

SALEM EVENS UP IN CONTEST WITH EUGENE AND CORVALLIS

Salem, Eugene and Corvallis stand even in the series of golf new running on the links of the three towns.

Salem lost by a painful score at Corvallis a week ago, but Sunday came through with a brilliant victory, so that the three teams stand exactly even with no odds on any one as the best bet for the winners. The third day's play, next Sunday at Eugene, will settle the valley championship.

On Sunday, May 23, will begin the local series for the president's trophy with the massive silver cup, offered by the Roadside John Farrar, as a prize for the winner.

The qualifying round will be played on this, the first day of the series. There are a number of mantels and dens that are being cleared to make a place for this fine token of golfing excellence, and nothing but teams or triplets or a whole brood of pups will satisfy the ambitions of all who have hopes in that direction.

The score for Sunday is here given:

CARPENTIER ARRIVES; LUNCH WITH RICKARD

He has been training throughout the winter. For the first week at Manhasset the work will be comparatively light. After that a more rigorous program will be adopted, with Joe Jeannette, negro heavyweight, directing the sparring partners.

Carpentier was greeted enthusiastically wherever he went. Several thousand persons waited for hours near the entrance of the pier to greet him. Carpentier, smiling, had difficulty making his way to the waiting automobile. Through it all he retained a grip on the leash which held in check the big black Belgian police dog, his constant companion. Included in the crowd were many fellow countrymen, who shouted encouragement in their native tongue.

Reporters Accommodated. Although the public will not be permitted to witness Carpentier in training, the work will not be secret. Manager Descamps announced that newspaper men would be admitted.

The training quarters, located in one of America's most exclusive summer colonies, will be surrounded by a barbed wire fence. A 48-acre estate has been leased. It includes a farmhouse and a barn, which is being remodeled into a gymnasium.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 16.—Arrangements have been completed for Jack Dempsey to start active training here within a few days. The Airport will be thrown open to the public Saturday when he will give his first public exhibition. Leo Houck, a Lancaster, Pa., middleweight, arrived today, the first of Dempsey's sparring partners to come.

Dempsey was in his gymnasium this afternoon and jumped rope for a short while. He says he is feeling fine.

Many hundred visitors are turned away from the camp daily as Dempsey up to this time has done all his work behind closed gates.

Who is Swift & Company?

Swift & Company is not a one man or one family affair. It is a company owned by more than 40,000 people scattered over the face of the globe—forty thousand shareholders with voting powers and a share in the risks and profits of the business.

Most of the forty thousand live here in the United States. But some of them live in France, some in England, others in the Philippines, Hawaii, Alaska.

13,000 of them are women.

Nearly 14,000 of them are employees.

The average individual holdings are small—about 37 shares apiece.

No one person or family owns a majority of the stock.

In fact, it would take 900 of the largest shareholders pooled together to vote 51 per cent of the stock!

These shareholders are the men and women whose money, in the form of capital, makes Swift & Company possible.

They are jealous of the character and reputation of their organization, proud of what it is doing, proud to have a part in supplying to the world such products as Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon, Brookfield Sausage, Silverleaf Brand Pure Lard, Wool Soap, Swift & Company's fresh meats, etc.

The executives of Swift & Company maintain the high standards of these products as an imperative duty not only to the 40,000 shareholders, but to the public.

POLICE CHIEF HELD SINCERE

Committee of City Council Reports on Alleged Arrest of Raffety

ACTION IS CALLED JOKE

Chief Moffitt Said to Have Put up Money to Prevent Embarrassment

Inspector T. A. Raffety did not violate any traffic ordinance, nor did he put up and forfeit his bail; it was a joke that Chief Moffitt thought was serious, so when he found an apparently good charge on the books against a state officer, and no deposit for a hearing, he put up his own money for the court to manhandle, lest the police should seem to be shelling a way-up official violator. So the investigators find.

Now it seems to be officially proven that Raffety didn't ever go to court or pay for it. It was a real joke, and the chief's money seems to be permanently planted in the city treasury.

The city council committee reports on the case follows:

Both Officers Heard.

Your special committee appointed at the regular session of the council Monday, May 2, 1921, to investigate the alleged violation of Salem traffic ordinances by T. A. Raffety, inspector of the motor vehicle division of the state of Oregon, and the subsequent alleged forfeiture of $5 bail money beg to report as follows:

The committee met at the office of the city recorder on the evening of May 3, all members being present—Inspector Raffety and Verden M. Moffitt, chief of police of Salem, were called before the committee to relate the circumstances pertaining to the alleged traffic violation and forfeiture of bail money and the committee, after making a thorough investigation of the facts in the case, found that no actual violation of the traffic laws had been committed, and that the entire matter originated through what was intended as a joke but which unfortunately, was enlarged upon and brought to a point where it assumed a more serious aspect.

Raffety Innocent.

"In the hope of allaying criticism that was being directed toward the officers and fooling those who were seeking to make capital out of the circumstances attendant upon the case, Chief of Police Moffitt filed a complaint against Mr. Raffety and deposited with City Recorder Race $5 of his own money which was later held to have been forfeited by Mr. Raffety failing to appear in court." Mr. Raffety, however, was ignorant of the entire proceeding and is completely exonerated by the findings of this committee.

Chief Exonerated.

"While the members of your committee feel that the step taken by Chief of Police Moffitt was a mistake and only tended to complicate matters, we also find that his action was prompted solely by a sincere desire to relieve an embarrassing situation brought about through a misunderstanding of the facts in the case. By the findings of the committee Chief of Police Moffitt is also exonerated as to any wrongful intent."

The report is signed by Aldermen Ralph Thomas, J. B. Glesy, A. F. Marcus, Hal D. Patton and A. H. Moore.

EDWIN MARKHAM INTERPRETS ART

with something minute then the realization is art.

"The fine arts are candles on the altar of religion," said Mr. Markham. "The fine arts and religion are reaching out to the perfect beauty which the heart of man is ever hungering after."

Mr. Markham, who is a remarkable reader of his poems, stopping often as he glanced through the pages of his books to read one of his delightful quatrains, a bit of philosophy, or some of his verses written as the result of some unusual or interesting evening. Before each reading he paused to explain something interesting about the origin of the thought in the poem, the occasion for having written it or some bit of personal comment that made the reading doubly pleasing.

When he had finished the audience demanded "The Man With the Hoe," the most famous of Mr. Markham's poems.

Following the lecture Mr. and Mrs. R. Monroe Gilbert were hosts at their studio in the Bush Broyman building for an informal studio reception for Mr. Markham where all those who attended the lecture were invited personally to meet the poet. More than 100 people called for this reception.

Mr. Markham will speak this morning at 11:15 at the 10:30 morning chapel service at Willamette university.

MILLERAND IS FOR PENALTIES

French Head Says Germany Must Be Compelled to Answer for Misdeeds

KING ALBERT LISTENS

Belgian King Says He and Compatriots Sympathize With Attitude

LILLE, France, May 16.—With Germany still disclaiming responsibility for the war, there is no other course than to deal with her as one who must be compelled to make good her misdeeds, declared President Millerand in an address delivered today in the presence of King Albert of Belgium.

"If the citizens of Lille and northern France and Belgium are too generous to claim revenge," he said, "they nevertheless, in accordance with the remainder of the people of France and the allies, demand justice against the government and the nation which brought on the hostilities, pursued a systematic course of ruin and devastation toward the mines and industries, employing pillage and arson as a means of insuring their own industrial and economic ascendancy upon the coming of peace."

No Peace Basis, Clean.

"As long as Germany continues to deny her responsibility which her plenipotentiary acknowledged at Versailles, there can be no real peace.

"It is not to the democracies eager for work and peace, that one must look for imperialism. We cherish no ambition other than to assure to future generations' liberty, fraternity and peace, in which individual happiness shall be the fruit of disinterested devotion to the right and the ideals."

Albert Sympathetic.

Replying to President Millerand, King Albert said:

"Your words will find among my compatriots in Belgium a sympathetic echo."

Mr. Millerand today opened an exhibition of social welfare work. He inspected the American Red Cross and complimented Lieutenant Colonel R. E. Olds of St. Paul, Minn., Red Cross commissioner for Europe, and also the American Red Cross nurses.

GUN SMUGGLED TO WYOMING CONVICT

passed the line indicated by Biscardo. Three miles from Rawlins, Magor leaped from the machine. He was uninjured and Biscardo made no attempt to recapture him.

The first automobile gradually drew away from the pursuing machine until it was forced to stop 16 miles from Rawlins owing to engine trouble. Fearing a plan to trap him, the convict investigated himself.

Pursuers Hear Shot.

Leaving the physician, he ran a short distance to hide himself from the pursuing party. The convict took refuge in heavy timbers. When the warden's car drew up a shot was heard and Biscardo was found dead, one bullet having passed into his brain.

Prison authorities believe the revolver was smuggled to Biscardo yesterday.

OPINIONS COVER TAX QUESTIONS

Important Opinions Handed Down by Supreme Court in Two Cases

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Through decisions of the supreme court today the government won two important victories in controversies involving interpretation of income provisions of the revenue act of 1916 and 1917.

Increased value of a capital asset could not be added to "invested capital," the court ruled in the appeal of the Labelle iron works, an Ohio concern, from a ruling by treasury officials, but on the contrary must be considered in computing profits of the corporation on which the taxes were to be assessed.

In the other decision the court ruled that inheritance or succession taxes, paid to a state could not be deducted from the "net estate taxed under the revenue act."

This suit was characterized by a high government official as "the most important legal suit affecting federal finances to arise in several decades."

The specific point at issue was whether ore lands in the Mesaba range of Minnesota, purchased for $190,000 prior to 1904, could be returned by the iron company at a new valuation of $10,000,000 in 1917, the increase being covered by a stock issue and carried under invested capital.

Americans are Deated In First Practice Match

LONDON, May 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The American polo team which next month will play the British defenders of the international polo cup, today met the Burlington combination in the first "full dress" practice match and was defeated 3 to 2. There were some instances of speedy play but the Americans did not show the class they have exhibited in practice.

A bad spill occurred in the second chukker when Deversaux Milburn of the American four and Earl Roe's savage collided in a mad race for the ball.

Milburn rose smiling and unhurt but Lord Howk-savage, whose horse rolled over him lay on the ground. He propped himself up to finish the chukker, but then was compelled to retire from the game and was taken to a hospital. The doctors announced he had suffered a broken collarbone.
