VETERANS OF WARS FAVORED

Assessor Says Few Taking Advantage of Law Allowing Exemption

TIME EXTENSION MADE

Beneficiaries Given Until June 1 to Fill Out Blanks Provided

Few union soldiers and sailors of the Mexican war, the War of the Rebellion or of the Indian wars, living in Marion county, have availed themselves of their privileges under the act passed at the last legislature to exempt from taxation property to the valuation of $1000.

According to Oscar Steelhammer, county assessor, there may be many who would be glad to take the soldier's exemption oath were the opportunity called to their attention. He further stated that an extension of time to June 1 will be granted that every one entitled to such exemption may have ample time to fill out the exemption blank provided by the assessor.

Law Is Quoted
In order that there may be no misunderstanding as to the meaning of the law, excerpts are given below:

"There shall be exempt from taxation property, not to exceed in taxable value $1000, of any honorably discharged union soldier or sailor of the Mexican war, the war of the rebellion or the Indian wars, or of the widow remaining unmarried of such soldier or sailor. It shall be the duty of every assessor annually to make a list of such soldiers, sailors or widows and return such list to the county court upon forms to be furnished by such court for that purpose, but failure on the part of any assessor so to do shall not affect the validity of any exemption. All soldiers, sailors or widows thereof herein referred to shall receive a reduction equal to their amount of exemption, the same to be made from the homestead of such sailor, soldier or widow, if he or she shall own a homestead, otherwise out of such property as shall be designated and owned by the soldier, sailor or widow; such designation to be made either to the assessor or by writing filed with the county courts.

Wives Also Benefit
The exemption herein provided shall also extend to the property of the wife of any such soldier or sailor where they are living together and occupying the same as their homestead and he has not otherwise received the benefit of this act; provided, that such exemption shall only extend to a period during which such soldier or sailor remains the owner of such property, and upon the sale thereof to any person other than those of the class included in this act, such exemption shall cease and the property shall be subject to taxation as other property.

Section 2. The beneficiary of the exemption allowed by section 1 of this act shall file with the assessor a statement under oath that he is the owner of the real property on which such exemption is claimed. Such statement shall be returned by the assessor to the county court, and if no such statement be so filed, no exemption shall be allowed by the assessor."

Field Deputies to Finish
The writing of the 1921 tax rolls is under way in the office of the county assessor and it is expected that they will be completed about the middle of July. This is about six weeks earlier than usual, the work being hastened that more time may be given to the making of corrections. About nine field deputy assessors have completed their work of assessing and have made their returns.

May 14 Tag Day For Albertina Kerr Kome
Saturday May 14 has been designated as Tag Day for the homeless and nameless babies of Oregon by the board of directors of the Albertina Kerr Nursery home where these babies are cared for. Although the nursery is located in Portland but one third of the two infants care for in the home are from Multnomah county. The other two thirds come from the various parts of the state and consequently there is no part of the state that can ignore the appeal for aid from the home.

Endorsement of the nursery and the tag day movement has been given by Governor Ben W. Glott and Mayor George E. Hallock, who have offered to be of any service in which they are needed. Mrs. Ben W. Olcott, who is president of the board of directors, and many other prominent Salem men and women will take part in the committee work and soliciting.

Prizes to the persons selling the most tags, it is hoped, will stimulate the sale of tags. For first prize a silk umbrella has been offered and for second prize a five pound box of candy. The third prize is a two and a half pound box of candy.

Miss Harriet Lien has been named chairman of the high school girls, who will take an active part in the sale of the tags.

Why doesn't King George hand over the island to David Lloyd George? He seems to be the whole

CAN YOU WRITE A GOOD AD?

If you think you know how to write a good classified advertisement, here's your chance to win one of the three cash awards the Statesman will give each week for the best story entitled "How to Write a Classified Ad."

The first awards will be announced in Tuesday's issue of each week, the first announcement, Tuesday, April 26. Contestants must see that their "stories" reach the Statesman office before Monday morning of each week in order to be considered.

The awards will be as follows: First award, $2.50; second award, $1.50; third award $1.00.

The Statesman wants your ideas as to how these ads should be written to get the best results. Tell us what you would say in your ad and why you would say it. Don't forget the why. For example, do you think it should contain price of the article offered for sale, or the price you are willing to pay for an article you want to buy? If you think the ad should contain the price, tell us why. If you think it better to leave the price out of the ad, tell us why.

Should it contain descriptions? Why?

Should it contain location? Why?

Should it describe quality? Why?

Tell us about ads for "help wanted," etc. Also about any and all other kinds of classified ads.

Write your stories plainly on one side of paper only and mail to Classified Ad Manager, Oregon Statesman, Salem, Oregon.

This Week's Award.
A number of very interesting "stories" about how to write a classified ad, were received last week; the judges have decided upon the following as winners:

First award, $2.50, Mrs. Nettie Graham, Gen. Del., Salem.

Second award, F. M. Millie, 517 N. Capitol st., Salem.

Third award, Mrs. F. W. Allen, 625 N. Winter st., Salem, Ore.

The story winning the 3rd award is published in full below; the others will be published in future issues of The Statesman. Watch for them.

In writing ads to get the best results I have often thought I would like to tell The Statesman that to my positive knowledge many would get better results if they gave their address as well as phone number. Why?

Because many who would buy advertised bargains to offer, advertiser is called up, central says, "no answer," and by this time the would-be buyer has purchased some place else or changed his mind.

Then again, the price should be stated; many times those who advertise have bargains to offer, but unless they give prices one is apt to think the price being omitted, the article is high; many a would-be buyer scans the advertisements for bargains.

Then again, the ad should not be too sparing of description, as cutting an ad too short to save on the price hampers its working power as a classified ad. The articles should be as described, both for individual things listed, and those advertised by the stores.

Asked this morning my husband asked for the morning Statesman I want to look over those bargains offered, and he mentioned a well known firm who advertises in your paper.
