Work on New Receiving Warehouse Done June 15

Work which has been in progress on the new receiving building of the Salem King's Products company for the past two weeks will be completed about June 15, according to Cuyler Van Patten, who drew the plans for the new structure. The building will be a one-story frame structure, 150 by 66 feet in size and will be an addition to the south end of the present building. It will be used as a preparatory building for handling the products brought to the factory. The railroad branch line will be extended to serve the new quarters as well as the present building.

Collins of Medford is Named on Tourist Bureau

George T. Collins, of Medford, has accepted appointment from Governor Olcott as a member of the tourist information bureau, created by the last legislature. Mr. Collins is manager of the Mason-Ehrman Wholesale Grocery company's plant at Medford. He is appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the fact that E. C. Simmons, of Eugene, one of the original appointees, found he was unable to accept the appointment. Mr. Simmons informed the governor that he could not attend any of the meetings owing to the pressure of business and felt it an injustice to the other commissioners to become a member under the circumstances.

MUSICAL ABILITY SHOWN BY ROTARIANS

not so dignified as the staid business and professional men might have desired, but it was noted that they entered into "Three Crowns" and "John Brown's Body," with considerable enthusiasm, adding a bit of original vocalism by way of injecting "pep" into the old songs. And then when they had finished the latter Mrs. Adams surprised them by performing a wedding march, and to prove it told the story of how the soldiers of Sherman marching through the streets of the south, were filled with curiosity to know the reason of colored girls walking sedately around the house whenever that certain song was played, and were told that those who did not perform this rite would not marry within that year, according to southern superstition. Interesting Stories Told. "Dixie," Mrs. Adams explained, was the outgrowth of a need for a new "walk-around," later known as the cake walk, then rattle and in the present time called "jazz."

From Civil war songs, through the stage of "popular" music down to the songs inspired by the World war, Mrs. Adams had an interesting story of the origin of each, with the Rotarians coming in strong on the choruses, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Adams, who, known to the world over for her beautiful sacred songs and special music, demonstrated that she could recognize and bring out musical beauty in a song of any description. Mrs. A. J. Rahn, who, as Mrs. Adams' hostess during her stay, was present and was called upon to sing "Nellie Gray" and "Silver Threads Among the Gold," with the men joining in the chorus. From that through a medley of hitting numbers Mrs. Adams carried the music to a swinging conclusion with the "Star Spangled Banner."

NEWS FROM RELIEF WORKERS RECEIVED

First Word Since Fall Brings Message of Safety From Armenia

In a telegram received last night by J. J. Handsaker, state director of the Near East and China famine relief, and transmitted to the Salem campaign workers by telephone from Portland is contained the first news received from the relief workers in Erivan, the Armenian capital, for several months. The telegram was from the New York headquarters where a cable had been received today from Mr. Jaquith, Near East relief director in the Constantinople headquarters. Ever since the Bolshevik army began its march through Armenia, news from the workers has rapidly become more scarce, with the capture of each town by the Bolsheviks. No news had been able to leak out about the workers in Erivan all winter and so it was not even known if they were alive or not.

According to the bit of news just received the Bolsheviks have not only recognized the relief workers in every town which they have captured but have promised them protection and assistance in carrying on their work. When all other white people, ambassadors, envoys and diplomats were forced to flee from the cities, the relief workers were allowed to remain under the protection of the invaders.

But, according to Mr. Jaquith's report, all of the supplies in Erivan had been exhausted and he had ordered all of the supplies in Constantinople, the headquarters for the entire area, rushed to the Armenian city. To replace these he has asked America for from 25,000 to 50,000 tons of supplies at once.

In response to a cablegram dispatched a short time ago, Mr. Handsaker last night received a cable from China asking for salmon and grain from the Pacific coast states. A large donation of salmon has been made from Astoria and now efforts will be made to secure donations of grain or grains at very low prices in carload or trainload lots, and they will be sent June 15.
