TODAY IS TAG DAY IN SALEM

Everyone on Streets Will Be Asked to Help Albertina Kerr Nursery Drive

Today, unless you are willing to dig down in your pockets for 25 cents or more, you had better stay at home, keep the blinds down and not answer the doorbell, for the town is to be combed by solicitors for the Albertina Kerr Nursery home. There are some wonderful prizes offered by merchants of Salem and a large number of women and girls are out determined to win one of the three.

Down town there will be scores of pretty high school girls and some smaller children from the grade and junior high schools tagging tags, and some of the more ambitious one are going to solicit the residence district for the Dollar campaign. The business district has already been pretty thoroughly worked by a group of club and society women who have reported with remarkable results at headquarters where Mrs. R. L. Russell, campaign manager from Portland, and Mrs. John J. Roberts, Salem executive, are in charge.

More volunteer workers are needed. There can't be too many says Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Russell, and so these ladies are asking that any women or girls who have spare time today report at the Marion hotel to receive instructions to help with the campaign.

The prizes are a silk umbrella, Miller Mercantile Co.; 5 pound box of candy, Gray Belle; 3 pound box of candy, Spa.

JUNIOR HIGH OPERETTA GOOD

"Jack and the Baked Bean Stalk" Shows Talent and Careful Directing

If you remembered the story of Jack and the Bean Stalk that you learned when you were years younger than you are now, no matter how old you have grown to be, you particularly enjoyed the comic operetta "Jack and the Baked Bean Stalk" which the glee club of Washington Junior high school put on last night in the senior high school auditorium under the direction of Eugene S. Creech.

The audience was large and appreciative.

Forty students took part in the comedy which was in two acts.

From the first act which was depicted on earth the scene shifted to Cloudland, which is known as dreamland. Frederick Field Bullard is the author.

The staging of the operetta was unusually good. Some of the students displaying real dramatic talent. The singing was largely responsible, too, for the big success of the affair. Throughout the operetta there were the signs of careful and thorough directing.

Secrecy Adds Interest.

Carpentier was going through a few limbering up exercises at Mather's, while his manager was in New York conferring with Promoter Rickard concerning moving picture fights and other financial matters.

Apparently the mystery which is to surround Carpentier's training is only adding interest to the international battle, for Rickard stated that more than 700 applications had been received from newspapers throughout the country for press seats. He estimated the total requests for press accommodations would exceed 1000.

Clifford Gets Bad One.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 20.—Working in the shade and cool of his indoor arena, Jack Dempsey, world heavyweight champion, boxed three rounds with a trio of sparring partners this afternoon, punched the bag, shadow boxed and fought a 60-minute boxing bout for 10 minutes before concluding his workout with brisk gymnastic exercises to reduce the thin roll of fat that is evident around his midsection.

Road Work Eliminated.

Dempsey indulged in shadow boxing today for the first time since he started training. The champion, however, eliminated road work from his schedule, contenting himself with a short walk.

Before going through the gymnasium work-out, Dempsey and his camp followers played a second game of baseball with the newspapermen. Dempsey chose to play with the newspapermen.

He won the contest, 19 to 13. The champion drove out nine home runs. He is a left-handed batter.

The first of a series of fights in Dempsey's open air arena will be held tomorrow night.

sons have no right to search persons on public highways or in public places without specific search warrants, but if officers or other persons find any persons upon a public highway or in a public place, committing a crime in the presence of such person or officers, such person has the right to arrest such person without warrant, and an officer, after a lawful arrest, has been made, "or a crime committed in his presence, has a right to search the person arrested for evidence or for his own safety or for the safety of the public."

Confiscation Right Discussed.

Does the state prohibition law provide that officers may confiscate liquor found on premises, persons or vehicles, in search conducted without warrant?

In reply to this question the opinion says the supreme court has not ruled on what the proper disposition of liquor found as a result of an unlawful arrest. Neither has it ruled on the disposition in event of a lawful arrest, but universal practice is to obtain an order of the court for destruction of the liquor. After a lawful

Receipts Must Be Given

Does the state prohibition law provide that officers may search hotel rooms or individual rooms housing different persons under common roof on a blanket warrant providing for search of the building as a whole, or must they have specific warrants authorizing the search of the rooms occupied by each individual having living or business quarters under the common roof?

Place Must Be Described

The opinion holds that one warrant may cover an entire hotel or rooming house if affidavit and sufficient facts are presented by an officer to the magistrate issuing the warrant. The constitution requires the place to be particularly described. However, the fact that an individual resides in a hotel or rooming house does not deprive him of the constitutional protection against unreasonable search and seizure, and a room in a hotel has been deemed to be, by some courts, a man's castle, as much as a dwelling house owned and occupied by a single individual and his family.

Average Is Satisfactory.

While the prices are low, one dairy authority says that if the prices of last year and this, or the last two years and this, were averaged, they would give a fine average yield. At the present time there are few businesses that are paying a profit. Manufacturers of almost every line have been wiping their war profits off their books faster even than they were written on, and the whole business world is looking for the employer who is making a dollar. That the farmer, the manufacturer and capitalist should have to face this same serious problem is part of the national adjustment, and it is a condition that the farmer will have to work out of as well as all others in like case.

Readjustment Certain.

This readjustment is coming in
