

JEFFERSON, SILVERTON TAKE HIGH HONORS IN TRACK MEET

Jefferson, with a total of 54 points, won high honors in the annual Marion county high school track meet held on Willamette field yesterday. Woodburn finished second with 36 points; Silvertown third, with 10 points and Mill City fourth with 8 points.

The pole vault by Mason of Jefferson was the feature of the high school competition. This stalwart Jeffersonian cleared the deck by an even 10 feet, and was said to have smashed the unofficial county meet record. Straff finished second in this event, with Otjen third.

In the shot-put competition Berthelson won, with a credit of 35 feet, 1 inch, with Bogard second, with 34 feet, 1 1/2 inches. Olin was third in this event with 32 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

Probably second in interest to the pole vaulting was the baseball game between the Statown and Woodburn high schools. Statown won by a score of 6 to 5. The game went 10 innings, the score standing 5 to 5 at the end of the ninth.

COUNTY JUDGE FLAYS EDITOR AND OFFICERS

me he look like one, and he smell like one to everybody. And I honestly believe he's the most degraded specimen of the lot.

School Boys Get Liquor.
"Now what about these impudent peace officers? They have surely pleased Putnam, the bootleggers and their customers exceedingly well."

"The state agents found stills, booze and drunk-crazed men galore. These officers must have known that moonshine was made here in large quantities, and sold here on the streets, alleys and in some instances to the larger boys on and near the school grounds. You told the people last fall that you would be good boys; that you would enforce their interests generally. So far you have done nothing. The Evening Sewer claims that you were not consulted about this raid. You knew of it, but you failed to take hold and help. You have found nothing since the raid. Would you have the citizens believe that this demoralizing business has stopped, or are you still marking time?"

Bootleggers T'pped.
"You act to me like you are thoroughly 'Putnamized' inside and out. Some of you men have out advance information to some of these criminals and the county lost the fines. This act of perfidy caused Putnam to rejoice greatly. The people of this county have resolved to stop this business. The moonshiners are operating in defiance of law. It is demoralizing in every way. These criminals are exacting enormous toll from their victims and the public generally."

People Expect Protection.
"The people are looking to you to control this business. You were elected for that purpose. You promised to do it and you are collecting your salaries for this purpose. The people are now demanding that you show what you are by your works. Come out of your holes and act like men. If you had performed your duty the county court would not have been called upon and the public would have been spared this expense."

NOW TOO LATE TO RECALL VOTE

ers of Levy and Buehler had been in office less than six months since their elections to office, they could not under the law, be recalled by the recall committee in this year. This did not apply to Williams' case and for this reason the recall for the present was aimed at him.

Information reaching Salem is to the effect that the demand for the recall is dying down.

PROF. HORNER LAUDS MARKHAM

Oregon Historian Says Bard Reminds One of Henry W. Longfellow

"The recognition given to Edwin Markham by the citizens of Oregon upon his home coming after an absence of more than 60 years is timely," said Prof. J. H. Horner of O. A. C., who was here yesterday and who attended the reception to Mr. Markham in Portland. At the age of 5 years he left Oregon City. He was soon in touch with nature, and soon he became a master in the use of words.

"Nearly a quarter of a century ago he wrote the poem, 'The Man With the Hoe,' which was a stronger picture in words than the celebrated Millet had made in colors. So in writing this brief of Talmud concerning the laborer which will be read more than a thousand years, he did much to immortalize Millet and the celebrated painting entitled, 'The Man With the Hoe.' But he did more, he exalted honorable labor as no other writer had done. Later he wrote several volumes I listed as classics.

"At the summit of his effort he returned home for a brief respite—the uncrowned poet laureate of America. Last Friday the authors of Oregon christened the Oregon rose in his honor, and they unanimously named him the Oregon poet laureate; and thereby Oregon became the first among the states to recognize this distinguished American.

"Upon meeting Mr. Markham one fancies that there is a slight resemblance in the personality of Mr. Markham and that of edmund W. Longfellow; and upon hearing him speak the hearer is impressed with the belief that Mr. Markham is a great poet who lives what he writes. The warm reception given to this eminent son of Oregon is, therefore, fitting, and it will contribute greatly to the encouragement of writers in this fairland.

Rosten company, railroad contractor, who was charged with embezzling $19,000 of the company's funds, changed his plea of not guilty to one of guilty today and Presiding Circuit Judge Kavanaugh set next Thursday for fixing sentence.

Johnson made a confession after his arrest in which he stated that he gave all the money to a woman barber who had been kind to him when he was lonely.

"When she had obtained his money, he claimed, she left Oregon. She refused to return any of the money or help him in any way after his arrest, he said.

BENTON FAVORS COUNTY LIBRARY

Thousands Sign Petitions at Book Fair in Corvallis

A rather unusual exhibit called a book fair was held this week at Corvallis during which 6,800 visitors viewed the fine collection of 190 books on every conceivable subject. Books from various libraries were loaned for the occasion, including some from the state library, the state university, college library and from the Portland library.

The prime object of the exhibit was to promote interest in the efforts that are being put forth toward securing a county library for Benton county. The success of the fair was marked and thousands signed the petitions which were presented, endorsing the work of the county libraries and advocating one for that county; the exhibit was held in the Congregational church.

Counties in the state which maintain county libraries include Hood River, Jackson, Polk, Umatilla, Multnomah and Union.
