AUTOS BANG ON HIGHWAY, TWO BRUISED

Car Piloted by W. L. Jones and Another by F. M. Lee Hit 10 Miles North

H. G. Merritt, a traveling salesman with headquarters in Portland, sustained a number of bruises when an automobile in which he was riding with W. L. Jones, in charge of the telephone exchange at Jefferson, collided with a machine owned by F. M. Lee of Portland at a point about 10 miles north of Salem on the Pacific highway last night.

The car piloted by Mr. Jones left the road as the result of a locked steering gear, proceeded along the edge of the highway for some distance and upon returning to the center of the road struck the Lee car which was traveling in the opposite direction.

The Jones machine caught fire and both cars were badly wrecked. A woman occupying the Lee car suffered minor cuts and bruises but was able to continue her journey to Portland in a for-hire machine.

The wrecked cars were brought here last night for repairs.

After the bid had been accepted representatives of the syndicate asserted that they had made a mistake of one-quarter of 1 per cent in estimating the yield and asked to revise their figures, but the commissioners refused to listen to them.

They said they had intended to bid on the basis of a yield of 6 1/4 per cent, but instead had done so on the basis of 6 per cent.

A new heating plant for the city auditorium, utilizing the natural heat of the sun has been devised by engineers in charge of the building. The heated air from this space has been found sufficient, when pumped from this space to make the auditorium comfortable during the summer season, both afternoon and evening. The plan has been worked with success, and Hal M. White, manager of the building said it would mean a big saving in fuel oil.

10-MILL LEVY TO GO BEFORE SALEM VOTERS

Failure of Measure Would Mean Cutting Many Branches of Work from Present Curriculum.

SUPERINTENDENT HUG STAYS ANOTHER YEAR

Domestic Science, Manual Training, Commercial Course in Balance

Do the patrons of the Salem schools want to do without— Manual training in the junior high schools? Domestic science in the junior high schools? School librarian? Commercial work? Physical training? Use of Y. M. C. A. or gymnasium? School doctor and school nurse?

These are the questions in so many words which will be up to the school patrons in voting yes or no on a 10-mill special school tax levy for next year, which will be submitted at the regular city school election on June 20, according to an action taken last night at the special meeting of the school board.

Position Made Clear In order that the taxpayer might have an opportunity for expression and help solve the financial problems confronting the board, it was considered by the board that the only thing to do was to give a clear statement of the facts as to just what it will mean to the schools if the board keeps within the 5 per cent limitation.

Should this be done it will mean cutting out practically all the items on the budget mentioned above or a trimming of $18,000 on the budget approved by the board, which is $125,000. In keeping within the 5 per cent limitation.
