WHEN SALEM WILL BE A MINING CENTER

The time when Salem will be a mining center is drawing near.

Hundreds of millions of dollars in mineral wealth are underneath the mountains in the Santiam region, and there will likely be commercial ore shipments from at least two of the mining properties in that district during this year.

From the Lotz-Larsen property and the prospect of the Silver King Mining company.

And there will be a survey of the district this year by the Bureau of Mines and Geology, State of Oregon, this with a view to giving accurate information to men able to enter the field and get out the ores under approved modern methods.

This is good news for Salem—Wonderfully good news.

From the time when, forty to fifty years ago, there began to be mining excitements in the Santiam district, and the whole of the Little North Fork of the Santiam from Elkhorn to the mouth of Gold Creek, and above, was staked out in placer claims, some gold has been coming out of that district—considerable sums in the early days from the placer claims.

And there have been many rushes and excitements. But a great deal more money has been put in than has ever been taken out.

By prospectors, companies that have done development work, and have built roads and erected mills, etc. But the companies that operated in those days were foredoomed to failure.

The reader may find the reasons in the article in this issue of Arthur M. Swartly, consulting mining engineer of the Oregon Bureau of Mines and Geology. Mining on a large scale could not be successful under the methods known to the pioneers in that district.

There have been later discoveries, however, as explained by Mr. Swartly, in the ways to treat such ores as are found in the Santiam district.

And now large capital may be employed there with an assurance that it will yield good returns.

The gold is there, and the silver and lead and copper and zinc. It has all along been only a question of getting out the mineral wealth.

So Salem is now on the very eve of becoming a mining center. The sure beginnings will be made this year, and it is reasonably certain now that there will be progress every year hereafter in the constructive work that will render this city more and more a center and supply point of a great mining district, pouring out increasing millions of wealth annually as time passes.

And mining development in the Santiam will be sure to bring other great things for that district and for Salem and the Salem section—one of the most important of which will be the use of the great and comparatively cheaply developed water powers of that region.

KNIGHTS BRING LECTURER HERE

David Goldstein of Boston to Expose Bolshevism In Address

SPEAKER WIDELY KNOWN

Former Socialist Leader Now Defends Christian Civilization

An interesting and instructive explanation of that perplexing problem "Bolshevism" will be given at the armory, Saturday night, March 5, by David Goldstein of Boston, under the auspices of the supreme council, Knights of Columbus. Mr. Goldstein is a lecturer of national reputation, having several times traversed the United States, speaking upon subjects relating to the maintenance and perpetuation of the American ideals of home, industry, labor and patriotism. The Knights of Columbus as an order has been fighting radicalism, and socialism for many years, before the war, during the war and since the war. High tribute has been paid to the Knights of Columbus during the war by its leaders of thought not only in the United States but in the European countries.

There is yet another feature of its work, distinct from its efforts in war and after war, and yet lying at the very foundation of American progress in social justice, that marks of the Knights of Columbus as being in the forefront of America's sociological organizations.

Christianity Defended

This public activity was established years before the war, for it was quite natural that this organization of Catholic American citizens should be more sensitive to assaults, from whatsoever quarter upon the foundation and the fabric of Christian civilization. The Knights of Columbus was not found wanting, and it took the best means of practical defense against the open and secret propaganda to turn over the national inheritance to Socialists whose world-wide movement is now popularly designated by its Russian nickname Bolshevism.

Years ago when the danger of Socialist activity was not so evident as it is today, the Knights of Columbus resolved to conduct free lecture courses on the forum platform to exhibit the fallacies, irrationality, injustice and immorality of Socialist principles and practices.

Campaign Begun

To members of the order—experts on the subject—were selected to tour the country over, setting before public audiences the true sociological doctrines in contrast with the false teachings of the enemies of God and country, and thus meeting the exponents of socialism face to face in intellectual combat. Peter W. Collins—then international secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, a fearless fighter for the cause of wage-earners and a strenuous opponent of socialism—and David Goldstein—once a leader in the ranks of the socialists, who quit the movement in 1903 when it refused to repudiate its advocacy of violence, irreligion and free-love—were selected to conduct this educational campaign. Besides the work of these men, which has won international commendation, the order has distributed through:

out the country, free of charge, hundreds of thousands of pamphlets giving the Christian-American view of sociological problems that vex the national life.

Musical Prelude Arranged

The Knights of Columbus is thoroughly committed to this line of defense and enlightenment. Every man seeking admission to the order is obligated to sign an application pledging his attitude of Socialism to be that taken by the Catholic church expressed in the Encyclicals of Pope Leo XIII and Pope Pius X.

As a prelude to the lecture several musical numbers featuring a harp solo, will be given by the girls' string orchestra of Sacred Heart Academy.

Mr. Goldstein's lecture "Bolshevism—What It Is—The Remedy For It," will be entirely free to everyone, there being no admission charge, nor any solicitation taken up among the audience.

GAME DECIDES BIFFBALL LEAD

Captain Kirkpatrick Victor Over Rigidon For Completed Series

The monthly contest of the business men's class at the Y. M. C. A. ended last night with one of the stiffest biffball games of the season. The game was won by Captain Kirkpatrick's team, which put him far in the lead and gave him the victory of the series.

It was a hard fought contest from start to finish, and Captain Kirkpatrick and his men were greatly elated over their victory. Captain Rigidon of the opposing team put up a hard fight, and was in the lead for a considerable portion of the series. The final contest last night was necessarily to decide the series.

The captains chosen for the next series, beginning on Friday night, are two of the veteran players, John Bayne and Joseph H. Albert. Following the game the men gathered for a chicken pie feed and an hour of good fellowship during which time the new captains were chosen and other business transacted.

O. J. Hull, the new physical director, has been in charge for several evenings and is proving very popular with the men. Mr. Hull served a portion of last year as physical director, and knew the game thoroughly. He is especially strong in conducting the class in calisthenics, and each evening has the floor filled to capacity with men.

During the feed last night Mr. Hull reported that he had learned that the business men's class of the Eugene Y. M. C. A. would like to play a series of volleyball games with the local team. The suggestion was enthusiastically received by the members of the class, and by vote Mr. Hull was directed to negotiate with the Eugene men and endeavor to secure a series of three games with them, at least one of which would be played on the local floor, and be open to the public.

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, terpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face. Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

WEATHER GOOD FOR ORCHARDS

Fruit Growers Say Conditions Ideal For Both Old And New Trees

FROST DANGER PRESENT

Nursery Stock Supply Once More is Catching Up With Demand

Fruit growers in Oregon say that weather conditions in the west and northwest have been ideal for orchards for both old and newly planted trees. As a result the bearing trees have an unusual number of fruit buds. The coming spring will determine the size of the 1921 crop as the danger from late frosts will be more serious this year than in winters when it has been cold and blossoming not so early. The supply of nursery stock is now beginning to overtake the demand, following several years of shortage. California will plant 125,000 acres of fruit this year, compared to 150,000 acres last year.

According to the estimate made by the federal reserve bank of San Francisco, apple, pear and cherry stocks are comparatively scarce in the northwest and prospective planting will use all the stock produced within the next year or so. Peach, prune and plum stocks will be more plentiful next year.
