SIXTEEN BARRELS OF MASH IS CONFISCATED

Cooper, Fox, Mills, Brown Arrested: Others Escape By Hiding in Brush

DALLAS, Ore, June 8 .- (Speclal to The Statesman) - The biggest catch of moonshiners made in Polk county at one time since prohibition went into effect was effected about 1 o'clock this morning, when Sheriff John W. Orr and Deputies James French and O. P. Chase captured four still operators at work 3 miles south of Buena Vista near the Much Mash on Hand The two stills had evidently just been started as but three gallons of the finished product was on hand at the time of the Sixteen barrels of mash was also on hand, which goes to show that the operators were prepared for an all night's run.

The men caught were Wright Cooper, Jesse Fox, B. F. Mills and Forrest Brown. Sheriff Orr said that at least two or three others got away from the officers by concealing themselves in the brush about the place. Taken with them men at the time were three automobiles. An Overland touring car, a Ford car and a Ford truck.

Lodged in County Jail The men were taken into Independence this morning and given a hearing before Justice of the Peace R. W. Baker where they pleaded not guilty to the moonshine charge. Afterwards they were brought to this city ogether with the stills and were lodged in the Polk county jail. Sheriff Orr has had the men under suspicion for some time and has been at the place several times but was not able to catch

GIVES THE NEWS

During the last 20 days the Statesman has carried in its news columns 170 more local news stories, of sufficient importance to be used under headlines, than any other newspaper in Salem. This is an average of about nine more stories a day than any contemporary carries, a remarkable showing of superiority.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 9.-F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the American legion, was killed instantly, and Henry Ryan of Indianapolis, national director of Americanization of the legion, and Milton Foreman of Chicago, national committeeman of the legion from Illinois, were injured. when an automobile in which they were riding went over a 20-foot embankment here early this morning. Ryan and Foreman were not seriously hurt.

Colonel F. W. Galbraith, Jr., was elected national commander of the American Legion on September 29, last.

Commander Galbaith was the second chief officer of the veterans' organization, having been elected to the office at the Cleveland convention last fall to succeed Franklin D'-Olier, of Philadelphia, first president.

Galbraith served in France during the world war and has been constant champion of the cause of the ex-service man since his return from the ranks. The accident occurred about 1:30 o'clock this morning when the men were returning to Indianapolis from the country club, a short distance from the city. Mr. Galbraith's skull was fractured and he died before reaching a hospital. The other two men were able to leave the hospital after having their injuries dressed.

Mr. Ryan, who was driving the car said he went over the embankment when he lost control of the car while making a sharp turn. All three were thrown clear of the car he said, himself and Mr. Foreman alighting on soft earth. while Galbraith apparently was Byng, who commanded the British Third Army in Flanders, thrown head foremost among a Despatches from Canada say he is to succeed the Duke of pile of stones.
