390 PUPILS TAKE COURSE
Registration for Daily Vacation Bible Study Proves Big Surprise

MORE TEACHERS NEEDED
Three Weeks of Work May Culminate With Big Public Program

Three hundred and ninety pupils were registered in the Daily Vacation Bible study classes at the opening of the course Monday morning. This is practically double the attendance that had been anticipated for the opening of the school, and the directors express themselves as delighted at the response given their invitation to join.

Twenty-five teachers were in service yesterday, but more will have to be added beginning with today, because of the larger enrollment than had been expected. Some good volunteers are asked for, and there will be work for all who are likely to be found.

Picnic in Prospect
The work is to be carried on in the morning from 9:30 until 12. It is expected that several picnics will be arranged for the afternoons, some organized play periods where the children will be well supervised and given the times of their lives.

The mornings will be devoted largely to an intensive study of the Bible, with enough other interesting features to make it absorbingly attractive. An enrollment of from 450 to 500 is expected for the present, pupils spread the news of the good times they are having.

Teachers Apportioned.
Of the 25 teachers, the attendance in the four churches where the work is being done, calls for the appointment of nine to the First Methodist church, seven to the Bungalow Christian church, five to the Jason Lee Methodist church and four to the First Baptist church. Identical work is to be done in all places, with the exception of the personal character of the amusements and the teaching personalities of the teachers.

At the end of the three weeks' course, probably on Friday night, June 8, a public program will be given, in which many of the interesting parts of the course will be presented. This will be open to the general public, as are all the daily sessions.

Principals Named.
Alphons Gillette is director of the school. The principals over the four schools are: Mabel Garrett, First Methodist church; Mrs. Florian von Eschen, Bungalow Christian church; Bessie Shinn, Jason Lee church; and Mildred Trindle, Baptist church.

REALTOR LOOKS FOR BUSINESS
Buyers Not Numerous Now, But Big Immigration is Expected Soon

"There are not very many present buyers, but there are lots of writers, a considerable number of plain lookers, a few mighty good lookers, and we're going to get 'em later on," is the statement of one Salem realtor on the land situation.

"They are coming or writing in from Montana, Idaho and Eastern Washington, looking mostly for small acreage tracts where they can settle down to build comfortable homes. Some want to buy in the city, but more prefer to get a little acreage, from 5 to 15 acres, where they can do a little farm and fruit growing."

"They're not all expecting to get rich over night, in fruit or any other crop. They will farm, no doubt, and many of them will farm wheat, but they do not expect miracles. The one great magic is the trees and the climate and the mountains and the beautiful green country that fairly knocks their eyes out. They're living for a few years in these brush and sand and the prairie dog towns and the rocks. Some of the children born up in those countries are honestly afraid of a city kid in a city cow."

"They buy the trees and the mountains and the fruit, and they are going to come in flocks. California may capitalize its climate but Oregon can bank on its big trees and fruit, and its soil and soil and fruit, and land its share of the people who have passed the weather-lighting age and want some weather that a man can live in without carrying a gun or a fur overcoat."

"This year ought to see a splendid immigration if the present promise holds out."

DEAF SCHOOL EXHIBIT TODAY
Visitors Will Be Received at Institution From 2 Until 4 O'Clock

The Oregon School for the deaf will close Friday, June 24, on which day all the pupils will start for their homes.

There will be no normal graduation or closing exercises this year, but today will be special visitors' day. An exhibit of the industrial work of the pupils will be on display, and regular class room work will be shown in the school rooms. There will be exhibits from the manual training shop, the domestic arts departments and the print shop.

The past school year has been most successful one, there being few interruptions from sickness or other cause. One graduate, George Brokings of Salem, has taken the examinations for entrance to Galander college, Washington, and expects to continue his studies there next fall. This college for the deaf, which is supported by the federal government, has the unique distinction of being the only one of its kind in the world.

An invitation is extended to the public to visit the school this afternoon, especially between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock, and see the work being done.

BOYS TO LEAVE FOR ELK LAKE

Truck Load of Happy Lads Off For National Forest Camp Today

A truckload of deliciously happy boys will leave this morning for the Y. M. C. A. camp at Elk Lake, in the national forest beyond Detroit. They go by truck to Mill City, then take the train to Detroit, and make camp tonight at Detroit. Next day they will go on in the rest of the way, 110 miles, on foot and by pack mule.

The chef and a few assistants have been at work in the camp for several days, getting the place in good order for the coming of "the gang." It is said to be as beautiful a camp site as there is in the Cascades. The boys will live in tents, with spruce bough beds, and they expect to find most of the varieties of wild game that can be found anywhere in Oregon before they return.

The cost for the two weeks' outing, including transportation, is $17 for the two weeks' stay. Some authorities have wondered if they can get through on that sum, for a boy in the woods eats a lot. A. E. Young, interstate secretary for boys' work, is in charge of the camp. Some of the boys come from other points, in Marion and Yamhill counties, though Salem will send the largest individual delegation.

COUNT OF VOTES IS NOT FINISHED

Women Juror Bill Has Majority of 617 With All Returns at Hand
