Interesting Show of Arms Put on Display

An exhibit of United States army arms will be shown at the H. L. Stiff furniture store, Liberty and court streets, beginning today as early as the arms can be gathered and placed there for display. There have been many kinds of official arms of the army, more than most people could ever dream. They're not nearly all in this display, though there are 25 or 30 military weapons here

The display is offered by Don Wiggins of Salem Heights, soldier n the World war and Charles J. Lisle, of the Statesman, from the Sioux Indian war and the Spanish-American war. Some of the arms have interesting, known histories; others have lost the power of speech, and one can only guess what viccitudes they may have known. The exhibit is made in the interest of the soldier loan and bonus campaign that will come to a close in Tuesday's elec-

Studebaker Manager Puts On Big Free Show Tonight
