Literary Approval Given To "Old Swimm'n' Ole"

Motion pictures as literature! Who'd believe it only a few years ago when the movies were dubbed the "jumping pictures" and yet a dignified board of education of one of the largest American cities has put the literary stamp on one of the current film productions. It is almost an anomaly at a time when the movies in general are under fire as improper for young minds and in need of censorship.

The curriculum committee of the Visual Instruction association of New York city, following a view of "The Old Swimm'n' Hole," voted to recommend its use in American and English literature classes in the public schools. The recommendation is tantamount to adoption by the city's department of education, as the association is composed chiefly of school principals and teachers and the committee is vested with authority to make selections.

Placer County Applauds Action of Mr. Olcott Governor Olcott is in receipt of a communication from the Placer County Chamber of Commerce of California assuring him of the chamber's unqualified backing in the stand the Oregon governor has taken for Japanese exclusion. The California organization has a plan whereby it hopes to relieve Placer county of Japanese by supplanting Japanese laborers and land holders with white men or women. An outline of the plan is enclosed in the letter to Governor Olcott.

AUTO OCCUPANTS STILL MYSTERY

No Information on Theft of Damaged Car Has Been Revealed Yet

Just what became of the person or persons riding in the automobile which was completely demolished by the south bound freight about 2 o'clock Thursday morning is a question which is yet a mystery to the police department. Had the occupants of the automobile remained in the vehicle when it was struck by the train, it is not thought that the matter of locating them would have been at all difficult, although the question of identification would apparently have had consideration.

According to information furnished by the police, the automobile belonged to David Mohr and was reported stolen about 3 o'clock Wednesday night. It is thought to have been taken by "joy riders" who at the time of the accident were returning to their traveling east on Chemeketa street and turning north on Twelfth street when the car was struck by the freight. Evidence points to the corner of the intersection at the intersection. It is here that the occupant appeared to have parted company with the car, for it was caught by the freight dragged across the 80-foot street and piled up on the right hand corner of the intersection. No blood stains or other signs of injury were found upon the pavement or in the car. Hospitals of the city have rendered no assistance to anyone injured and this adds to the belief that the occupants escaped without serious injury.

Lauterman-McAllister Case is Before Court

The case of J. H. Lauterman vs. J. L. McAllister was held before G. E. Unruh in the justice court yesterday. This was an action brought by Mr. Lauterman to collect $15.34 from Mr. McAllister which he claimed was a balance due on a carload of mill wood alleged to have contained 14 cords, which was sold to Mr. McAllister last August.

The plaintiff's claim was based on the measurements of the car made by the railroad company for the purpose of fixing the freight charge, while the defense hinged largely upon the testimony of James Kappahn of the Oregon Taxi and Transfer company and three of his employes who unloaded the car, all stating that after delivering the wood, it measured only 11 cords. Deputy State Sealer of Weights and Measures J. F. Jones, who also measured the wood in company with other witnesses also stated that the wood measured 11 cords. Four other witnesses were presented by the defense to show that all of the wood on the car had been measured.

Many Tourists Take Advantage of Camp

More than 40 persons spent last night at the Salem free auto strip grounds, 15 cars carrying more than 30 people making camp there yesterday to remain over night. Several remained over from the day before. Those registering were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sinclair and family, Salem, on their way to Hood River; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hublock, Seattle, on way to Southern California; Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Ross, Portland, on way to California; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Myers and Mrs. J. K. Moore, Portland, on way to California.

Salem High Girl Enters Declamatory Contest

A new feature of inter-scholastic activity will be opened when Salem high sends Julia Gromoff to Silverton Friday night to represent Salem in the county declamatory contest. It is expected that several of the local people will attend the meet. Practically all schools of Marion county will send representatives to the meet in Silverton. Each school is entitled to send one representative. The winners from the county contests will go to Eugene on May 31 to take part in the first state declamatory meet to be staged by the University of Oregon.

RELIEF FUND IS NEAR $6,000 MARK

Reports on Subscriptions From County Districts Not Made By Chairman

An estimate of $6000 cash and pledges from Salem alone was made yesterday by W. P. Walter, executive secretary of the Near East and China Famine Relief. This report does not include any money from the various county districts, according to Mr. Walter. Two thousand five hundred of this amount is now in a Salem bank. $1000 is in sight in the shape of pledges. $1500 has been sent in to headquarters from various sources since last November and other subscriptions from various sources bring the total to about $6000.

The high schools of the city have as yet reported no action on subscriptions. B. F. Irvine, editor of the Oregon Journal, who was to have spoken at the senior high school this week, will be here next week to speak to the students and until that time action at the senior high school is deferred.
