

SOCIETY NEWS of the WEEK

FIFTH AVENUE DOLL STORE OF FORMER SALEM GIRL

The above cut shows the interior of The Madame Georgene Shop, 309 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

...Mrs. Leta Westcott, Mrs. Josephine Bross, Mrs. W. C. Kantner, Mrs. Josephine Taylor, Mrs. C. P. Bishop, Mrs. Ida Babcock, Miss Elma Weller, Miss Nellie Taylor, Miss June Iverson, Miss Grace Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Lockwood.

colleagues for the Pi Beta Phi dance Friday night. This was the annual homecoming dance and was largely attended by alumni from all over the state.

Despite the inclement weather Friday evening a large and appreciative audience witnessed the second of the three exhibitions being given by the Washington Junior High girls under the able instruction of Miss Conifred Hurd.

The Monday Afternoon Bridge club which was to have met tomorrow with Mrs. A. H. Moore has postponed the date until the coming Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Robertson are enjoying a week-end visit from their son, Charles Robertson, who is home from the University of Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce W. Van Doren were dinner hosts Wednesday night entertaining as their guests Mrs. S. Kirkney of Astoria; Mrs. Ada Strong and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Thielson.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Neill will bid them goodby tomorrow for they plan to leave on that date. The past three weeks since the announcement of their intended departure was made, have been filled with overflowing, interesting and delightful farewells.

Salem will be represented in the forthcoming annual exhibition of Chicago artists, for Elmer Young, a Salem boy, has been signed to hang one of his pictures.

Miss Gertrude Purinton and Miss Edna Sterling were guests of honor at the reception which the girls of the practice house of the high school gave Tuesday night.

Mrs. J. E. Pflanders accompanied Mr. Flanders as far as Salem Wednesday on his way to San Francisco. He will be visiting in Salem at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. F. Griffith for ten days or a fortnight.

Mrs. Walter Spaulding is entertaining with a dinner tonight honoring Charles K. Spaulding, who is celebrating a birthday.

Mrs. S. S. East was at home to her "500" club yesterday afternoon, asking in addition, Mrs. L. E. Beale of Eugene, who is here with her husband Representative Beale, during the session of the legislature.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Miles were among the Salem folk in Portland during the latter part of the week.

The first of a series of Ladies' nights was given by the local lodge of Elks last night, the feature being a comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," which was put on by the McMinville Elks club.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Westbrook of Albany, came up to attend the Shrine dance Tuesday night, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Schunemann.

Among the out-of-town attendants at the Shrine dance Tuesday night were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stone of Portland.

Mrs. E. T. Busselle and Mrs. C. J. Greene contributed an enjoyable evening to the program of entertainment for Mrs. Will T. Neill Thursday, giving a home party, at the Busselle residence.

Walsh, Mrs. William H. Hamilton, Mrs. Frederic H. Thompson, Mrs. D. J. McKinnon, Mrs. W. D. Clarke, Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mrs. Roy Mills, Mrs. LeRoy Leedy.

As a farewell attention for Miss Edna Sterling, resigning head of the English department of the High school, the members of the Clarion staff entertained with a line party at the Oregon theater Wednesday night.

Covers were laid for the following: Miss Sterling, Miss Elizabeth Macleay, and the Misses Miriam Lovell, Jennelle Vandevort, Emma Powell, Marjorie Mellinger, Gladys Benck, Leleh Kuhn, Catherine Vincent; Messrs. Robert Little, Joseph Albright, Kenneth Perry, Milton Steiner, Wallace Griffith, Ralph Bailey, Arthur Montgomery, Percy Hammond, Alfred Montgomery, Herbert Socolofsky, Aubrey Frawley, Herbert Socolofsky, Frank Deckbach and Rawson Chapin.

Little Emma writes much poetry, because, she says, she can think best in verse. Like the late Homer Davenport she sees human nature in all the animal life about her and a good deal of heaven in the flowers and trees that grow.

She addresses her pair of Bantam chickens as Mr. and Mrs. Smith. She enjoys the morning chase of a wild rabbit by her two Alreades. The rabbit comes to the carrot patch to get his breakfast, and when he has had his fill she comes by the house to get Pat and Tatters into a friendly race across the field, and the poetry of motion becomes music to her.

Emma has as much interest in cats as did Louis Alcott. She names the mother Hungry Henrietta. The runt cat is Runtina, a proud cat is Augustina, a quiet cat that takes all in is Miss Meropanda, and her fussy cat is Fuzziana. She talks to the cats in her home and the wild birds on the boughs as she does to her playmates. Following are two of her poems—one addressed to Robin Redbreast and the other to the rabbit.

Little robin red breast Sitting on a tree, Won't you come Into the sun And sing a song to me.

Little robin red breast, Little robin dear, Won't you stay awhile and play? I love to have you near.

With a lumpy lip And a lumpy lip, The rabbit is singing his song. With a friendly nip At the carrot hip, He happily journeys along.

Mrs. J. E. Pflanders accompanied Mr. Flanders as far as Salem Wednesday on his way to San Francisco. He will be visiting in Salem at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. F. Griffith for ten days or a fortnight.

Mrs. Walter Spaulding is entertaining with a dinner tonight honoring Charles K. Spaulding, who is celebrating a birthday.

Mrs. S. S. East was at home to her "500" club yesterday afternoon, asking in addition, Mrs. L. E. Beale of Eugene, who is here with her husband Representative Beale, during the session of the legislature.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Miles were among the Salem folk in Portland during the latter part of the week.

The first of a series of Ladies' nights was given by the local lodge of Elks last night, the feature being a comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," which was put on by the McMinville Elks club.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Westbrook of Albany, came up to attend the Shrine dance Tuesday night, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Schunemann.

As a farewell attention for Miss Edna Sterling, resigning head of the English department of the High school, the members of the Clarion staff entertained with a line party at the Oregon theater Wednesday night, which was followed by a supper at the home of Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Powell.

Covers were laid for the following: Miss Sterling, Miss Elizabeth Macleay, and the Misses Miriam Lovell, Jennelle Vandevort, Emma Powell, Marjorie Mellinger, Gladys Benck, Leleh Kuhn, Catherine Vincent; Messrs. Robert Little, Joseph Albright, Kenneth Perry, Milton Steiner, Wallace Griffith, Ralph Bailey, Arthur Montgomery, Percy Hammond, Alfred Montgomery, Herbert Socolofsky, Aubrey Frawley, Herbert Socolofsky, Frank Deckbach and Rawson Chapin.

Little Emma writes much poetry, because, she says, she can think best in verse. Like the late Homer Davenport she sees human nature in all the animal life about her and a good deal of heaven in the flowers and trees that grow.

She addresses her pair of Bantam chickens as Mr. and Mrs. Smith. She enjoys the morning chase of a wild rabbit by her two Alreades. The rabbit comes to the carrot patch to get his breakfast, and when he has had his fill she comes by the house to get Pat and Tatters into a friendly race across the field, and the poetry of motion becomes music to her.

Emma has as much interest in cats as did Louis Alcott. She names the mother Hungry Henrietta. The runt cat is Runtina, a proud cat is Augustina, a quiet cat that takes all in is Miss Meropanda, and her fussy cat is Fuzziana. She talks to the cats in her home and the wild birds on the boughs as she does to her playmates. Following are two of her poems—one addressed to Robin Redbreast and the other to the rabbit.

Little robin red breast Sitting on a tree, Won't you come Into the sun And sing a song to me.

Little robin red breast, Little robin dear, Won't you stay awhile and play? I love to have you near.

With a lumpy lip And a lumpy lip, The rabbit is singing his song. With a friendly nip At the carrot hip, He happily journeys along.

Mrs. J. E. Pflanders accompanied Mr. Flanders as far as Salem Wednesday on his way to San Francisco. He will be visiting in Salem at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. F. Griffith for ten days or a fortnight.

Mrs. Walter Spaulding is entertaining with a dinner tonight honoring Charles K. Spaulding, who is celebrating a birthday.

Mrs. S. S. East was at home to her "500" club yesterday afternoon, asking in addition, Mrs. L. E. Beale of Eugene, who is here with her husband Representative Beale, during the session of the legislature.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Miles were among the Salem folk in Portland during the latter part of the week.

The first of a series of Ladies' nights was given by the local lodge of Elks last night, the feature being a comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," which was put on by the McMinville Elks club.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Westbrook of Albany, came up to attend the Shrine dance Tuesday night, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Schunemann.

Among the out-of-town attendants at the Shrine dance Tuesday night were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stone of Portland.

As a farewell attention for Miss Edna Sterling, resigning head of the English department of the High school, the members of the Clarion staff entertained with a line party at the Oregon theater Wednesday night, which was followed by a supper at the home of Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Powell.

Covers were laid for the following: Miss Sterling, Miss Elizabeth Macleay, and the Misses Miriam Lovell, Jennelle Vandevort, Emma Powell, Marjorie Mellinger, Gladys Benck, Leleh Kuhn, Catherine Vincent; Messrs. Robert Little, Joseph Albright, Kenneth Perry, Milton Steiner, Wallace Griffith, Ralph Bailey, Arthur Montgomery, Percy Hammond, Alfred Montgomery, Herbert Socolofsky, Aubrey Frawley, Herbert Socolofsky, Frank Deckbach and Rawson Chapin.

Little Emma writes much poetry, because, she says, she can think best in verse. Like the late Homer Davenport she sees human nature in all the animal life about her and a good deal of heaven in the flowers and trees that grow.

She addresses her pair of Bantam chickens as Mr. and Mrs. Smith. She enjoys the morning chase of a wild rabbit by her two Alreades. The rabbit comes to the carrot patch to get his breakfast, and when he has had his fill she comes by the house to get Pat and Tatters into a friendly race across the field, and the poetry of motion becomes music to her.

Emma has as much interest in cats as did Louis Alcott. She names the mother Hungry Henrietta. The runt cat is Runtina, a proud cat is Augustina, a quiet cat that takes all in is Miss Meropanda, and her fussy cat is Fuzziana. She talks to the cats in her home and the wild birds on the boughs as she does to her playmates. Following are two of her poems—one addressed to Robin Redbreast and the other to the rabbit.

Little robin red breast Sitting on a tree, Won't you come Into the sun And sing a song to me.

Little robin red breast, Little robin dear, Won't you stay awhile and play? I love to have you near.

With a lumpy lip And a lumpy lip, The rabbit is singing his song. With a friendly nip At the carrot hip, He happily journeys along.

Mrs. J. E. Pflanders accompanied Mr. Flanders as far as Salem Wednesday on his way to San Francisco. He will be visiting in Salem at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. F. Griffith for ten days or a fortnight.

Mrs. Walter Spaulding is entertaining with a dinner tonight honoring Charles K. Spaulding, who is celebrating a birthday.

Mrs. S. S. East was at home to her "500" club yesterday afternoon, asking in addition, Mrs. L. E. Beale of Eugene, who is here with her husband Representative Beale, during the session of the legislature.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Miles were among the Salem folk in Portland during the latter part of the week.

The first of a series of Ladies' nights was given by the local lodge of Elks last night, the feature being a comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," which was put on by the McMinville Elks club.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Westbrook of Albany, came up to attend the Shrine dance Tuesday night, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Schunemann.

Among the out-of-town attendants at the Shrine dance Tuesday night were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stone of Portland.

Our Prices

in consideration of the merchandise we give you, are much lower than you can get elsewhere. Our business for the last twenty-six years, since it was founded has always been conducted on these lines.

SWEeper-VAC ELECTRIC CARPET SWEEPER WITH MOTOR DRIVEN BRUSH

is fast being recognized as one of the Best Sweepers that can be bought. It is equipped with twenty-four feet of cord, one-fifth horsepower motor. The speed of the motor is 3,000 revolutions per minute; brush revolves 1350 revolutions per minute—has a lever that cuts out the motor-driven brush if you do not desire to use same. Let us demonstrate this Sweeper.

ASK ABOUT THE WESTERN PIPELESS FURNACE

It is made in the West for Western people and for Western fuel. The fire-box is oblong, thus enabling you to put in a long stick of wood, flat, instead of standing on end. It weighs more and COSTS LESS.

TRUNKS, BAGS and SUIT CASES

Our showing in Trunks, Bags and Suit Cases is very complete. If you are thinking of taking a trip in the near future, come in, and let us show you our line.

EXTRA SPECIAL—Genuine Leather Handbag in 16, 17, or 18-inch. Values up to $10.....$4.95

C.S. HAMILTON

House Furnisher SALES REPRESENTATIVES SHERMAN, CLAY & CO. PIANOS

Morris Optical Co. advertisement with logo and contact information.