FORDNEY TARIFF PASSES HOUSE (Continued from page 1) mitted from the house late tomorrow.

While the senate was debating the house ways and means committee was concluding open hearings on revision of the permanent law. When that is finished, Chairman Fordney will leave late tomorrow for another conference with President-elect Harding at St. Augustine. It is understood he will ask for a definite expression as to his views on the legislative program outlined by Republican leaders and whether he favors consideration by congress of tariff legislation ahead of taxation.

The speech by Senator Moses was filled with caustic shots at his republican colleagues. He declared every senator knew that the bill, if it should become a law, would avail nothing and he challenged denial by any senator that it was "unscientific and designed to fool the farmer rather than aid him." "The republican party cannot go before the country with such a measure," he declared. "It can only give to President Wilson, who was so thoroughly repudiated in November, an opportunity to exorcise the republican party and believe me he will do it."

HIGHWAY FUNDS ARE NOW PROTECTED (Continued from page 1) paid prior to completion of the job, but giving the commission authority to adopt a uniform rule in retaining percentages, will go to third reading, a majority report having been adopted over an adverse minority report.

House Bill 213, providing that the state highway commission may retain 20 per cent of the contract price of improvements, and at its discretion accept personal security or other satisfactory indemnity of contractors to protect the state against claims for labor and materials against contractors, was tabled. At present the state is paying out about $450 a mile in premiums on surety bonds.

SALEM HIGH WINS FROM McMINNVILLE

Game is Easy Victory For Red and Black Quintet Score is 43 to 17

The red and black quintet of the Salem high school last night added one more to their long list of victories for this season when they defeated the McMinnville aggregation by a score of 43 to 17. After the first fifteen minutes of play the game went easily to the Salem men. During the last few minutes an entire substitute team played.

Adolph, the new center, started the game, and proved himself to be a valuable man. Capt. Ashby and "Bill" Gosser worked creditably throughout the entire game and with Staley were largely responsible for the high score. Jones and Agee played a fast game for the visitors. During the first few minutes of play Salem piled up 8 points in rapid succession. For a period of about ten minutes the play was fast and close, and the Salem men were unable to stand off the fierce attack of the visitors, who ran their score up to seven. For the first 15 minutes the play was undecided and it looked as if Salem would have to put up a stiff fight if they were to hold their record of no defeats during the season. The first half ended with a score of 21 to 10 in favor of Salem.

In the beginning of the second half the visitors showed signs of weariness, while the Salem men came back even stronger. Salem then began her strong, steady attack, which she maintained until the end of the game. The local men were superior in their machine-like team work, while the visitors held a strong defensive. In the wrestling matches which were staged between the halves, White and Baggot tied for honors, while Post won his match over Blenkensop.

The armory was filled with spectators, a large part of whom were townspeople. The success of the game financially will probably insure the playing of high school games in the armory for the remainder of the season.
