SALEM AS THE CRUDE DRUG CENTER OF THE COUNTRY

A good deal of water has run down the Willamette since the matter of the crude drug garden was broached by the Statesman a year ago.

For instance, there has come a boom in the mint industry, since it has been so well established that our district can raise the highest quality mint in the world; yielding the largest menthol content; producing the most pounds to the acre; refining the highest quality of peppermint oil known; selling at a high premium over any other.

These are certainly distinctive advantages that must cause the present activity in the industry to continue indefinitely. The Oregon Mint Growers Cooperative Association is now organized and active, and this association has in contemplation the putting up of a refinery, in order to better standardize the quality of the Oregon product.

And, by all means, Salem should have this refinery, and can get it with the right kind of interest and activity. That would fix Salem as the center of the coming great American mint industry.

So much for mint. In cascara sagrada, the "sacred bark" of the Spanish pioneers, Salem has long been the market center. This lead will be maintained if the owners of the cheap lands in the out of the way districts will plant the trees, which we must come to, and which is now being done in British Columbia.

And then there should be a crude drug garden on every one of our farms. Prof. A. Ziefle, dean of the School of Pharmacy of the Oregon Agricultural College, says this district can produce crude drugs at one-tenth the expense and twice the yield that they can be in Michigan and Minnesota. That is a broad and most encouraging statement. The great crude drug gardens of this country are in those states.

Prof. Ziefle has for several years recommended the establishment of a drug garden at the College, and this will no doubt be done, and by all means ought to be done, in order to show definitely to our farmers what a great resource they have; what new money crops they might raise, in furnishing the trade with its crude drugs.

We should, more and more, do the things and raise the things we can do and raise best; better than other countries or sections.

And crude drugs are undoubtedly in this class, and therefore too much cannot be said, nor too much done, towards pushing this coming great industry, with Salem its marketing and manufacturing and merchandising and shipping center.

BITS FOR BREAKFAST

Drug gardens are coming. They are coming in the Salem district, because we can excel in this field.

In the growing of mint especially we have the edge on the wide world.

Weather man has his nerve; again forecasting fair weather. It has a joyful sound.

The Poles are getting altogether too forward. They have the vaulting ambitions of a Pole vaulter. Even while the outside world is feeding her children to keep them from starving, they have designs of empire.

Mayor Halvorsen talked yesterday to his brother Rotarians about a commission form of government for Salem; or, more specifically, a corporation form of government. He made it very plain that a form of government like that which manages a great corporation, with president and board of directors, would give much greater efficiency and economy than the present way. While we have been doing very well as a municipality, this is no argument that we should not strive to do still better.

Don't get the idea that we are to have no Italian prunes the coming season. We always have a scare or two along about this time of the year—but we always harvest a crop of prunes, large or small in proportion to our acreage.

Why don't the allies appoint some real, up-to-date American profiteer to collect that indemnity from Germany?

OLCOTT ALLOWED TO USE MONEYS

Betterment Fund May Be Applied to Flax Payroll, Says Opinion

After maintenance of convicts and a reasonable support of their dependents taken care of, it is legal for the state to use money from the state prison betterment fund to apply to the payroll of the flax industry at the penitentiary, according to an opinion of Attorney General Van Winkle, in reply to an inquiry by Governor Olcott.

The attorney general holds that this is proper under chapter 275, laws of 1921, and under statutes enacted at previous sessions. The act of 1921 reads: "The governor of the state is hereby authorized and empowered to make such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary providing for the disposition of moneys earned by any convict or convicts employed in any industry at the Oregon state penitentiary; provided, however, that such moneys shall be applied first toward the cost of maintenance of such convict or convicts; second, toward the reasonable support of any dependent or dependents of said convict or convicts who may in the opinion of the warden of the penitentiary or the governor be entitled to such support. In the event any surplus remains from the sale of the product of the labor of such convict or convicts after the expense of his maintenance and the reasonable support of his dependent or dependents is provided for, such surplus shall become a part of the betterment fund of said penitentiary."

Professor and Mrs. T. S. Roberts opened their home Tuesday evening to the members of the Salem branch of the Oregon Music Teachers' association. Liliars were used about the room and a bowl of pansies centered the table. The business meeting was followed by a social hour and the serving of a light luncheon.

Tentative plans were discussed for a series of organ recitals to be given next year on the first Sunday in every month beginning with November. At the close of the meeting the organization adjourned until September.

Those present were: Miss Lena Belle Tartar, Mrs. Molly Styles, Miss Allie Chandler, Bertha Junk Darcy, Mrs. Walter Denton, Miss Laura Grant, Miss Beatrice Shelton, Mrs. Everett Anderson, Miss Elizabeth Levy, and Professor and Mrs. Roberts.

Choosing as his subject "The Literary Value of the Diary of Margot Asquith," Colonel E. Hofer addressed the members of the writers section of the Salem Arts League at the meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Perry Reigleman on Mill street. Extracts from the first volume of the diary were read, followed by comments on the style and historical value of the work. Short stories by Mrs. P. S. Barton and Mrs. R. Monroe Gilbert, poems by Mrs. J. C. Nelson and Gertrude Robison Ross, and an essay by Mrs. W. F. Fargo were contributed to the evening program. Light refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Those present were Colonel Hofer, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clifford, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Barton, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. R. Monroe Gilbert, Mrs. Byron F. Brunk, Miss Carol S. Dibble, Mrs. J. C. Nelson, Mrs. F. D. Eason, Mrs. W. F. Fargo, Mrs. E. C. Richards, Mrs. Elmer L. Ross, Dean Frances E. Richards, Miss Renska Swart and Perry Reigleman.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks, the place to be announced later.

Colonel and Mrs. E. Hofer are entertaining at their house guest for several days, Mrs. Harold Wheatley of Meeker, Colo. Mrs. Wheatley came up for the Cherril dance at the armory Tuesday evening. She is the daughter of Mrs. H. L. Ganoe, of Portland.

The Mothers club of the Highland school will meet this afternoon at 3:30 in the school for their regular business meeting. Plans will be formulated for an entertainment some time during May, and a show program will be presented. A good attendance is expected.

The Parents Auxiliary of Kenton troop 5, Boy Scouts at a meeting held Friday evening, April 29th adopted draft resolutions and by-laws subject to amendments at meeting to be called for May 20 at the Leslie church parlors.

A large attendance is expected on that date to complete the organization which was formed on April 8 last.

Drugless Healer Ruling Made by Attorney General

R. C. McDaniel, member of the state board of medical examining, has asked Attorney General Van Winkle whether a person is guilty of malpractice or of practicing without a license who holds himself out to be a drugless healer and treats patients by massage or by manual treatment but does not give drugs. The attorney general holds that this practice is not a violation of the applying statute.

W. C. T. U. FOR NURSE

A delegation composed of Mrs. E. S. Oliver of Salem, Mrs. Ora Markham of Woodburn, will attend the hearing on the question of a county health nurse tonight in support of the nurse, representing the W. C. T. U. county organization. The women were appointed at a meeting at Turner earlier in the week.

BRONCHIAL TROUBLE CAUSED ANXIETY

No medicine has a better reputation than Foley's Honey and Tar for quickly relieving coughs, colds and croup. It loosens the phlegm and mucus, clears the passages, eases hoarseness, stops tickling throat. John G. Hecking, 129 Burgess Place, Passaic, N. J., writes: "I was suffering from an acute case of bronchial trouble which gave me considerable anxiety. Foley's Honey and Tar deserves all the credit for my being well now."—Sold everywhere. Adv.

The final meeting of the year of the North Salem Women's club was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Roy Shields. Bronze and yellow tulips from the Franklin and Dibble tulip farm were used in decorating, being exceptionally pretty against the brown-tone wood work of the room.

A talk by Mrs. William Kirk in which she presented the measures to be voted upon in June, and an address on the Near East relief by Mrs. Pearl Hutchison constituted the program. The club agreed to adopt an orphan and funds are now being raised for that purpose. Mrs. Mason Bishop reported the recent county federation meeting at Jefferson.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Ada B. Milliken, of The Dalles, the noted student of Indian life, the club changed its name adopting "Eloka," a word of Indian origin signifying "one of the best." The old name was considered inappropriate as numerous members do not reside in North Salem.

Election of officers for the coming year was held with the following results: president, Mrs. Mason Bishop; vice president, Mrs. Ella Toothacre; secretary, Mrs. W. F. Fargo; treasurer, Mrs. Guy Smith; press correspondent, Mrs. B. F. Brunk.

Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon after which the club adjourned until the second Tuesday in September when it will meet with Mrs. Toothacre.

April Tests Bring Good Showing from Schools

Returns from the April tests sent out from the office of the county superintendent of schools to the elementary grades throughout the county show a satisfactory progress in a majority of the schools.

Out of a total of 800 credits, the highest standing was made by school district No. 2, Arbor Grove, which recorded 780 credits. Other schools making a good showing were Noble, 775; Rock Point, 763; Donald, 761; Hazel Green, and Raybell, 755; Pratum, 752 credits.

TWO METHODISTS WILL SPEAK HERE

Bishop Luther B. Wilson, New York, Secured for Evening Service

Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York will be the speaker at the evening service of the First Methodist church Sunday. Bishop Wilson is a man of outstanding ability who has rendered distinguished service to the church and nation, and it will be a special privilege to have him speak in the community.

At the morning service, Dr. Bert E. Smith of Chicago will speak. Dr. Smith is at present the Superintendent of the Board of Sunday Schools of the Methodist Church, and is a man of unusual ability. Before taking up his present duties, he was the successful pastor of a large city church, the Joyce Memorial M. E. Church of Minneapolis, Minn. He has been a favorite in the work of the Epworth League institutes, and will have a message well worth hearing.

The public of Salem is invited to share in the special opportunities afforded by the presence of these two distinguished men.

It has been figured out that a farmer's wife earns $4000 a year. Wonder if that includes the "egg money?"

In addition to a High Class Bill at The OREGON Sunday, there will be two Wur-litzer Concerts

One at 2:45 p. m. Another 7:30 p. m.

BALD HEADS NOW PREFER CIRCUS

Queens of Beauty Mount Dancing White Horses And Sing Grand Opera

In days of yore, the "tired business man" was prone to occupy a seat in the front row at the cheapest and most daring comedy in town, but now he has transferred his attention and avoirdupois to the "bald headed row" at the Al G. Barnes circus, for he it known the former singing and dancing queens have mounted horses and invaded the white tops.

This new departure is said to have been started by the Barnes big four-rod wild animal circus which comes to Salem May 7.

As described by a Barnes representative, it is an operatic chorus of 40 girls of noticeable pulchritude, 16 of them beauties and the other 24 not at all hard on the eyes; clad in costumes that cost Barnes many dollars, but containing about as much filmy material as one-piece bathing suits. They are mounted on 40 horses that dance while the girls sing grand opera, led by Miss Bernice Harvey, the original prima donna of the circus. This operatic equestrienne extravaganza occupies a front line of 440 feet, and during its rendition, thousands of love birds descend on the fair choristers.

And then, for varieties sake, sea-lions play ball while a chimpanzee umpires the game, camels juggle wolves from their humps, while girls wrestle tigers and men fight grizzly bears.

In the Barnes performances, Classy New Things for Milady's Wardrobe are beginning to come in. Every express brings us new Wearing Apparel from New York's best fashion houses. Our buyer is still in New York and we are sparing no expense to make this the nicest exclusive Ladies' Apparel Shop in Salem.
