John J. Roberts, Mrs. R. P. Boise, Mrs. George F. Rodgers, Mrs. Ben W. Olcott, Mrs. Edwin L. Baker, Mrs. O. C. Locke, Mrs. Rollin K. Page, Mrs. B. O. Schuckling and Miss Margaret Cosper.

Mrs. F. M. Jordan of Seattle, who was an honored guest of the Bridge-luncheon club, when Mrs. William H. Lytle was a club hostess Tuesday afternoon, entertaining with a luncheon at the Hotel Marion and cards later at her home at the Court Apartments.

Mrs. William H. Root will entertain the club at its next session, giving the luncheon at the Marion hotel and having cards at the George F. Rodgers residence. This will be in a fortnight.

Mrs. William H. Burghardt, Jr., was joined the first of the week by her mother, Mrs. M. F. Draper, and her sister, Miss L. Draper, of Portland, who are remaining until Monday.

Mrs. F. H. Porter and daughter, Miss Avery Porter, of Halsey, joined Senator Porter during the week.

Miss Regina West, of Portland, arrived during the mid week and remained until yesterday as the house guest of Miss Minnie Downing and Mrs. J. H. Cradlebaugh.

The regular entertainment date of the "Merry-go-round" club fell on Tuesday night of this week. Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Boise opening their home on the occasion. Additional guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Meyers, their house guest, Mrs. F. M. Jordan of Seattle, and Miss Margaret Cosper.

Card honors fell to Mrs. Rollin K. Page and T. B. Kay.

Wives and daughters of legislators who are in the city during the session will be honored with a reception which the Thursday afternoon club will give in February, plans for which were made at a meeting of a committee from the club the latter part of the week.

February 10 has been set aside as the date of the affair, which will be given at the B. C. Miles residence on Court street. Forming a committee to originate plans is Mrs. F. W. Spencer, Mrs. William Brown and Mrs. Frederick S. Stewart.

Mrs. Raymond Walsh entertained for Mrs. Will T. Neill, a Delta Delta Delta sorority sister, yesterday afternoon, arranging three tables for bridge. Silvery pussy willow in tall jardinières enhanced the beauty of the rooms where the card tables were placed. The guest list included those who make up Mrs. Neill's closest coterie of friends. Mrs. Chester Downs assisted during the hours.

The Robert Burns club will meet during the coming week in its annual gathering in honor of the birthday of the Scottish bard, the meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Carson Tuesday evening. Senator John W. Gill of Portland, who has joined the Salem club on several of its yearly get-togethers, will be present this year. Rev. James F. Elvin is slated to give the address of the evening, and there will follow an impromptu program in which poems by Burns, Scottish music and a supper of characteristic dishes will also be featured.

Adding a purely Scotch tone to the event will be the bagpipe selections by one of the club members, Arthur Hutchins.

The Salem Burns club has an interesting history. Founded 15 or more years ago by the late John Minto, who was affectionately known as "Uncle John Minto," the organization has never missed a year in fittingly commemorating the birth of its beloved poet. Membership has gradually increased with the city's growth until now the club roster shows a substantial number.

Members of the Salem Burns club are: Mr. and Mrs. John Bayne, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Marcus, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Arbutnot, Rev. and Mrs. Thomas S. Anderson, W. Charles A. Manley, Mrs. Jessie Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Dan J. Fry, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Elvin, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hofer, R. B. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Dodge, Robert McGilchrist, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McGilchrist, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Postal, Mr. and Mrs. George Shand, Mrs. J. A. Carson, Judge Daniel Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchins, John Marr, Mr. and Mrs. William McGilchrist, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James McGilchrist, Mr. and Mrs. Millar McGilchrist, George McGilchrist, Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming and Miss Agnes Bayne.

Members of the Tillicum club forgot for a few brief hours Tuesday night the cares and responsibilities of their grown-up state and once again lived in the enchanted land of youth.

Ranging in years from 2 to 12 years, and garbed in every type of juvenile costume from rompers to party frock, those who attended the "kid party," given in Moose hall surrounded themselves with so truthful an atmosphere of childhood that it was difficult to believe for the time that those participating were staid professional and business men and matrons with grown-up sons and daughters.

Many of the costumes were particularly noteworthy, the entire affair being recorded as an evening of unalloyed delight. A feature of the program was the solo dances by Mrs. Ralph White, and there were other details that added interest and enjoyment to the evening, not the least of which was the supper, which included things appropriate to the occasion.

The round of gay doings for next week will begin with a large dancing party which is to be given Monday night in Cotillion hall. Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Neill, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. Millar McGilchrist acting as hosts. About 100 invitations have been issued for the affair, which will be quite informal.

Preceding the dance Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Webb will entertain with a dinner at their home, the guest list to include the hosts and hostesses for the dance.

Entertaining for Mr. and Mrs. William T. Neill, who are leaving Salem shortly for Portland to reside, began this week and will continue well into the coming seven days. A charming affair of Wednesday afternoon was the bridge-luncheon which Mrs. H. A. Cornoyer and Mrs. D. J. McKinnon gave for the pleasure of Mrs. Neill at the Cornoyer home on Chemeketa street.

Tall branches of pussy willow, the greenery of potted ferns and numerous yellow candles, combined the colors of spring time, and fashioned an attractive background for the guests. Luncheon was served at the small card tables, hand-painted cards marking each place. Mrs. Roy Mills assisted the hostesses.

At the game which followed, Mrs. Neill was the successful contestant for the trophy.

Guests for this affair were: Mrs. Neill, Mrs. Merline Harding, Mrs. C. A. Bates, Mrs. Grover Bellinger, Mrs. Roy Burton, Mrs. William McGilchrist Jr., Mrs. Millar McGilchrist, Mrs. J. C. Greene, Mrs. Raymond Walsh, Mrs. LeRoy Leedy, Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mrs. Roy Mills, Mrs. Frederick H. Thompson, Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mrs. William Hamilton, Mrs. H. C. Marvin and Mrs. C. A. Downs.

The card party which Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mills gave last night for the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Neill was decidedly one of the most enjoyable affairs of the past week, and one of the few things that kept the social calendar from being a chronicle of merely comings and goings.

Eight tables were arranged for five hundred in rooms beautified with pussy willow and variegated spring flowers. Assisting Mrs. Mills during the evening were Mrs. Paul Johnson and Mrs. Walter Spaulding.

Invitations were issued to Mr. and Mrs. Neill, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cornoyer, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Downs, Mr. and Mrs. Merline Harding, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Millar McGilchrist, Mr. and Mrs. William McGilchrist Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Spaulding, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Bates, Dr. and Mrs. Grover Bellinger, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Leedy, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Thompson.

MISS ELIZABETH LEVY, who returned to Salem Friday night from an extended absence abroad, where she went to take special violin work. While in Europe it was her good fortune to be received as a pupil of Caesar Thomson, of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Bruxelles. Miss Levy was asked to play on a number of important programs during the time that she has been away, and also heard many musical celebrities.

of its yearly get-togethers, will be present this year. Rev. James F. Elvin is slated to give the address of the evening, and there will follow an impromptu program in which poems by Burns, Scottish music and a supper of characteristic dishes will also be featured.

Adding a purely Scotch tone to the event will be the bagpipe selections by one of the club members, Arthur Hutchins.
