

BALL PLAYERS TURNED LOOSE

Case Against Weaver and Felsch Crumbles; Two Boys Are Happy.

4 OTHERS IN PROSPECT

Buck and Happy Both Hope To Get Back Into Big League Baseball

CHICAGO, July 27.—The defense in the baseball trial today in three hours tore down the network of evidence woven by the state in seven days sufficiently to bring immediate freedom to two defendants, obtained a tentative promise from the presiding judge for freedom for three others and presented an alibi supported by two witnesses and numerous written records for a sixth of the 11 men on trial.

As a result of the defense's first attack, Louis and Ben Levi of Kokomo, Ind., were legally freed of any connection with the deal though it is alleged Chicago White Sox players agreed to throw the 1919 world series for $100,000.

Acquittal Promised
Buck Weaver and Happy Felsch once idols of the American league and Carl Zerk of St. Louis were promised acquittal by Judge Friend unless further evidence is presented against them and David Zeller of Des Moines, presented an alibi through his own testimony which was corroborated by witnesses and documents introduced.

Tomorrow the defense will begin trying to free Joe Jackson, Eddie Cicotte, Claude Williams, Chick Gandil and Swede Risberg. First on the schedule, however, will be a number of witnesses from St. Louis to testify for Zerk, the defense wishing to make his case as strong as possible.

Defenses Takes Time
Following him, Weaver, Felsch and Risberg will testify with Chick Gandil probably coming next. The defense does not expect to finish before the middle of next week.

The state rested its case today after Billy Maharg of Philadelphia gave testimony corroborating that previously given by Bill Burns, the admitted accomplice.

The defense then presented motions for dismissal of the charges against the Lewis, Zerk, Felsch, Weaver, Zeller and Joe Jackson. The state promptly rejected the motions against the Lewis but refused to take similar action for the others, holding that they might be further incriminated through defense testimony but admitting the case against them now is weak.

Alibi Set Out
Zeller, identified by Maharg and Burns, testified that he was in Chicago September 28, leaving that night for Cincinnati and arriving there September 29, the day Bill testified he had conferred with him in New York over the alleged conspiracy. Returning to Chicago after the two Cincinnati games, Zeller said he was confined to his hotel here through illness.

His testimony was confirmed by a witness who went to a ball game here with him September 28 and then traveled to Cincinnati with him. A hotel bookkeeper here testified Zerk kept his bill September 28 and left town returning later. The hotel represented against them and David Zerk's statement which was said to have been in the alleged conspiracy. This testimony was counteracted by his statement under cross-examination that he was not sure Weaver and Felsch were there.

Harry Redmon of St. Louis who said Zerk told him he was "the little head from St. Louis who started the deal," was the only man who testified against Zerk. Judge Friend held that this did not connect Zerk sufficiently with the original conspiracy which the state's own witnesses testified was abandoned after the second game, Zerk's statement being alleged to have been made after the fourth game and coming up in a conversation about the possibility of the games being thrown.

Players Congratulated
The evidence against Lou's Levi was that he bet against Cincinnati and Ben Levi was never mentioned in the conspiracy.

Weaver and Felsch were the happiest persons in the court building when informed of Judge Friend's statements. Tonight both were receiving scores of congratulatory telegrams and telephone messages.

Weaver said he wanted to get back into major league baseball, but Felsch was not so sure.

"If Judge Friend takes that attitude there can't be any doubt in anyone's mind about my innocence," said Weaver. "I'm sure that no one will try to keep me out of baseball after that. I don't want to play with the White Sox any more for I don't want to work for Mr. Comiskey. I'd like to be traded—preferably to New York or Cleveland—and play the outfield, my original position."

"If you play the outfield then I'll play the infield," broke in Felsch.

"Richard," asked the teacher suddenly, "have you learned your history lesson?"

"No," answered the idle boy slowly. "I ain't had no time for nothing but my grammar lesson yet."—Toledo Blade.

JAPAN FREE AS TO TERMS

Oriental Nation Not To Be Finicky About Far Eastern Discussion

ACCEPTANCE RECEIVED

Only Questions of Interest to One or Two Nations Will Be Avoided

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Japan's definite acceptance of a peace in the disarmament conference, which reached the state department today, gives consent to a discussion of far eastern questions in connection with the conference but suggests that problems which concern only particular powers or which can be regarded as closed incidents be omitted.

There was every evidence of satisfaction over the reply in official circles and it was indicated that the way now was regarded as clear for the preliminary negotiations which will fix the time and place of meeting and details of procedure.

Attitude Indicated.
A comprehensive consideration of the conference program before the delegates assemble also was suggested in the Japanese note, and now is regarded as assured. The attitude of officials here has been that such a discussion would be in place once all the invited powers had accepted invitations. A portion of the Japanese reply which attracted attention was a paragraph declaring it was the sense of Japan that during the conference "problems such as are of sole concern to certain particular powers or such matters that may be regarded as accomplished facts should be scrupulously avoided."

It was made plain, however, that officials here regarded this statement not as a condition of acceptance by Japan but as a forecast of the attitude she will take on the conference program.

Pacific Issues Accepted.
It is pointed out that Japan agrees to a discussion of such subjects as may be regarded as bearing directly on disarmament and says that she is willing to talk about Pacific and far eastern questions which might otherwise affect only two or three powers, will readily find a place in the category which the Tokio government has accepted.

It was recalled here in connection with the Japanese reference to "such matters that may be regarded as accomplished facts," that the Japanese ambassador at London, recently indicated that his government would not care to discuss questions like Shantung and Yap because it regarded them as having been settled by the treaty of Versailles. In other quarters, however, it has been pointed out that the Versailles treaty is not recognized by China so far as Shantung is concerned and that the United States has not consented to the treaty's terms on Yap and other mandate territories so that in each case an open question is raised which would seem to make further negotiations necessary.

Program Not Complete.
It also is emphasized that because of the situation in the far east where various powers have a direct concern in Chinese integrity and have large material interests and concessions, it may be difficult to agree that any particular question affects only a limited number of nations.

All of this, however, is expected to be threshed out in the exchange of views which is to precede the conference.

HONOLULU. It is customary that a teacher from the States must teach on the islands two years before being permitted to teach in the schools at Honolulu.

Miss Smith reports teaching in the Hawaiian Islands as being very interesting. Due to the warm weather the school hours are not as long as they are here. The salary does not stop during vacation as it does here. Miss Smith says the only real drawback is the distance from the mainland. She brought many interesting souvenirs home with her. One of special beauty, is a toilet set made of a native wood and bearing the coat of arms.

Little Misses Eleanor and Marian Bedrick, who have been spending a few weeks at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, will return to San Francisco with the Misses Smith.

State traffic officers of the motor vehicle department yesterday concluded a two-day conference under the direction of Sam A. Koser, secretary of state, and T. A. Kaitety, chief inspector.

Plans relating to uniform enforcement of traffic regulations through the co-operation of county and municipal authorities were discussed. The field deputies reported that peace officers generally throughout the state are showing a fine spirit of co-operation in fairly interpreting and firmly enforcing traffic regulations.

Many suggestions were offered and considered with a view to better acquainting the public with the provisions of the traffic laws. Among them was the proposed posting of signs on the principal highways indicating the different speed limits and a concise summary of the traffic law for the information of visiting motorists.

Having been supplied with the necessary equipment, the department will now give considerable attention to checking truck drivers who persist in exceeding the maximum load carrying capacity of their trucks. Several tests with loadometers were made by the inspectors in the vicinity of Salem this afternoon.

Everything for QUALITY —nothing for show

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigarette aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.
