Poor of Russia Without Aid While Former Nobles Abuse Kindnesses

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 26 .-The Russian temperament is proving a serious obstacle to American and other relief and charitable Americans trying to help Russian refugees often give up in despair.

The Russian may be described as money blind. He is careless with his own money and with that of others. Thousands of Russion refugees arrived here with plenty of gold money, furs, jew-els and portable valuables. Without a thought for the morrow.

they lived for a time in the best hotels until the money was ex-hausted and the valuables Then the hotel proprietors ask-ed them to leave and they went cheerfully to live in a squalid by- pagne or silk socks, or what not, street, not only expectant but confident the Americans or some other good souls would care for

And often it is done. One of the tragedy-comedies of the foreign colony here is the story of the attempts of a Rus-sian general to get his seven daughters to Paris. Dozens of persons have spent much time and money in his effort and so far three of the daughters are here and starving. The father himself spent 75,000 francs trying. The general, a good and capable father, got himself as far as Paris through the kind offices of United States Consul General Moser then in Tiflia.

In Paris the father mortgaged his estates for 100,000 francs and sent 25,000 francs to his wife and seven daughters to join him. They got as far as Constantinople, ught a lot of new dresses, attended the season's dances, loaned the rest of their money to needy friends and asked father for a large estate, which includes

Another 25,000 francs was sent to the three daughters by the father through a Russian general who pocketed it, or thoughtlessly spent it and the daughters are at different points in the Coos still here, their clothes held for Bay country, returned home last board and lodgings and they and week. They report an excellent their family in Paris are cheerfully waiting until the American relief organizations do something

The latter arranged for his passage to the United States, sent funds for travel expenses and waited. handsome baron pocketed the funds and turned up at the American embassy within a few days describing how his pocket had seen picked. A cable was sent the dentist and fresh funds arrived. These funds were dissipated and still the baron did not sail. He is now awaiting more funds from Chicago.

"Rent" Buys Banquet An American navy officer on station here was told by his Russian friends of their difficulties with the cruel landlord who was fore a capacity audience at the about to eject them.
