

LID GOES ON AT CAPITOL

As Economy Measure, Un-necessary Trips by Officials Are Under Ban

GOVERNOR CANCELS DATE

Olcott Not to Be With Excursion of American Executives to Alaska

Governor Olcott has put down the lid on the state capitol, and hereafter, until the state becomes wealthier than it is now, any official from a department in any way connected with the executive office, who goes on a trip on state business without the material authority will do so in jeopardy of his job.

The governor has carried the policy to the extent of cancelling his own trip to Alaska next month with the American governors who are to make an excursion trip to the northern territory.

Warning Letter Sent
The governor has sent to the heads of all state departments and institutions a letter informing them that claims for expenses on state business trips will be very carefully scrutinized by the secretary of state to ascertain whether the expenditure is absolutely warranted. A letter also was sent to the secretary of the governor's conference, Miles C. Riley of Madison, Wis., informing him that the Oregon governor has cancelled his agreement to make the trip to Alaska.

The governor's letter to state department heads follows: "While financial conditions in Oregon compare favorably with those in other states it cannot be disputed that we are going through a period of business depression and money stringency. This condition is felt in every branch to a greater or less degree.

Pennies Are Watched
"I wish to call upon every department and institution with which this office is in any way connected to watch with most zealous care the expenditure of every penny of the state's funds and curtail every expense where it is possible to do so and still see duties performed as they should be or state wards cared for as they should be.

"There are very few families under present conditions but must watch their personal expenditures most carefully and make some sacrifices of the comforts of life. While we have been operating strictly on a business basis I wish to see every precaution taken to hold expenses down to the closest margin. This is imperative.

"To those departments over which this office has no control I offer a similar suggestion as regarding the people.

Necessity Rules
"I wish to add that it is the duty of this office under the law to authorize all trips taken outside of the state on state's business. Without such authorization claims for such expenses cannot be audited by the secretary of state. These authorizations will be most closely scrutinized and no authorization of this nature will be approved by me unless it is shown the trip is very essential to the state's interest and one having a distinct economical value.

Expenses must be curtailed and no expenditures permitted except those absolutely necessary to fulfilling the strictest needs of state government."

Chautauqua Lecturers To Talk at Luncheon

Monday noon's luncheon at the Commercial club will be like home, for John is back with his smile in everything. The Commercial club without him would be a barren waste, a delusion and a snare and a vain shell of nothing. He will serve another of those famous salad luncheons.

Two of the Chautauqua lecturers, M. S. Taylor and Burnell Ford, are to be on the literary program, to give the diners a taste of philosophy and electricity. Mr. Taylor is local manager for the Chautauqua, and Mr. Ford is one of the foremost electrical inventors and lecturers of the age. Both are "big league" stuff. The luncheon is served promptly at noon, Monday, and Manager McCroskey hopes to have the place crowded.

It requires the other fellow to see the bright side of your misfortunes.

OFFICERS GRAB LIQUOR CARGO

Mystery of Elusive Pirate Ship Off New England May Be Solved

WELL KNOWN MEN HELD

Booze Found on Board Valued at $50,000—Eighteen Under Arrest

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 23—In the seizure of the auxiliary sword-fishing sloop Jennie T., of Northport, N. Y., the confiscation of liquor valued at more than $50,000 and the arrests of 18 men in a spectacular raid today, federal officials believe they have solved the mystery attached to the elusive "pirate ship" which had been sighted at various times of the New Jersey coast near Montauk Point and in Long Island sound.

Connection is Established
The authorities have not yet determined whether there was any direct connection between the Jennie T. and the British schooner Pocomoke, they said tonight. The Pocomoke, bound from Nassau, Bahama Islands, with a shipment of liquors consigned to Canadian ports, put into Atlantic City a few days ago with her cargo missing. It was explained at the time that the liquor had been jettisoned at sea. The Jennie T. docked at Lighthouse point, an amusement resort at an eastern entrance of New Haven harbor, early today laden to capacity with a valuable cargo of liquor, the marks on the cases and bottles indicating that it came from Bermuda and the West Indies.

Prominent Men Held
The 18 men arrested included Joseph Miller, skipper of the Jennie T.; J. Harmer Bronson, a well known local sportsman; Pearl P. Sperry, Jr., an ex-liquor dealer, and David Gherlone, president of the French-Italian importing company of this city.

All were released on bonds of $2,000 each for a hearing Monday.

Pocomoke Seized.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 23—Federal officers today seized the British two-masted schooner Pocomoke, moored in Gardner's basin in the inlet district here. The seizure was made by John Holdzkom, chief keeper of the coast guards, acting under instructions from Collector Berry of Philadelphia, to hold the vessel pending an investigation of rumors that she had a cargo of liquor aboard, but no liquor was found. Capt. J. A. Roy, the French-Canadian skipper, insisted that his vessel sprang a leak during a storm off the coast here and that as a consequence he threw overboard 1000 cases of liquor which he had aboard.

While the federal guards were seizing the schooner, federal prohibition officers combed the city for a trace of Captain Roy's cargo.

Silverton Here Today To Play With Senators

Just what the Silverton baseball aggregation will do to the Salem Senators at Oxford park, this afternoon, is highly conjectural. The Silverton boys are a bunch of dark horses so far as what they can do with the Senators is concerned. The Silvertonians have taken a group of fast games this year and have expressed determination to beat the "ren" of Salem's willow-wielders.

Personnel of the Silverton nine is unknown. Reddy Bishop will toss the pill for Salem, while "Frisco" Edwards will juggle the mask and give signals. With Dick Nelson at first, Hugh McKenna, second; "Mike" Miller, short; Coleman, third and Hayes, Hoops and Knudson in the outer garden, the locals are prepared to play ball.

Sergeant Davis will impire the session. The work done by Davis during the past two games has elicited much praise from local fans.

The Rockefeller Foundation contributed $20,000 to fight the epidemic which is now reported to be decreasing as a result of the campaign and the approach of the winter season. It was estimated there were about 10,000 cases in the affected area. The feature of the campaign has been the war against the stegomyia mosquito and the closing of water containers and stagnant pools in which mosquitos breed.

Doctor Hanson's staff is composed of three supervising inspectors, five Peruvian physicians and 100 inspectors. It is believed the affected districts will be entirely rid of the fever by the end of the year.

College Graduates Are Again Becoming Teachers
WELLESLEY, Mass., July 5.—Teaching as a profession is regaining popularity among college graduates, Wellesley college records indicate. Of a class of approximately 300 young women graduated this year, 110 signified their intention of taking up teaching. Several others were said to be seriously considering it, while a number planned further study in graduate schools with a view to teaching later. Courses in the college's department of education, planned as preparation for teaching, were said by Prof. Arthur O. Norton to have regained their pre-war level during the present year.
