G. W. WINELAND PASSES BEYOND

Grand Army Veteran Dies Suddenly at Home of Daughter Here

George W. Wineland, a Grand Army veteran of the Civil war, died suddenly Wednesday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles J. Lisle, at 1041 South Thirteenth street. He had been in poor health for some weeks past, though no immediate danger was anticipated. The heart that had beat so bravely for 70 years finally gave up the struggle, and he died almost without warning, after having spent the morning playing with a number of neighborhood children out in the yard.

Mr. Wineland was born in Ohio, but moved as a boy to Michigan. From there he enlisted in the Union army, a slender stripling of a school boy. Coming back from the war, he attended college at Adrian, Mich., where he met the young woman whom he soon married, Miss Lulla Lowe. They removed to Nebraska in 1878, where they remained for 30 years; later locating in western Nebraska, and finally at Blue Springs, Neb. They came to Salem a little more than three years ago to make their home with their daughter, Mrs. Wineland died two years ago next week. They leave five children; one son at Lincoln, Neb., another son at Belleville, Kas., a daughter at Blue Springs, Neb., another daughter at Westaustralia, Alberta, and the daughter in Salem, Mrs. Lisle.

Mr. Wineland was a Mason and a member of the G. A. R., and also a life-long member of the Methodist church.

No time has as yet been set for the funeral services.

Would-Be Swimmers Show Real Progress

The third day of the community swimming campaign was the biggest to date. Over 150 women and girls went to the instructions. There were the regular swimming class from the Y.W.C.A., a group of business girls, university girls, teachers from the public schools, lady employees from the state house, the regular swimming class of little girls and other groups arranged by the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. James Elvin, Mrs. Marcus Miss Eva Scott, Mrs. David Wright and Mrs. R. E. Pomeroy were the leaders. There were five ladies that learned to swim, Mrs. H. E. Smart, Mrs. J. E. Scott, Misses Carol Cheney, H. Willett, Edna Heiser. Many others made real progress.

Among those who helped Mr. Gawley to teach in the water were Mrs. Roy Burton, Mrs. A. F. Marcus, Mrs. Harry Ralph, Mrs. Eugene Eckert, Mrs. B. L. Beal, Mrs. G. C. Bellinger, Miss Eva

Scott, O. J. Hull and Julian Barrough.

Today the boys of the grade schools and the junior high schools who cannot swim will have an opportunity to go for instruction.

popular will regarding a celebration. It was stipulated that they should be active young men with the implication that they might be physically capable of an argument by force if necessary.

The names have not yet been announced.

Judge D'Arcy was called upon to tell something about Champagne, following the annual Champagne meeting last week of the Oregon pioneers. He gave a brief history of his unflagging efforts for 15 years to secure state aid in erecting a memorial building on the site of the old territorial convention that held Oregon for the United States.

Governor Chamberlain's scalp was deftly removed for his veto of the first legislative appropriation of $2500 for a memorial building. Later, said the judge, the legislature paid out $10,000 on a rising scale of prices to build a suitable building, which was recently completed and dedicated.

The state board of control turned the structure over to George H. Himes, state historian, and Mr. D'Arcy as trustees, and ordered their pictures to be adored in the building in honor of their efforts. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the pioneer women who helped make Oregon a fit place to live in, for which tribute he was roundly cheered.

Labor Situation Told
Judge Race spoke briefly on the labor situation in Salem, saying that there are many more workers than jobs at the present time, and urging that every merchant and citizen make it a personal matter to keep all the men possible at work by reporting jobs and finding employment for all who want work.

J. W. Maruny was called upon by the chairman to tell something of the gentle art of making two ripe tomatoes grow where one green one has heretofore been eaten by the neighbor's hens. Mr. Maruny brought a number of tomato plants, with which he illustrated the best practice of planting and pruning the tomato. The speaker showed that throw out roots all along the stalk, however deep it is planted. Most of the plants as they come from the greenhouse should be planted two-thirds of their depth, he said, giving a strong supporting root system and cutting tops down to the minimum.

By pruning off the superfluous growth above ground—all the suckers and barren stalks—and by setting the plants so deep that they will develop a strong root system, the speaker showed that there will be strength to ripen and develop big crops of luscious fruit.

The production of such food supply was held by the chairman to be a duty and a privilege for Commercial clubs.

Some delightful musical and literary numbers were presented: A solo, Cadman's "Pale Moon," an Indian song, by Mrs. John J. Roberts; accompanied by Mrs. Lillian Hartson; "The Armourer's Song," from "Robin Hood" by Albert Gilie, accompanied by Mrs. Hartson; a duet, "O, That We Two Were Maying," by Mrs. Roberts and Mr. Gilie; and "The Lily," a dramatic race track story reading by Mrs. Ronald C. Glover. Mrs. Roberts is a prime favorite of the club, she having appeared at one or two earlier programs in wonderfully effective numbers. The faultless ease with which her voice slips from one register to the other, smooth as silk and without a change of quality, is a delight and an inspiration.

Mr. Gilie's rendition of the wonderful baritone-bass song from "Robin Hood" was a musical treat, and the ensemble singing for the two voices was full of charm. Mrs. Glover's reading, followed by a "Pickaninny Song" from the cabins of the Southland, brought deserved applause.

The faultless accompaniment of Mrs. Hartson was one of the treats of the evening.

Luncheon Served
A table lunch was served, and while the members didn't eat it all, they enjoyed it as if there hadn't been half enough. When manager McCroskey and the steward fail to get up something worth hearing and tasting, ice cream, watermelons and possum will have lost their charm to the dark and too heavy to carry and there isn't anything worth while.

The meeting next Wednesday night will be for all the members, their wives and sweethearts, and all strangers, their wives and sweethearts likewise. As there should be approximately 2000 of all the classifications, it promises to be a wild night. Judge D'Arcy said last night that he was preparing to sing "Dixie" and a few of those old operatic favorites, and to dance "Home Sweet Home" and the Virginia Reel of that occasion. The club seemed to be divided as to whether this was a warning or an attraction, but it is offered as one of the varieties.

Vick Brothers Spur Nearing Completion
It isn't a very long railroad, but it is as real as any road that ever carried steel and had the ties conveniently spaced for foot walking. It is one block long, and it connects the Vick Brothers warehouse with the Mercantile world. The track is being laid this week and will be ready for use within the next few days.

SENATORS WIN FROM LOGGERS

Game is Practically Errorless And Craig Allows Only One Hit

FIREWORKS IN THIRD

American Legion and Bankers Stage Next Battle Friday Afternoon

In a practically errorless game the Spaulding loggers went down to defeat at the hands of the Senators to the tune of 4 to 0 yesterday.

The fireworks began when Knickerbocker came up in the third with two down and drove a hot one into left field for a three bagger, coming home on a passed ball for the first tally. "Teako" followed with a single, stealing second and coming home on Gable's error. Here the Loggers took a hand, and stopped the stampede when they caught "Gabe" on an attempt to steal third. They annexed two more in the next frame when Page duplicated "Knicker" drive to left for another three bagger, scoring on Snyder's single, who in turn came across for the fourth when McKinney dropped one into right field for an attempted home run.

Although the Loggers had to be content with one hit in the shape of Deering's single and one man on second, they put up a game fight, their defense being broken by the hard hitting of the Senators.

Neither pitcher issued a free pass to first, and Craig of the Senators allowed but one hit. "Teako" electrified the stands when he raced back in the third inning to pick a high foul off the wire netting.

The next game will be on Friday evening between the American Legion and the Bankers, and will be played at 6 o'clock at Williamette field.

POT OF GOLD IS NEWS TO O'HARE

Sergeant Says He Did Not Hear of it Until Prisoner Had Fled

WASHINGTON, May 11.—In giving an account of the escape of Grover Berdell, Sergeant John O'Hare, in command of the escort which started out with Berdell for the mountains of Maryland, told the house investigating committee today that he had never heard a word about the buried pot of gold until long after the prisoner had fled.

O'Hare was positive that when he started out for the mountains the only instructions he received from Colonel John E. Hunt, his superior, was to proceed with the prisoner to Hagerstown, get some money from a bank, take it to another bank at Philadelphia, and return to the barracks.

There were no written orders except to stop at North Philadelphia, meet the late Dr. Clarence Gibboney, Berdell's lawyer, and

Can You Pick Out a Good Ad?
If you think you know a good classified ad, here's your chance to win one of the three cash awards the Statesman will give each week for the one who picks out the five "best" written ads" on the Statesman classified page, May 12, 13 and 14.

The best selection, 1st award $2.50.
The second best selection, 2nd award $1.50.
The third best selection, 3rd award $1.00.

The first awards will be announced in Tuesday's issue of each week, the first announcement Tuesday May 17th. Contestants must see that their selections reach the Statesman office before Monday morning of each week in order to be considered.

The Statesman wants your selections of the best classified ads. Please clip the five ads that you consider are the best on the above dates and mail to the Classified Ad Manager, Oregon Statesman, Salem, Ore.

thereafter be guided by what Gibboney said, the witness declared with some emphasis. O'Hare declared he wanted to handcuff his prisoner, but that Hunt refused. It was by Gibboney's order, he said, that the party halted at Philadelphia, went for a long automobile ride with Berdell driving, visited a burlesque show, and stopped at the Berdell home, from which the prisoner escaped.

It is remarkable how things grow little by little. Each thing we do has its effect on the things that follow. A small, unimportant delay may lead to the habit of "putting things off," a prompt act may lead to habits of efficiency and determination.

A business training is one of the most valuable investments a young person can make. Do not put this matter off, but decide now to make such an investment, and then let us tell you how we can help you. Write or call for information.
