

SOCIETY NEWS OF THE WEEK

A group of Salem musicians, Misses Trista Wenger, Doris Allen, Hilda Amster and Leon Jensen, went to Portland Thursday to hear Charles W. Clark, eminent baritone of Chicago, in concert at the Heilig that evening.

Mrs. Frank W. Durbin is enjoying a short stay in Portland where she is with her daughter, Mrs. E. F. Pearson.

Miss Josephine Baumgartner will return to the University of Oregon Monday, after passing the spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Barton returned to Neskowin the first of the week where they will enjoy a week's outing, being entertained while there as the guests of friends.

Following as it did so close after the 40 days of the Lenten period, and giving previously every indication of being a most festive affair, the large dance which the Daughters of Isabella gave in the armory Tuesday night was one of the most largely attended similar events this winter, and an event that fulfilled all previous promise. Under the able direction of Mrs. G. E. Schuneman, who headed the committee directly in charge, no detail was overlooked in making the dance both an artistic and informal social success. Hereafter the affair will be repeated once each year, during the first week after Lent.

An elaborate and singularly beautiful decorative scheme had been worked out, which succeeded in converting the big interior of the armory in a way entirely different from any previous occasion. The emblems of the organization, the cross and crown, made large motifs that were effectively utilized. Purple, gold and white, the colors of the Daughters of Isabella, were used to construct these emblems, daffodils forming a floral crown, with the letters representing the order varying. As a central detail a large seven-foot cross, with garlands in alternating colors extending out from this. Four other similar emblems were placed on each side of the room. Palms, Oregon grape and ferns outlined the orchestra booth, and were used profusely elsewhere about the big room.

Cards were enjoyed on the second floor by those who did not care to dance. This room was also effectively decorated, 14 tables being called into service. Prizes went to Mrs. Theodore M. Barr, Mrs. J. G. Nadore, Charles Neimyer and S. Breitenstein. Dancing began promptly at 9 o'clock, with a large representation from out of town in attendance. A feature of the evening was the singing of Albert Egan.

The floor committees was composed of Otto Hartman, Albert

Egan, Dr. John Lynch, Edward Heenan, Cyril Sulng and Francis Walsh.

Two large, decorated tables were used for punch. Mrs. James Heenan and Leonora Michael and Honora Reedy presiding at one, and Mrs. B. F. Dimelard and Mildred Sulng and Vivian Nadon being stationed at the other. The young girls serving were pretty white frocks, with hair bows of tulle in the additional colors of the order—purple and gold.

The following were patronesses: Mrs. G. E. Schuneman, Mrs. Emery Thompson, Mrs. L. L. Miller, Mrs. A. A. Schneider, Mrs. Guy O. Smith, Mrs. U. S. Pake, Mrs. E. C. Quinn, Mrs. Joseph Bach, Mrs. Laurence Boch, Mrs. Frances Burrell, Mrs. Charles Springer, Miss Gertrude Hartman, Leah Sulng, Miss Helen Sawyer, Miss Ella Amort, Miss Lilian Stangel and Miss Kathleen Walsh.

Mrs. Warren Hunt, who recently accepted a position as organist at a Corvallis theater, is spending the day with the family in Salem.

Miss Jessie Miller returned home the first of the week from Harrisburg, where she spent the Easter week-end with her parents.

Dr. E. D. Johnson of Klamath stopped off in Salem Friday to be the brief guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Hoff, old-time friends.

The Cecilian Music club met at the home of Miss Lucille Moore Wednesday night, a business meeting being followed by a program, a feature of which was the violin duet by Miss Marion Emmons and Miss Iva Claire Love.

The club is making plans for a large formal dancing party to be given in the near future.

Mrs. Lester B. Davis opened her home to members of the Friday Afternoon Bridge club this week, bidding additionally Mrs. Paul H. Hauser and Mrs. C. J. Greene. Daffodils added a yellow color note to the rooms, where three tables were called into service for the game. High score was won by Mrs. C. A. Vibbert.

Mrs. F. G. Delano will be the club's next hostess.

The cast of characters for the junior play of Willamette university, an annual feature of the junior week-end, scheduled this year for May 6 and 7, has been announced by Clarence Gillette of Woodburn, manager of the production. The play, "A Rose of Plymouth Town," written by Benajah Marie Dix and Evelyn Greenleaf Sutherland, has a plot laid in the early New England days.

The characters chosen from the junior class are Rose de la Noye, Luella Tucker, Salem; Philippe de la Noye, Clarence Gillette, Woodburn; Barbara Standish, Loriel Blatchford, Salem; John Margesson, Waldo Kelson, Yakima Wash; Garrett Foster, Sheldon Sackett, Sheridan; Miriam Gillingham, Marjorie Minton, Salem; Resolute Story, Irma Fanning Turner; Miles Standish, Vernor Sackett, Sheridan.

Mrs. Ross Miles is spending the week-end with her parents in Rickard.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mills returned home the first of the week from Newberg, where they spent the Easter week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Spaulding.

Miss Bernice Bright, a Kappa Alpha Theta sister of Miss Janna Corvallis, has returned to Corvallis, after being the guest for several days of the latter.

Miss Clara Breitenstein was pledged during the past week to the Pi Beta Phi at the Oregon Agricultural college.

Miss Margaret Griffith and her home guest Miss Nancy Wilson will return to the University of Oregon tomorrow, after spending the Easter vacation in Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Barton returned home Thursday night from a week's absence, Mr. Barton

SPRING'S RE-AWAKENING

Anna Van Horsen Nelson

WHEN Youth is gone

And all Youth's dreams depart
And icy winter sternly seems to press
Its withering fingers on the weary heart.

Then are we dead:

But old dreams softly stir,
When Spring winds fan our dull ensumbered eyes,
With breath of blossoming things, and pine and fir:

At the world's heart—
Life wakes from sleep again;
In world-worn souls long vanished visions rise,
And long-hushed voices whisper, murmuring:

With passionate eyes
Once more, all cleansed, we seek
The True, the Pure, the Beautiful, the Good,
High-hearted claims on Heaven we bespeak

Such sad-sweet joy
To live and feel once more
On eyes grown holden with the weight of years
The Wind of Spring blow through an opening door

Long closed and barred;
And bitter-sweet the hours
When each Spring yields us its one magic day
To play at youth amidst the blossoming flowers.

spending the time in Portland on a business visit, Mrs. Barton dividing her time with Mrs. William Dattas, of Damascus, who is remembered here as Miss Ida Roark.

Upon their arrival in Salem Mr. and Mrs. Barton were surprised by a group of relatives, who, remembering that the date marked the Barton's fourth wedding anniversary, and Mr. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walton, Miss Lulu Rosamonde Walton and Miss Lucille Barton.

The charter of the local chapter of the American Wagon and Trailer will be open for signing at the printing establishment of the L. S. Roland company until Tuesday, when the regular meeting of the chapter will be held in the Commercial club auditorium. It is desired that the latest announcement made by the attending physician of Mrs. Page's gradual convalescence. It is thought that she will be on the way for complete recovery soon.

Miss Eva Scott, girls' work secretary of the Y. W. C. A. returns to Salem from Springfield Wednesday night, where she has been with her sister, who is convalescing from illness.

Friends of Miss Florence Elgin will be glad to know that she is convalescing from a week's illness.

First in the affections and interest of Mme. Matzenauer, the distinguished contralto of operatic and concert fame, who is to appear in Salem April 15, is the happiness and development of her little daughter Adrienne, now five years old. Her act comes after this. Mme. Matzenauer believes that already Adrienne shows the marks of a famous singer, but instead of fostering any signs of precocity in the unusual little girl she tries to make simplicity the keynote of her life.

"When my little daughter Adrienne was born," she says, "she was immediately christened, as of mark of a famous singer, but instead of fostering any signs of precocity in the unusual little girl she tries to make simplicity the keynote of her life."

Students at Willamette are looking forward to the junior week-end, May 6, 7 and 8, which marks the date of the annual May day festivities, and they are making plans accordingly. As the result of a recent balloting, Miss Mary Notson, a senior of Heppner, Or., won over two other nominees. She is a member of the Delta Phi sorority and president of the Adelante Literary society.

prophecy and tulle to plan. In all ways I am a fatalist—and a believer in destiny. If it is the destiny of my little girl to be a singer and her gift of self-expression lies in that direction—why nothing can stop her. Though, of course, she is still a baby, I believe that the signs point in that direction, for she never is to be happy and contented as when listening to her mother practice. Even scales and vocal exercises, which are as much a part of my morning routine as a bath and breakfast, seem to fascinate her and it is too cunning to hear her try and imitate these sounds with her sweet little voice.

She sings naturally and tries to imitate her mother, says Mrs. Matzenauer. "I believe in bringing up children according to a fixed routine; no strict discipline, but careful supervision. That is the reason I do not have Adrienne with me on my concert tours. Her scales and vocal exercises, which are as much a part of my morning routine as a bath and breakfast, seem to fascinate her and it is too cunning to hear her try and imitate these sounds with her sweet little voice."

Mrs. B. O. Schucking is in Madras, Or., where she went to join Mr. Schucking who is detained there on business. They will be away until the middle of April.

Mrs. Paul Hauser entertained members of her card club Wednesday afternoon, which was her house with the occasion with bright-hued spring flowers. Assisting during the hours was Mrs. L. S. Sheldon.

Mrs. George Elgin and Mrs. John Krebs were hidden as Wednesday guests, three tables being made up for the game, which resulted in Mrs. Roy Klein carrying off card honors.

Mrs. Kenneth Hall will be the next hostess for the club.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Goodin are entertaining as their house guests Mrs. Raymond Goodin and daughter Dorothy, and Mrs. Kate Kennell, all of Portland, who arrived Wednesday and will remain for a week.

Mrs. H. E. Maurer and Mrs. A. L. Wallace spent the last of the week in Portland, returning home Friday night.

Mrs. Ruth Fleming will return to Lewiston, Idaho, today, where she is identified with the normal school library, after spending the week's Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming.

Mrs. Jessie C. Jones and her daughter, Miss Rosalie Jones will return to Portland today, where the latter will re-enter St. Helen's hall, following the Easter vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nunn are spending the week-end in Hood River.

Mrs. George Patterson and Mrs. Claude Settlemyer spent several days in Portland this week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Hoff were in Portland during the week, where they enjoyed a brief visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norlyn P. Hoff.

Mrs. Frederic H. Thompson returned home last night from a short stay in Portland.

Mrs. Leslie Williams of Sacramento, who is visiting at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. O. Fowler, spent the mid-week in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Miles spent the greater portion of the week in Portland, going down to meet their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Knight, who were returning from an extended eastern trip.

Oregon cookery has been given national recognition by a large woman's publication, Good Housekeeping, which, in its April number, publishes as typical cookery from the northwest, three recipes by Oregon women. Mrs. Ida R. Scofield, Mrs. M. O. Buren, and Mrs. Ida R. Fargo, all of Salem, have been singled out for the honor of representing their state in menus which will reach a million in the American women, their favorite recipes: prune pudding, boiled Oregon prune cake, and loaf cranberry cake, all have been made from products of this state.

The recipes are published under a heading of "Typical Cookery from the Northwest—Washington and Oregon Favorites" and with the Oregon recipes in this introduction: "Because hill upon hill, and field upon field, all over Oregon hold up their masses of beautiful prune blossoms and scatter upon tons of purple-skinned fruit, one cannot be far miss in saying that recipes using prunes are favorites in this state."

What will, in all probability be the final concert of the Salem Symphony orchestra this season will be the popular concert Friday evening, April 22, which will take place in the armory. Three popular soloists who are to assist on the program, will, no doubt, do much to make this number the most largely attended of all. Mrs. W. H. Darty, Mrs. E. C. Quinn, and Mrs. J. H. Darty.

the defeated candidates in the election, will act as maids of honor during the May day festival. The former is a member of the Beta Chi sorority and of the Adelante Literary society, while Miss McClure is president of the Lausanne Hall club, and a member of the Chrestomathean society.

The May Queen crowning is always a beautiful feature of the last of the second semester, and is ever largely attended by students and townspeople.

Edward Notson, a sophomore from Heppner, Or., and a brother to the successful candidate for queen, is manager of the 1921 festivities and is planning a number of additional features for the coming May day. Evelyn Gordon, '20, of Portland, was crowned May Queen last spring by Governor Olcott.

Mr. and Mrs. Connell Dyer were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Walker Powell in Woodburn Friday night, motoring down.

A most enjoyable affair of Thursday night was the joint birthday celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Giesey, in honor of their daughter, Miss Madalene M. Giesey and Miss Joy Turner. A prettily appointed dinner was served, with the table adorned with spring flowers and further ornamented with Easter novelties.

Covers were laid for Miss Giesey, Miss Turner, Miss Grace Stevens, Miss Gertrude Reinsbeck, Miss Viola Elchs, Harold Rupert, F. A. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Giesey.

Mrs. B. O. Schucking is in Madras, Or., where she went to join Mr. Schucking who is detained there on business. They will be away until the middle of April.

flutist, will contribute, and W. H. Mills will give cornet solos.

At a meeting of the recently formed board of the orchestra this week, it was decided to put the concerts on a subscription basis next year, with three or four hundred subscriptions issued at $5 each, covering two seats at each of the three concerts; comprising the season, sold to cover expenses and allow a small remuneration for the musicians, who give of their time and talent. Under the present system, the orchestra barely has been self-supporting.

A group of piano pupils of Miss Laura Grant appeared in an interesting program yesterday afternoon, the recital being held at the residence of Mrs. S. P. McCracken of 425 North Church street. The youthful musicians rendered their numbers with precision and rhythm, entering into the occasion, which was their first spring recital, with much enthusiasm.

The program was as follows: Hungarian Polka (F. G. Rathbun) Loretta Varley, Miss Grant. Youthful Dreams (Max Franke) Letha Cox.

(a) Duet: (b) Johnny Jump-Up (Mathilde Bilbro) Charles Claggitt, Lloyd Claggitt. Myrtle Blossoms (Carlotta Bocca) Cherfulness (Rudolf Friml) Dorothy Godfrey. Charming Clarice (Joseph Elch) Lloyd Claggitt. Moorish Dance (Carl W. Kern), Violets Blue (Bert Anthony) Weldon Kirk.

Elfin Dance (Mathilde Bilbro) Dorothy McCracken, Miss Grant. The Swing Song (Herbert LaGrand) Charles Claggitt. The Hunter of Reigate (Carl W. Kern) Soldier-Boy (Woodward) Dorothy McCracken.

Waltz Duet (Thee, Presser) Frank Shafer, Miss Grant. Floating Pleasures (Natalie Loeb Evans) Vivian Etter. The Busy Bees; Sleep, Baby, Sleep (Hans Horthan) Brantson Miles, Miss Grant.

Humoristic Intermezzo (W. Alister) Gladys Dimegar, Miss Preston) Loretta Varley. The Dream of the Wanderer (B. Richards); Rabbling Brook (Carl W. Kern); Margaret Blumenburg.

The west side division of the Presbyterian church aid society will meet with Mrs. George J. Pearce, 267 North Winter street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Miss Lena Belle Tartar and Mrs. Alice Thompson, the latter an instructor in the grade school, were removing from the Y. W. C. A. yesterday to apartments in "The Alexandria."

Miss Margaret Goodin will return to the University of Oregon Tuesday, after passing the Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Goodin.

All the world loves a lover, and the more romantic the type the deeper the interest. A bandit, or outlaw is always good, but a "Gypsy Rover" is better still. Harold Socolofsky took the part of a gypsy rover in the musical comedy of that name, presented under the direction of Miss Lena Belle Tartar by the big school chorus in the school auditorium Friday night, which was witnessed by a crowd that filled every seat in the big hall.

The story is based around "Rob," the lawful heir to Sir Gilbert Howe's estates, but who, abducted during boyhood by "Meg," an old gypsy woman (Mabel Marcus) all he loses his rightful inheritance, and would have, had not his foster mother capitulated at the last moment, leaving the Gypsy Rover with a prospect of living happily ever after with Lady Constance. (Miss Lucyle Hunter) whom the Rover has won from Lord Craven, an English lord, capably impersonated by Delbert Moore.

Miss Hunter as Lady Constance displayed a good deal of histrionic ability, and sang in a fresh, young voice, clear and musical in the extreme. Miss Marcus was also an excellent leading performer, and a young singer with a voice of great charm. Ruth Tucker as "Zara," the belle of the gypsy camp, was pretty and clever enough for the belle of any place.

Others in the cast were Herbert Socolofsky, as "Martio," Meg's husband; Lawrence Maves, as "Sifno" Gypsy lad in love with Zara; William Wright, as "Sir George Marquandale," an English country squire; Miss Winifred Beers, as "Nina," second daughter of Sir George; Frank Alfred, as "Capt. Jerome," representing the army; Merwin Stolzeise, as "Sir Toby Lyon," a society butterfly.

Russell Emmett was a song publisher of London; Misses Helen Pollock, Zenda Busch and Rita Remington impersonated gypsy boys; Misses Loyal Gray, Gladys Burnside and Bertha Remington were gypsy girls; William Gosser was a Lackey.

A gypsy solo dance by Miss Betty Chance, and a fairy solo dance by Miss Carolyn East were gracefully done. Miss Louise Findley gave splendid support at the piano, and Miss Trista Wenger ably assisted the orchestra during the intermissions. The work of the large chorus was also good.

The costumes were colorful and accurate, the comedy refreshing, especially the impromptu incident when the drop curtain forgot its cue and fell with enthusiasm in the midst of the second act.

Miss Willa Miller, a student home from O. A. C. over the Easter vacation, was the inspiration for the dinner which Miss lured the table, around which covers were placed for Miss Miller, Miss Vera Wright, Miss Trista Wenger, Miss Alice Putnam and Miss Gertrude Tucker.

Miss Vera Wright, accompanied by her cousin Rev. W. Nesbitt Hyars, left for the latter's home in Portland Friday evening. Miss Wright went on to Eastern Oregon, where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Raymond Drake, at her ranch near Condon. Mr. Hyars was to visit at the home of his father, W. F. Hyars, recently elected mayor of Goldendale, Wash., and a former Salem resident.

A quiet wedding of yesterday afternoon was the theater party and banquet which Father J. L. Huck planned for the pleasure of the altar and choir boys of St. Joseph's church, in appreciation of their excellent work through the Easter services. The former, under the efficient direction of Sister Chlotilda are a revelation to all who have heard them, both for the excellence of their work in the Latin and English version. The ages range from seven to fourteen.

Following the party at the Oregon theater the 50 boys marched in a body to the K. of C. hall, where women of the church served the banquet. As they took their places at the long tables they sang "Jubilate Deo" and "Star Spangled Banner." A musical program was furnished during the serving, including the following numbers: "Simple Aveu," by F. Thome; first violin, Norma Maier, second violin, Mary Heenan and piano Mary Lebold; song, "To a Hilltop," by Gladys Dimegar; "Aida," Loretta Varley; violins and piano; "At Dawning," Gladys Dimegar; "Valse Venitienne," Leon Rinquet, violins and piano.

The following speeches were made: "To Rev. Father Buck," Hon. Frank Davey; toast to Father L. J. Derouin, by August Huckenstein, Sr.; toast to choir boys by Father Derouin; response of appreciation by Dennis Heenan who in terminating his speech, presented Father Derouin with a gift from the boys in commemoration of his anniversary ordination.

Rev. Father Buck made the final address, the boys singing "Holy God," as they arose from the table.

Decorations were most attractive, being developed in red, white and blue. Oregon grape and Scotch broom also embellished the room. Those assisting in serving were Miss Willa Huckenstein, Mrs. Frank Alley and Mrs. M. Shields, Mesdames Sulng and Lane presiding in the kitchen. Mrs. G. E. Schuneman headed the committee planning the details of the affair.

IMPENDING DISASTER. A pawnbroker's shop was on fire and the onlookers were much amused by the antics of an excited woman. Every few minutes she would urge the firemen to more strenuous efforts.

"What's the matter, missus?" shouted a bystander. "There ain't no one in there. What's all the fuss about?" "Fuss? There ain't no fuss at present," shouted the woman; "but there will be if they don't get the fire out soon. My old man's best Sunday suit is up that spout, and he doesn't know it!"
