TREATY RIGHT PROTECTED BY KELLOGG BILL

Measure Would Prevent States Overstepping Property in Litigation Against Alien Peoples.

JURISDICTION IS FIXED

Proposed Act Intended to Clear Rights of Federal Government

WASHINGTON, June 2.—A proposal to confer on the federal government power to determine and enforce, even as against states, treaty rights which aliens in the United States may be given, was introduced today by Senator Kellogg, Republican, Minnesota, in the form of a bill framed by the judiciary committee of the American Bar association.

Senator Kellogg said that the measure was put forward to raise the issue and not to apply necessarily to any specific situation.

Power Given President. Under the bill, the president would be authorized, where in his judgment any statute of a state or territory contravened treaty rights of aliens to instruct the attorney general to take up the defense of civil or criminal prosecutions brought by state officials before state courts, and to secure their removal to federal courts for trial.

The federal courts would take jurisdiction when an act has been committed against aliens which would constitute crimes under state laws and penalties similar to those provided in the state statutes would be imposed in case of acts against American citizens.

Government Now Helpless. Under present conditions there is no law authorizing intervention by the federal government for the protection of aliens in state proceedings, Senator Kellogg said.

I placed the mask over Chester's face and he resisted. The officer and the patient were wrestling around the room and in the tussle, the officer slapped Chester's face."
