SOCIETY
ANNE SHANNON MONROE, eminent Oregon author who lectured in Salem Tuesday under the auspices of the Salem Arts League, returned to her home in Portland yesterday noon. Miss Monroe owns a cottage in Portland which she opens every winter, coming here from New York to get atmosphere and setting for her western stories for which she is noted. She was the guest on Wednesday morning of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dibble, and visited the tulip farm of Franklin & Dibble for the metropolis. on the Wallace road before leaving.
Mrs. William Dunn of Seattle has been the guest of Mrs. Edward G. Patterson, superintendent of the girls' industrial school for a few days.
Mrs. Pearl Ling of Portland spent Sunday in Salem as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shelley.
Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Franklin entertained with an evening of cards at their home on the Wallace road Tuesday, honoring the eleventh wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Steiner. Attractive art baskets of daffodils and spring flowers were used about the rooms. Refreshments were served in the course of the evening.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Steiner, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Imah, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Petys, Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Kugle, Mr. and Mrs. Moses Adams, Miss Nellie Taylor and Miss Mildred Imah.
The Woman's Aid society of the Presbyterian church will meet in the church parlors Friday afternoon at 2:30. Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Joseph Albert, Mrs. John Griffith, Mrs. George M. Brown, Mrs. W. G. Allen, Mrs. F. L. Klein and Mrs. J. F. Smith.
The Easter cantata to be given at the Central Congregational church Sunday evening is being eagerly anticipated by members and friends of the church. A choir of 20 voices will sing and will be accompanied by a boys' orchestra composed of the following: Piano, Donald Allison; organ, Cecil Deacon; violin, Leonard Chadwick; saxophone, Lawrence Deacon. This is the orchestra which plays every Sunday and which has received such hearty commendation for its efficient work.

Miss Ellen Campbell is enjoying a brief visit in Portland with relatives and friends.
The regular meeting of the Highland Parent Teachers' association was held last evening in the Highland school, a splendid representation being present. Miss Godsey, county health nurse, gave an interesting lecture.
Persons interested in the success of Salem authors will enjoy the series of nature stories now being published in the Good Housekeeping magazine, written by Emma-Lindsay Squier, Basil King, a personal friend of the author and her works when the first story appeared. The one in the April number is entitled "The Wild Heart," a beautiful story of the child-like faith of wild things in any one who loves them.
The younger set is interested in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Emma Shannon to Lester Day. The announcement was made at a delightful luncheon given Sunday by Miss Lorelei Blatchford.
Miss Laurel Janz, who recently underwent a minor operation is spending a brief visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Janz, at their country home near Silverton.
Friends of Mrs. L. K. Page will be grieved to learn of her serious illness at her home on North Cottage street. Saturday Mrs. August Aufrant and Mrs. J. C. Moore of Donald spent the day with her. Yesterday Mrs. Earl Carver came up from her home in Donald to be with Mrs. Page.
Mrs. Rose Chamberlain had as her guest over the last week-end her son, Weller Chamberlain, of Portland.
Honoring Miss Marian Taylor, whose marriage to Mr. Kephart of California will be an event of early summer, Mrs. Myrtle Hillborn invited a number of their friends Thursday afternoon to Rippling Brook, the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Martin. The rooms were simple but artistically decorated, a yellow and green motif being successfully carried out. Late in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. Eva Martin and Mrs. Ruth Hillborn assisting. Those invited were Miss Marian Taylor, Mrs. H. O. Taylor, Miss G. Patton, Mrs. Bert Patton, Mrs. D. J. Miller, Mrs. Plank, Mrs. Litchfield, Mrs. J. M. Martin, Miss Alta Martin, Mrs. B. Kaiser, Mrs. M. J. Howard, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. T. S. Mackenzie, Miss Marjory Miller, Miss Marjory Hillborn, Mrs. N. H. Hilborn, Mrs. Dale Hilborn, Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. Enners, Mrs. V. L. Masten, Mrs. Welsh, Miss Anna Welsh, Miss Elizabeth Walsh, Mrs. O. L. Taylor, D. J. Miller, Mrs. H. O. Stollard, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. F. E. Goddell, Miss E. Spellbrink, Mrs. Spellbrink, Miss Mae Sammons, Miss M. Patton, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. E. E. Martin.

Hot Water Each Morning Puts Roses in Your Cheeks

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.
If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Girls and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, leaves behind a certain amount of indigestible material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, forms toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

HOW TO SAVE GAS AND KEEP BILLS DOWN EXPLAINED BY MANAGER OF SALEM'S PLANT

By W. M. HAMILTON
You are wasting gas every time you have gas burning at the side of a pan. You know there is usually one large burner on your stove, and because that is at the front in a convenient position, you are most likely to light that one whenever you have any cooking to do. But really, that large burner was designed for the frying pan or some large-base pan. To use it on a small pan is to throw gas away.
You should see to it that the burners are always kept clean and that the gas burns with a fairly blue light. If it is too yellow, then the proportions of air and gas are not right. The mixture can be regulated by the little valve at the front of the stove. If you don't know how the flame should look when the mixture is right, stop in the nearest gas office and get some one to show you.
If you allow your steppan to become blackened with the carbon that is given off in the gas, you are making them poor heat conductors. That is, it will take more gas to bring their contents to a boil. For this reason if for some other, you should wash the steppans on the bottom after each using.
Always cover every dish in which you are cooking anything unless for some special reason it is undesirable to cover it. If you start two pans of water boiling at the same time, one covered and the other uncovered, you will see how necessary it is to do this. It is well worth your while to buy a steamer in which you can keep several steppans at the same time, all heated by one gas burner. They are on the order of the Bainmarie so long used in hotel kitchens. Recently they have been introduced into the stores dealing in home-cooking utensils.

If you must heat water for dishwashing by gas, make a practice of keeping a bowl or large crock of water on the stove where it may borrow waste heat from the cooking going on. When you have turned the oven off and finished baking in it, slip the water of the crock. Another way to get hot water without specially boiling it, is to place a panful of water on the cover of any pan in which you happen to be cooking. Enough heat ordinarily goes off the top of the cover to heat a pan of water and so far from roasting it, it conserves the heat inside the pan of the heat, you are actually the first pan by keeping off the air on top.
obediently swallowed every drop of the delicious mixture Betty had prepared, laid her gently down when she had finished, and knelt by her side with her hands clasped in mine.
"Now," I said softly, "I'll give you just ten minutes."
She looked up at me with eyes full of horror.
"Madge, tell me," she whispered hoarsely, "Do you think Robert has found Harry and killed him?"
(To be continued.)
It Worked Wonderfully
Have you noticed the number of persons coughing this Spring, caused by an irritated condition in the chest, bronchial tubes or throat? This coughing is banished by few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar. Mrs. Anna Stein, 410 Western Ave., Covington, Ky., writes: "Your cough medicine worked wonderfully on our little son. He is subject to bronchitis. The first dose helped him." Good for all sorts of coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and croup coughs. Sold everywhere. (adv.)
Big Irrigation Dam is Discussed by Engineers
A rock fill dam with concrete base for the storage of 14,000 acre feet of water in Fish lake near the head of Little Butte creek to be used on the Medford irrigation project was discussed at a conference in Portland Tuesday. The conference was attended by D. C. Henny, consulting engineer for the project; Percy A. Cupper, state engineer; Theodore A. Garrow, project engineer; and H. M. Chadwick, engineer for the Rogue River Valley Canal company.
The latter company has contracted with the Medford Irrigation district for the construction of the dam and other works necessary for the delivery of water to the district. Work is now under way on a part of the distribution system and other important structures. It is estimated that the project will cost $1,250,000 and the contractor has agreed to accept the bonds of the district in payment.
Rehearing Possible in Wood Rate Controversy
The Southern Pacific company has petitioned the public service commission to defer for 30 days the effective date of the order reducing the rate on fuel wood and wood products and to grant a rehearing of the application of the railroads for an increase in rates. Recently the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company petitioned for a rehearing. In its order the commission cut by 15 per cent the existing rate instead of increasing it 15 per cent as demanded by the carriers. The commission has fixed March 29 as the date for an argument on the question whether a rehearing shall be granted.
Deschutes County Left Out of Federal Survey
The United States census bureau has failed to include Deschutes county in a report relative to the amount of irrigated land in Oregon, and gives the total of irrigated acreage in the state as only about 925,000.
"To include this omission alone would bring the total to nearly 1,000,000 acres," said State Engineer Copper yesterday, "which is the estimate shown by the last biennial report of the state engineer."

The 1910 census showed an area of 686,000 acres of irrigated land in Oregon. It would seem therefore, that there has been approximately a 50 per cent increase in irrigated land in Oregon during the last 10 years, even with this large increase in irrigated acreage, the rural population of Oregon seems not to have increased as rapidly as in some of the adjoining states. In Idaho, for instance, the increase in the rural population has been twice as great as in Oregon.

Senate Chamber Taken By Accident Commission
The industrial accident commission continues to spread over the capitol building. The left wing of the senate chamber has been cleared of legislative desks and will be given over to the clerical force of the accident commission.

POLAND TO PRESS LAND SETTLEMENT

Germany Indicates Intention To Lay Claim to Whole Region
WASHINGTON, March 23.— Poland will press the inter-allied commission, charged with definite determination of Upper Silesia, for a distribution of territory between Poland and Germany based on the commune vote, according to official advices received today by the Polish legation from Warsaw.
Germany has indicated her intention to lay claim to the entire region on the basis of the numerical majority returned in her favor in Upper Silesia without distinction to communes or districts. This claim, the dispatches indicated, will be strongly opposed by the Polish foreign office, which interprets article 28 of the treaty of Versailles as not providing for the attribution to either Poland or Germany of Upper Silesia as a whole.

CHAPTER 19
THE QUESTION THAT LILLIAN ASKED MADGE.
It was not until hours after my assurance to Lillian that I would stay until Robert Savarin's sister arrived that we had opportunity for any conversation other than the hurried words exchanged in the battle for the artist's life.
The death-like swoon continued, and the physician's face, I fancied, was graver than usual when he left the house after his second visit.
