

FLARES AND FLICKERS

Mr. McDonald has arranged a specially good program for his Wurlitzer concerts at the Oregon today. Concerts start promptly at 2:45 and 7:30 p. m., and in order to have as much quiet as possible, no one will be seated during these concerts.

Should an innocent man who has been sent to prison on circumstantial evidence seek escape or should he resign himself to fate and serve the term? That is the question which confronts Thomas Melban, Paramount star, in his latest picture, "The City of Silent Men," which will be shown at the Oregon theater next Wednesday and Thursday.

Jim Montgomery might have chosen the latter alternative, had it not been for the fact that his mother was dying from grief. He makes his escape, but arrives home just in time to see his mother's funeral cortege leaving the home. He goes west, and in a new land, builds his life anew. He is traced by a detective, and he knows that he can be identified by his finger prints. How does he win his freedom? The answer is one of the strongest and most sensational climaxes ever viewed on the screen. Lois

Wilson is the leading woman, and Kate Bruce, Paul Everton, George MacQuarrie and Guy Oliver round out the cast.

Should a laundry owner sit at the same table with a prince? The members of the Santa Vista Yacht club believed not, and that was why they tried to lure Franklin Pimney, the only member of the club in whose veins no blue blood flowed, away on a false kidnapping plot, when they learned that the club was to be host to the royal guest. But the fake plot develops into a real one and Pimney, after rescuing the prince from a band of anarchists in a haunted house, becomes his companion for the evening at the club banquet. "Fatty" Arbuckle makes this Paramount comedy picture, "The Dollar a Year Man," his funniest legitimate comedy. See the production at the Oregon theater today. Lila Lee is his leading woman.

"The Home Stretch," Douglas MacLean's latest Paramount-inec starring vehicle, has been announced as the feature attraction at the Oregon theater for three days beginning next Sunday. With the story hinging on the gambling proclivities of a young horse owner and his difficulties in freeing himself from the influence of the Goddess of Chance, "The Home Stretch" is said to afford MacLean one of the most entertaining roles of his popular career. Not only is the production rich in comedy, but it contains many gripping dramatic situations and thrilling racing scenes as well. Particularly notable are the scenes of a spectacular handrace started on one of America's largest metropolitan tracks. Beatrice Burnham, Margaret Livingston, Wade Boteler, Charles Mailles and others equally well known afford Mr. MacLean excellent support.

Ethel Grey Terry, the popular English actress, will be seen in support of Hobart Bosworth in his latest J. Parker Road Jr. production, "A Thousand to One," which comes to the Oregon theater Friday and Saturday. Miss Terry won her way into the hearts of the American people with surprising alacrity, and promises soon to be a star in her own right. Her role opposite Mr. Bosworth affords her every opportunity to display her charming personality and exceptional dramatic talent.

A strong supporting cast marks Hobart Bosworth's first Associated Producer release as one of the season's noteworthy film productions. Rowland V. Lee directed.

"Men Wanted." They hurl the darts of satire, filled with witty epigrams, and direct the general delight of all. They sure do dance, their steps are filled with unique antics. On the vaudeville bill at the Bligh today.

Santry and Norton are seen in a prettily designed revue of dance ideas including ball room step, phop, modern fancy, evolutions and eccentric twists. On the vaudeville show at the Bligh today.

"Broozy" Eason, the youngest who takes off the principal role in "Two Kinds of Love," is one of the selectest children on the screen. He is 100 per cent American boy and can tick his weight in wild cats. He is the boy who helped to put over "Pink Tights" for you. He was Harry Carey's pal in "Blue Streak McCoy." He is better than ever in "Two Kinds of Love." Arrange for a special children's showing and play up "Broozy" Eason. At the Bligh theater Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

"Scrambled Wives" the latest screen production of Marquerite Clark, released by Associated First National Pictures, Inc., and booked for an engagement at the Liberty theater, beginning today, was one of the successes of the recent Broadway season and had a considerable run both in New York and Chicago.

"The Devil's Pass Key" the latest production by Erich von Stroheim, the man who directed "Blind Husbands" is announced for next Thursday at the Liberty theater. Aside from the brilliant direction of von Stroheim, the production has the advantage of a cast which includes Sam de Grasse, Clyde Fillmore, Una Trevelyan, Maude George, Mae Busch, Ruth Kline, Lee White, Jack Maheis, and others of equal prominence.

Priscilla Dean's great super-production "Reputation" which was advertised to show at the Liberty theater a couple of weeks ago and was misshipped to another theater by the Film Exchange by mistake, will be shown at the Liberty starting next Sunday for four days. This is Miss Dean's greatest work.

Little Jackie Coogan "The Kid," will be seen shortly in his own picture, "Peck's Bad Boy," coming to the Liberty.

The return of Marguerite Clark to the screen will be welcomed by a host of friends and admirers that she has in Salem.

In view of the fact that it is to be shown at the Grand theater shortly, of special interest to photography patrons of this city is the announcement from William Fox of the release of "Skirts." This the first six act film of its type yet produced and marks a radical departure from the usual form of comedy entertainment. "Skirts" contains such notable entertainers as the Singer Midget Troupe, Harry Gibbon, Alta Allen, Laura L. Varni, Chester Conklin, Harry Booker, Dorothy Lee, Alice Day, support, Glen Cavender, Ed Kennedy, Bert Gilgospod, Blanche Payson, Jack Cooper, Ethel Terry, Rosa Gore and Bobbie Dunn, Clyde Cook being the star.

Clyde Cook who will be remembered as the star in "All Wrong" is the featured star in "Skirts" at the Grand theater Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Alice Fleming, who has the leading feminine role in the William Farnum picture "His Greatest Sacrifice," now at the Grand theater, is a Brooklyn, N. Y. girl. Alice says her eyes are green, but denies that is the color of her disposition.

William Farnum, now appearing in the new William Fox picture "His Greatest Sacrifice," at the Grand theater, hopes to return to the speaking stage some day and give the plays he loves best in the way he believes they should be presented. He believes his venture would be an artistic success, even if he did not realize big financial profits.

Not since "Hamorresque" has a production conspicuously revealed the childhood of the sum of been attempted, with the exception of Realar's "The Plaything of Broadway" starring Justice Johnstone. Many of the most effective scenes of the play are laid in New York's lower East Side, and dozens of children ranging from babies of a few months to half-grown boys are shown in the scenes. One group of five, six, seven, eight, nine and ten, respectively, each a distinctive type, was obtained.

The lovable little character of Jimmie is interpreted by Raymond. The part affords some splendid scenes with the star, Miss Johnstone, and the lead, "rafford Kent, who portrays the only scene of the play at the Grand theater next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

That famous old Mother Goose nursery rhyme, "The Old Woman to Life in a Shoe," is brought to life in a manner calculated to tickle the hearts of children both small and grown-up, in "Skirts." This spectacular six act Fox Sunshine comedy is at the Grand next Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

"Skirts" is merely entertainment or the juvenile mind. Far from it. In conceiving this comedy, William Fox considered the whole family, with the result that it has features which present a direct appeal to the more mature photography patrons. In the presentation of a vast aggregation of fascinating Sunshine widows will be found the type of entertainment which has made the big musical comedy so popular. In the thrills will be found the interest of the big drama. In the amazing variety of its costumes will be found the appeal of the fashion show. In all, "Skirts" will please every photography patron who wends his or her way to the Grand theater.

State Traffic Officer Is In Medford Hospital

Harry L. Griffith, one of the state traffic inspectors operating in southern Oregon under the state department, is in a hospital at Medford as a result of injuries received when he collided with a hayraker while pursuing a speeder. Rafferty, chief inspector, who has headquarters in Salem, is in receipt of a letter from Elmer Pollock, Josephine county judge, commending the work of Griffith in that county. He declares that Griffith made the highways safe to travel on, which he says was not the case before he came to the county. Information that he had been injured came from Sheriff Terry of Jackson county. His injuries are not considered serious.

Salem Heights, that maintains one of the most remarkable community clubs in the state, if not in the whole west, is to entertain the county federation Tuesday night at the community hall on South Commercial street. Fred W. Merrill, directing manager of the Oregon State Dairy council, is to be the principal speaker, though there will be other interesting features to make it a well-balanced program.

Mr. Merrill will present the dairy interests in their proper relation to the rest of society and business, butter, cheese, cream, leather for shoes.

The Salem Heights Community club has been held up as a model for every other dear-city community to follow. The members have refused to agree that they can't be either city or country. They have started out to be themselves in their own way, and the whole story of their development
