Settlers of the Central Oregon irrigation project, individual water users and the Deschutes river federal board, who have protested against the proposal of the Central Oregon Irrigation company to sell its interests in the project to the Title & Trust company of Portland, will be given a hearing by the state desert land board in Salem today, beginning at 2 o'clock p. m. Representatives of the Central Oregon Irrigation company and of the Title & Trust company appeared before the board several uass ago with a proposal that the transfer be made, the company a recing to retain sufficient wat er rights to handle contracts that had been entered into with the settlers of the Pilot Butte unit. Only unsold lands were proposed to be embraced in the transfer, Percy A. Cupper, state enginear, refused to approve the proposal without investigation and an opportunity to hear from all persons interested. He has not pressed his personal opinion of the proposal, and whether or not the board approves it doubtless will depend on the conference here today.
