Scott's Cycle Found.
Considerable curiosity is felt by those interested in just how a motorcycle belonging to Harry W. Scott got underneath the Yew Park bridge Tuesday night. A. J. Ratcliff, 1459 Lee street, reported to the police that his boys saw a man attempt to remove the motorcycle, but when he discovered that he was being watched he ran away. As it was dark an accurate description of the man was not obtained. Police Officer Hayden investigated the case and found that the machine was the property of Mr. Scott, who thinks possibly that it was taken from a shed in the rear of his store.

BRANCH LIBRARY IS DOING WELL

Interesting Session of Highland Parent-Teachers Held Last Night

Because of the unqualified success of the branch public library that has been maintained at the Highland school since last summer, the city public library will probably take it over in June and operate it.

The library was established as a branch of the city library and the arrangement was to take it over if it operated successfully for a year. This it has done so far and has been of great assistance not only in the school work at Highland, but to the general community as well.

The library was one of the things discussed last night at a meeting of the Highland Parent-Teacher association at the Highland school.

The hot soup service for pupils who take their lunches to school which was established by the Parent-Teacher association, assisted by some of the women of Salem, last year, has been continued successfully all winter, according to reports made last night.

Miss Lillian Godsey, county health nurse, addressed the association on the health crusade that is being introduced into the schools of Salem and Marion county, the purpose of which, by offering incentives, is to train school children in hygienic habits. This work necessitates scales in each school, and the Highland Parent-Teacher association adopted a resolution to the effect that it would pay half the cost of a set of scales if the school board will pay the other half.

The next meeting will be Tuesday night, April 19.

DAVIS AVERTS STRIKE AMONG PACKING MEN

to meet President Harding tomorrow.

During the three days of conferences, representatives of the two sides faced each other in joint sessions, twice, on Monday, when each side stated its case, and late today when the final terms were signed. It is understood that at the last moment there was a threat of further discussion, but Secretary Davis is said to have exclaimed: "What's the use of arguing? sign." The representatives thereupon affixed their signatures.

Secretaries Hoover and Wallace took no active part in the separate conferences between Secretary Davis and each side following Monday's joint conference, but it is understood conclusions which they reached after hearing the statements by both sides Monday had considerable bearing in shaping the final settlement.

Approval of the efforts of the new secretary of labor was voiced tonight by Brennan, speaking for the employees. He said he greatly admired the spirit shown by Secretary Davis, even though he did not agree with all the secretary's economic beliefs.

Secretary Davis said: "I am highly gratified that a strike has been averted. The adjustment has prevented a strike of very serious consequences."

"The agreement which we signed today is but a truce for us to prepare for war," said Brennan. "If, after September 15, the packers maintain the attitude they have shown in the past and refuse to deal with their employees in fair adjustment of differences, there will be a serious industrial strike."

Hoover, speaking for the packers, said that the packers would not agree to a strike. He said that the packers maintain the attitude they have shown in the past and refuse to deal with their employees in fair adjustment of differences, there will be a serious industrial strike.

Larson Again Arrested For Embezzlement
TACOMA, Wash., March 23.—Charged with accepting money from depositors after he knew of Scandinavian-American bank of Tacoma was going into the hands of a receiver and, as a separate charge, with the embezzlement of $17,500, Ole S. Larson, president of the bank, was arrested today under the 23rd and 24th indictments returned against him by the county grand jury. Bond was given for $1000 each on the two indictments and Larson is now at Liberty under a total of approximately $77,000 cash and bail bond. It was indicated by Foreman C. C. Hume, of the grand jury today, the investigation of the bank is not yet completed, the last of the indictments which Larson will have to face has been returned.

Boys' Curiosity Causes Location of Still
POCATELLO, Ida., March 23.—The curiosity of a youthful attendant at Sunday school services caused the discovery of a still there Sunday. The boy noticed two brown drops on the ceiling. The drops failed to fall so after the Sunday school pupils had left he climbed into the attic and discovered an oil stove, a still, a quantity of mash, some burned sugar and all the accessories to make liquor.

His report of his discovery resulted in the confiscation of the still but the operator has as yet not been discovered.

New Wage in Effect at Spaulding Lumber Mill
A readjustment in the wage and working hour schedule was put into effect at the Charles K. Spaulding mill yesterday for common labor. The new arrangement calls for an eight-hour day at $3 a day. For some time the day has been six hours and the wage $2.60.

Necessity of Coal Development Urged
OTTAWA, March 23.—The vital necessity of Canada developing her coal resources to become independent of importations from the United States was urged in Canadian house of commons today by Dr. Michael Steale, member from South Perth.

A resolution asking the immediate appointment of a special parliamentary committee to inquire into the future coal supply of Canada, received strong support.
