Three Hearings Held In Salem Yesterday

The public service commission yesterday conducted hearings in Salem relative to crossings near Springfield, Lane county, near Albany, in Linn county, and at Whitson in Polk county.

At the Springfield crossing, which is an overhead at McVeigh field, the highway commission wishes to change the plans and construct a permanent earth fill approach instead of a trestle approach. Adjustment of a cost arrangement is causing some controversy between the Southern Pacific company and the commission, and the hearing put into the hands of the public service commission for decision.

GREGORY GIVEN SCOUT HONORS

Business Man is Made Master at Ceremony and Banquet Last Night

To be elected as a scoutmaster of the Boy Scouts of America, thereby accepting the responsibility of leadership for a large group of American boyhood, is the greatest honor that can be bestowed on any man. A man may serve as a Scout counselor, he may hold a position of leadership with the organization, but that is different. Such an honor was paid P. M. Gregory, prominent Salem business man, last night when he was administered the oath of office as scoutmaster of Willamette Troop No. 3, Boy Scouts of America.

There was a large number of boys, including the banquet table at the Presbyterian church, in company with C. B. Clancy, president of the local council, and Walter A. Peyton scoutmaster. A toast, reminding one of the good old days when a fall stomach was next to godliness, was served by the committee in charge, after which the installation ceremony was read by Scout Executive Harold L. Cook.

Scoutmaster Gregory assured the troop of his good intentions, and promised all that they would have the opportunity to participate in a real honest-to-goodness scouting program. To the "preceptor" was his admission to his troop, declaring that so to he would be ready for the good things that are to come. Mr. Gregory has called a meeting for next Tuesday night which will be of special interest to every one connected with the troop, and a large turnout is expected.

Troop No. 3 is the oldest and largest troop in this city, and Mr. Gregory is its third scoutmaster, the first two having resigned because of removal from the city.

BUILDING BUSY AT FAIR GROUNDS

Machinery, Poultry Sheds And Other Things Make Good Showing

Bitten by the bug of retrenchment, the Idaho state legislature last winter cut out all the appropriations for state and district fairs, and the Gem state will have no more official fairs this year than a rabbit has an income tax. Oregon, more wise to the necessity of keeping up heart, and the spirit of progress, and the ways of securing good examples among the people, appropriated enough money to insure a splendid fair which will stand out in the north-west like a tall ceder in an lgo tree wake.

A great machine shed, 24x260 feet, has just been completed, below the entrance to the fair grounds, and will be completed in time for the fair. The shed will give adequate machine room for the competitive displays that are the best reasons for a state fair. The machine sheds are of wood construction, but the fine new poultry building, 80x120 feet, is of brick. It will be fine enough to make a common speckled hen swell up like an ostrich with pride and ought to give ten dollars worth of encouragement to the poultry business of Oregon. There will be nothing better for the purpose, west of the Mississippi river.

A new roof has been put on the state fair restaurant building. This place, that has been leased to various church organizations for restaurant privileges during the fair, has been made safe and dry, and a ducking is not to be an essential part of patronage thereon.

There are fully as many race horses now at the fair grounds as there have been of other years. The quality is believed to be fully as good, if not better. The auto seems to have been unable to displace the light harness horse in polo, polo, polo, and the game, and the trotter, and the side-wheelers continue to hold their own in the face of the hundred miles-an-hour gas bicycles. Some great races are expected to be scheduled for the fall fair.

The man in New York city who has been using Miltland prunes is very much satisfied. He should not find Oregon prunes in the small boxes which he will find the summer. He wants the Oregon Growers Co. prunes. I am going to my summer home in northern New York for the season and I don't know if I can get your Miltland prunes. There I have never found a pair that I consider as good as yours. I am anxious to get a box if you can tell me where to get it in New York. Some old philosopher said that to his generation. "My boy, I have experienced a thousand wrecks and wars, and national and personal catastrophes, and most of them never happened at all. Let's face it, some of these anticipated catastrophes, and wait until they come."

which most of them never will do."

The New Yorker borrowed a quantity of trouble that never existed, for the Oregon Miltlands have found such a sale in the east that they like words in the weather they're in over time's mouth.

Girl Accuses Mattin of Being Child's Father

Charging that he was the father of her child, Rosa Vitaliano, a girl about 19 years old, has been instrumental in the arrest Monday night of George Mattin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Mattin, residents near Madras.

Mattin was arraigned yesterday before Judge G. E. Ulrich of the justice court and paid a plea of not guilty to the charge. He was released at $200 cash which was furnished. The date of the hearing has not yet been set.

Diabetes Discussed at Meeting of Physicians

A well attended meeting of the Marion, Polk and Yamhill county physicians was held at the Commercial club rooms last night with more than a score of physicians in attendance. A scholarly paper on "Diabetes" was given by Dr. J. Shelby Saurman, which was followed by a spirited discussion of both the paper and general treatment and manifestations of the disease. No luncheon was served, it being solely a scientific meeting for the benefit of the hearing art.

NEW COMPANY TO COME IN JULY 1

business of the Phoe company will be carried on by a new corporation recently organized and known as the Northwest Fruit Products company. This corporation bears the same name as a former company now dissolved. The new corporation has leased the Fruit Troop No. 3 building and will conduct all this portion of the business, quite independently of the old corporation.

Upon being asked what he thought would be a fair average price for loganberries year in and year out, C. W. Miall, president of both companies, stated that he is not attempting to answer the question of what figure will, over a term of years, yield to the grower an adequate return upon his investment and for his labor.

Future Not Feared. Mr. Miall's hopes for the future contemplate a steadily increasing volume of business along moderate lines, and he expects here prices to be sufficient to provide the company with a steady supply of fruit.

In his judgment it is too soon after the violently inflated conditions only so recently terminated to form a safe judgment of what the cost of production will be during the next few years, and what a consequence would be a fair price for the grower to look for. In any event he regards it as being one of his company's principal functions and responsibility to take care of as large a volume as possible of each season's crop and thereby do its share towards sustaining the community and building up its own markets.

Will Use Many Tons. The Northwest Fruit Products company will use a large tonnage of loganberries this year, just how many tons Mr. Miall is not saying.

It will be enough, however, to make a considerable provision in its contribution towards carrying on the big surplus that is coming on. And this year, and in future years, it is to be hoped, and it is fully expected, the Phoe interests will remain one of the principal stabilizers of the loganberry industry in the Salem district. Certainly, it will be a most valuable service when prices are low, and the outlet through channels is precarious.

Growers are already engaging pickers, and loganberries will begin to come in within a very few days, perhaps some this week, and surely a good many tons next week.
