I knew enough of the girl to real- ize she would endeavor to monop- olize Dicky's attentions during the dinner and reception to which she had been invited. She is the flamboyant, assertive type of pret- ty girl, who is never content un- less she has the most attractive man in the room bending over her chair and neglecting all social amenities for her sake. But though I realized that her attitude might cause me petty an- noyance later in the day. I was too absorbed in the haunting fear that Dicky might not cover himself with glory in the afternoon exer- cises to pay much attention to anything else. Yet I couldn't help noticing that when she had settled her class in their seats she left them and came back to the desk of trophles and bent over it as if- making some trifling arrange- ment.	 What have you to say for yourself?" "Not-guilty, your honor. I can prove a lullaby." The judge smiled in spite of himielf. "You mean an alibi." "Begging your honor's pardon, it was a lullaby. My wife will stear that at 2 o'clock this morning I was walking the floor with the baby."—Unidentified. WE NEED MONEY I want a loan of $6500 at 7 per cent on a good well improved 100 acre ranch.
