Famous Physician Declares Beer Contains No Medicinal Qualities

CROOKED AIDS MENACE

Clerks of Prohibition Board Dishonestly Acquire Big Incomes

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Declaring it was not possible to draft a ban-proof liquor law, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, told the house judiciary today that some clerks employed by district prohibition commissioners were making more money in a week through dishonest dealing with fraudulent permits for withdrawal of alcohol than they would earn on straight salaries in two years. Approximately 25,000,000 gallons had been withdrawn in the last year of considerably more than a quart for every man, woman and child in the country, Mr. Wheeler said.

Mr. Wheeler presented hundreds of petitions from many states most of them from doctors, opposing the let-down in the Volstead law under which beer could be prescribed for the ailing. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, who was once delegated to find out "what is whiskey" told the committee in a 10 minute talk, that there were no medicinal properties in beer and that it had been recognized by the medical profession as a remedial agent.

Several members of the committee took a whack at former Attorney General Palmer for ruling as he stepped out of office that the let-down law did not prohibit that product as a medicine.

RESTRICTION REMOVED
WASHINGTON, May 20.—New regulations have been prepared which will enable physicians prescribing whiskey for medical purposes to write as many prescriptions as they consider necessary. Prohibition officials said tonight. Under existing regulations, physicians are limited to 100 whiskey prescriptions over a period of 90 days.

The new regulations, officials said, were ready for consideration by the new commission of internal revenue. The nomination of David S. Blair of Winston-Salem, N. C., as commissioner, is awaiting confirmation by the senate.

Removal of the limit from the number of prescriptions for whiskey, it is alleged, was made necessary by the opinion of former Attorney General Palmer holding that the only limitation congress had placed on the use of whiskey for medical purposes, was that not more than one pint could be prescribed for any one person within 19 days.

Only men and women who have suffered from kidney trouble can realize how grateful one feels for relief from suffering. Nathan Harned, 621 N. St., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for years, but got no relief until I took Foley Kidney Pills. Now I think I am well and I thank you very much." They act quickly, tonic in effect. BIG GAIN AT OREGON PORTS

Increase in Amount of Grain Handled in Year's Time Tremendous

EXACT FIGURES GIVEN

Effectiveness of Differential in Few Weeks to Cause Further Gain

The rapidly increasing popularity of Columbia river ports as channels of trade in the shipment of grain is shown in the figures of the grain inspection department of the public service commission. These show a tonnage of 175,447 handled by the department during April of this year, while in April of last year only 23,000 tons was handled.

Figures for wheat alone show that in April of last year 26,664 tons was handled by the department, while in April of this year the tonnage of wheat was 102,651, an increase of 76,384 tons. It is reasonably to be expected, say members of the public service commission, that when the 10 per cent differential in grain freight rates from the Columbia basin to Portland becomes effective about June 29 the Columbia river ports will be busier many times over than under the present rates.

A record showing the tonnage of grain handled by the Oregon Grain Inspection department in April of last year and in April of this year follows:

Wheat—April, last year, 26,667 tons; April, this year, 102,651 tons
Oats—April, last year, 1891 tons; this year, 2319 tons
Corn—April, last year, 418 tons; this year, 752 tons
Barley—April, last year, 196 tons; this year, 688 tons
Rye—April, last year, none; this year, 2340 tons
Miscellaneous—April, last year, none; this year, 2349 tons
Outgoing cargoes—April, last year, none; this year, 166,159 tons.

SALEM HIGH TO MEET PORTLAND

Track Team to Compete With James Johns and Other Schools

Salem high school is planning to stage a come-back in at least a few branches of track athletics, after the disastrous session with Washington high of Portland recently. The locals have not specialized in track athletics for some years past, though they have done football and baseball with conspicuous success. This year, they accepted the challenge to meet the Portlanders, and the inevitable happened — they were slain and scalped and thrown out to the coyotes.

The Salem management is putting some of the best men into the field now, however, so that they will be ready to make at least a good showing in the meet yet to be held this spring. A definite date has been set for a dual meet with James John school of Portland, May 28, in Salem, and there may be another meet between now and then, with some other schools. Jefferson school also wants a date, and one or two others if they can be accommodated, before the close of the school year.

Herbert Socolofsky is being put forward for the sprints, as one of the best of the locals. Everett Jones and Wayne Mack are working up on the mile, and show good form. Waldespell and Lenner will try for the half mile. Dean Cromwell is a most promising candidate for the hurdles, and Stolzheyl has a splendid chance to win the broad jump against any competition. His record in the Washington-Salem meet was close to college standard.

There are other men working steadily for places on the team, and a number of them will be strong contenders for the honors. The workouts are being held on Sweetland field of the university, as the high school athletic field has been pretty wet and heavy.

SMITH COLLEGE GIRLS START DRESS REFORM

Smith College girls are dress reforming. In the large picture some of the girls who took part in the recent dress playlets are seen, while the other shows three girls wearing campus dress typical of "better dress" models. No more knee length skirts is the edict of the better dress promoters. The flapper and the vamp will have to give way before the dignity of her college sister. It is a serious attempt on the part of the girls to go back to reasonable standards. The Smith girls are not dictating in their new love of the demure. But there are a few types noticeably successful. Probably the most popular fashion adopted lately is a one-piece sports dress. Dr. Joel Goldswold, the prominent Boston physician, is the power behind the throne in the movement. In his hygiene lectures to the sophomore class he clearly showed the evils resulting from the present day fashions. Immediately his advice was followed and now has taken Smith by storm.

WARNING SENT BY GOVERNOR

Executive Asks People To Desist from Marring Highway Scenery

Governor Olcott has issued an appeal to the people of the state to desist from cutting the timber and shrubbery along the highways of Oregon, and otherwise damaging the scenic beauty which is to be preserved, according to policies adopted by the state highway commission and the state legislature.

The governor cites a law which will become effective May 25 prohibiting the destruction of shrubbery or trees along the highways. His statement follows: "My attention has been directed to the fact that in many parts of the state people are cutting beautiful shrubbery and damaging trees along the rights of way of state highways," said Governor Olcott.

"The last legislature passed a law which will become effective next Wednesday, May 25, which makes it unlawful for any person to dig up, cut down, injure, destroy, or in any manner remove any trees growing upon the right of way of any state highway without first procuring the written consent of the Oregon state highway commission so to do. The act provides that when any person desires to dig up, cut down, injure, destroy or in any manner remove any such tree or trees growing upon the right of way of any state highway he shall file with the state highway commission an application in writing setting forth the reasons and purposes for the removal or destruction of such trees and upon the filing of such application the highway commission may, in its judgment and discretion destruction or removal of such trees will not mar or in any way affect the scenic beauty of such highway, issue a permit authorizing the applicant to go ahead in such manner as the commission may designate. The violation of this act is considered a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not to exceed $100 or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed 30 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. I believe there should be a wholesome co-operation in seeing that the intent of this act is not violated and that people of the state should assist in this movement to preserve our scenic beauties as one of the state's chief assets."
