Adele Garrison's New Phase Of REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

CHAPTER 115

407 Masonic Temple Salem, Oregon THE TELEPHONE RINGS AT LAST

I sat for fully two minutes mechanically holding the telephone receiver to my ear, wondering at the sudden silence which had followed Milly Stockbridge's terrified scream. What happened at the principal's home? I tried to gather my scattered wits together. Instinctively felt that I must do something. There had been cringing fear in the voice of the principal's wife. Had she been alone in the house. and had some murderous nousebreaker come unexpectedly upon

With sudden unreasoning impatience I joggled the receiver up and down.

The Long Wait.

One thing was clear. I must stay in the office until I had the report upon the Stockbridge telephone. But I resolved to get away the moment that it came. felt a sudden loathing of the room and the school of which it was the PLANTEN'S BLACK center. I had experienced nothing but unpleasant worrying since entered it. The outer hall door closed with bang. In an unreasoning panic I flew to the outer office door and locked it, thinking my stars that it was an unusually heavy door. I had noticed that the communicating door between the closet adjoining the office and that of the 'ied check . enclosed therewith library was fastened, so there was upon the condition that if ediction upon my own absurdity. I flew to the window overlooking the winding walk leading to the street. Of course! Miss Wines and Mirs Pratt were placidly walking down it. It was their departure I had heard.

"Is any one else in the build ing?" "Only the janitor,"

"Will you do something for me without question? It is vi'al for both you and Miss Helcombe that you do it.'

"Yes, surel: I fought hard to keep my voice from trembling. "You have the keys to my private desk there." "Yes." "Please open it and take all my private papers out. Be sure to look over everything. There must not be one thing personal le't. Now I will give you the instructions how to find a small, secret receptacle in it." Through all the nervous tension of the moment the memory of Bess Dean's fanciful assertion swept across my mind.

Small Judgment Recovered

So there was a secret drawer in

Mr. Stockbridge's desk after all.

By Plaintiff E. M. Cannon After 10 minutes' deliberation a jury in the case of Harry M. Cannon against Edward B. Heseman, returned a verdict awarding $100.15 for the plainti'f in Judge nelly's court Wednesday. The action involved a claim for goods left for sale in a mercantile establishment managed by Mr. Heseman, the plaintiff, Cannon's suit being merely for the it was recently closed by a writ of attachment.

Members of the jury were A. L. Fraser, A. Wolf, Frank F. Proctor, J. F. Mollencon A. J. Buyserie, Allie Will, Nick Serres, Frank Bell, Lerov Esson, C. M. Roberts, L. M. White and G. Standish.
