The sophomore class of the high school yesterday presented a short three-act play before the student body for the benefit of its members. The play was written by members of the sophomore class and was directed by their supervisor, Miss L. Ross. The play pictured a home in which were two twins, both members of the sophomore class of the Salem high school, and two other members representing the junior and senior class. Clever originality and keen satire marked the entire play and spoke well for the dramatic ability of the underclassmen.

Banks. He had been thrown out of the library for not paying his fees.

On behalf of the stockholders Joseph said no dividend ever had been paid and none is ever expected. He accused Banks of making threats. This Banks denied by interrupting. The president rapped them to order.

Senator Dennis moved the previous question, declaring the members of the legal profession were taking up all the time on a subject no one else knew anything about. The motion carried and Hume made his closing argument.

Banks, however, arose on personal privilege, declaring he had been misrepresented relative to the position of Secretary Ridge-way of the State Bar association. He said he had a letter from Ridge-way later than Hume's letter.

The motion by Hume to reconsider carried by a vote of 15 to 14, one member being absent, and after the vote was announced the bill was re-referred to the judiciary committee.

The vote was:
Yes—Eddy, Gill, Hare, Hume, Jones, Joseph, Lachmund, La Follett, Nickelsen, Patterson, Porter, Robertson, Strayer, Thomas, Vinton.

No—Banks, Bell, Dennis, Eberhard, Edwards, Ellis, Farrell, Hall, Moser, Norblad, Smith, Staples, Upton, Rittner.

the coast and that it was important that every inducement be given for its location here by the people of the city. He said that even though an additional mill was built, it was possible to double the capacity of the paper mill already here. At the present time there is only one machine in operation at the mill, a second will be in readiness about March 10, and there is room to accommodate two more.

The wages paid to date amount to $300,000, the monthly payroll averaging $20,000. A large portion of this money is spent in Salem. Mr. Hayford made a strong plea for united support of the paper mill company and for the security and benefit of investments in its stock.

The association went on record as favoring the bill before the legislature for the opening of the time plant. This was done after a great remarks made in its favor by A. C. Bornstadt.

C. V. Johnson, manager of the state realty commission, spoke on behalf of the realty bill now before the legislature, saying it had received both a majority and minority report, and had a good prospect of being passed, though it had one or two members strongly opposed to it.

Mrs. Winnie Pettyjohn, chairman of the entertainment committee announced Senator Thomas, as the speaker for next Thursday's luncheon.

Public Utilities Service
Bill Has Little Objection

The Eddy bill to preserve the obligation of contracts whereby public utilities furnish service free to cities in return for franchise purposes, went through the senate without a discussion yesterday, passing by a vote of 23 to 7. This was the bill that caused nearly half a day of debate Tuesday on Senator Eddy's motion to substitute a minority committee report, recommending passage of the measure, for a majority report recommending that it not pass.

Eberhard, Edwards, Ellis, Hall, Moser, Robertson and Rittner voted against the bill yesterday.

EDDY BATTLES REPORT ACROSS

B. L. Eddy, the battling senator from Roseburg, brought his tremendous ability as a debater into play yesterday afternoon and with the support of Senators Hare and Joseph, howled over a majority report of the committee on railroads and utilities which recommended against the passage of Eddy's bill to preserve contracts between municipalities and public utilities. By a vote of 21 to 9, the minority report was substituted for the majority report and the bill is now on its way to third reading.

The majority report against the bill was signed by Eberhard, Moser, Edwards and Hall, and the minority report by Eddy, Thomas and Norblad.

Debate Is Stirring.
After the most stirring debate heard in the senate at this session, with the fight centering around the status of the public service commission, the vote on substitution of the minority report, which had been moved by Eddy, stood as follows:
Yes—Bell, Dennis, Eddy, Farrell, Gill, Hare, Hume, Jones, Joseph, Lachmund, La Follett, Nickelsen, Norblad, Patterson, Porter, Smith, Staples, Strayer, Thomas, Upton, Vinton.
No—Banks, Eberhard, Edwards, Ellis, Hall, Moser, Robertson, Ryan, Rittner.

The public service commission was brought vitally into the issue, Eberhard and Moser declaring the bill would emasculate the authority of the commission and settle it as a department of the state, while Eddy and his followers averred that its effect on the commission's jurisdiction would be infinitesimal.
