Spirit of State Training School Pictured for Commercial Club

PUNISHMENT MINIMIZED

Superintendent Declares He Has One of Best Institutions in West

"You can't find four hang-dogs in our institution of 147 boys," declared L. M. Gilbert, superintendent of the Oregon State training school, in an address delivered at the Monday luncheon of the Commercial Club.

And not only did Mr. Gilbert say that the boys of his institution were cheerful, fun-loving boys, but he is of the opinion that in general are not aware that he has a fine lot of boys, even if they did happen to get on a wrong side of the law and be committed to his care.

"Our boys work four hours in school, and then four hours out of school, which includes machine training, carpenter work, painting, work in the tailor shop and in the making of shoes," said Mr. Gilbert, "and they are as healthy as a collection of boys as you will find in Oregon."

One of the objects of the state training school, is to make reasonably good citizens of the boys in doing this, it is the plan to restrain and repress the boys, but to give the boy the feeling that those in charge of the school are his friends, Mr. Gilbert said.

"The law states that the training school is to govern, instruct, employ and reform, and in doing this," Mr. Gilbert said, "we are pleased to announce that physical punishment has been discontinued at the institution a few weeks ago. In fact, after it was decided to inflict punishment, Mr. Gilbert said he just went around and collected a collection of leather straps, which had been used occasionally by the hands and other portions of the boys who had broken the rules.

Scouts and Elks Help

The Boy Scout movement and the Elks have highly commended Mr. Gilbert. He thought that if a lot of men would become interested in boys, there would be fewer sent to his institution. He is so intimated that it was not such trouble to have a boy committed to his institution, when he knew the law, but if that same boy had a friend among men, a training school influence could have been spared. It is in the law and places in the country where boys are not looked after, that keep up the attendance of boys in the training school, declared Mr. Gilbert.

In the handling of what is supposed to be bad boys, the superintendent said it wasn't such a difficult job, even without corporal punishment, as the superintendent said, "Influence with the boys, although the mob spirit often induced a few to get together and make their escape.

Segregation Needed

Mr. Gilbert said he regretted that his school prevented segregation of his boys. If he had facilities for keeping certain classes of boys separate, he felt it would suit greatly to their benefit, at present, all are brought together in the day's work.

Commenting on the fact that only four women called at the school and asked to be shown all the horrible things in the institution, Superintendent Gilbert declared that if the public would take the trouble to visit his school, they would find instead of horrible things, one of the finest schools in the west and as healthy and cheerful a lot of boys as could be found in any school or educational institution.

FORMER CITY COUNCILS CALLED NEGLIGENT

The council and ordered referred to the city purchasing agent for instructions to secure the equipment needed to secure the South Desk License.

"As the ordinance now rests in the hands of Chairman Patton's committee, I would like to ask you when the ordinance proposing the licensing and regulation of all drink establishments will be brought forward," asked Alderman Thompson.

"Because of my recent poor health I have been unable to bring an ordinance for presentation," stated Alderman Patton, who expressed the opinion that he did not favor the proposed measure very highly and asked that a public hearing be held so that persons interested could be heard. Mayor Johnson authorized the hearing in the matter for Wednesday at 10 a. m.

The ordinance proposing a license fee for soft drink establishments provides, further, for a better regulation of such vendors. The bill was recently drawn up by Attorney Ray L. Smith and is sponsored by the police committee.

Almed at Booz Venders

"If this ordinance is placed upon the books we can take action against those pool-room and soft drink establishments found guilty of vending liquor," explained Alderman Thompson. "As it is now, they can cover up their pool and billiard tables when convicted of these charges and then proceed to operate their business unimpeded. The sale of soft drink establishments," Alderman Gilbert also defended

ZORK COUSEL IS DRAMATIC

Lawyers For Defense Says Higher-ups In Baseball Scandal Left Alone

NIGHT SESSION HELD

Defense Finishes Today And Case Expected To Reach Jury Before Night

Oregon Packing Company To Start On Pear Run About August 15

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The defense counsel in the baseball trial today placed the major part of its closing arguments before the jury in a series of pleas brought to a climax in a dramatic address by A. Morgan Frumberg of St. Louis, attorney for Carl Zork, in which he charged that the state, having let the instigators of the baseball scandal go free, was "trying to make good its underpaid ball players and penny-ante gamblers."

Big Ones Still Free

Mr. Frumberg repeatedly asked the jury in reaching its verdict to consider why Arnold Rothstein of New York had never been indicted when the state's witnesses in the trial named him as the financier of the alleged conspiracy, and why J. J. Sullivan of Boston, Ralph Brown of New York, Hal Chase and Abe Attell, others who have been termed leaders in the case, were never brought to trial, as was Volney Davis.

Previously to Mr. Frumberg's address, Henry Berger had told the jury that Ban Johnson, American league president, had furthered this case in an effort to injure his enemy, Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago American league club and presented a series of court rulings which he held proved there was no violation of law even if the players did throw the 1919 world series games.

Michael Ahern also delved into the conspiracy laws and Max Luster emphasized the alibi presented for his client, David Zelev of Des Moines, claiming that this alibi proved false the testimony of Bill Burns that Zelev was Benett, a lieutenant of Rothstein.

Burns was attacked by all of the attorneys, Mr. Berger terming the original ordinance covering this case of clubs and ace of spades.

"They are the two black aces," said Mr. Berger. "Burns the club who knocks and Maharg the spade who dug up Burns.

A three-hour night session was held with Thomas Nash, representing Happy Felsch, Buck Weaver and Swede Rieber taking up most of the time. Tomorrow the defense will finish its pleas, the state will present its final rebuttal and the case is expected to go to the jury before tomorrow night.

BRICK BUILDINGS COUNCIL'S ORDER

Independence Takes Action To Forestall Damage By Fire In Future

INDEPENDENCE, Or., July 30.—(Special to The Statesman)—At a special meeting held by the city council an ordinance was introduced that all business buildings constructed in the future shall be of brick, cement or sun-dried adobe and there a building is damaged by fire to the extent of 25 per cent, it cannot be repaired. The fire regulatory district includes the business portion of the city from A street to D north and south and from alley line east of First to the east side of Second street, eliminating a quarter block at A and Second, now used as residence property.

During the past four weeks the fire department has answered five calls, two of these being due to burning weeds and other debris. As a fire precaution in the future the city is going to be strict in enforcing the ordinance that weeds and brush along street parkings and other places be cleaned up and removed.

The council ordered the city engineer to prepare specifications for grading and graveling G street. As soon as he files his report bids will be received for the work.

An ordinance was passed ordering the construction of a sidewalk in front of the property of Mrs. Stringer in the north part of town.

Dallas Case Against Polk County Dismissed

DALLAS, Or., Aug. 1.—(Special to The Statesman)—

The case of the city of Dallas against the county court of Polk County, the violation of an ordinance prohibiting the operating of a tractor on the hard surfaced streets of the city was dismissed when the case came up for hearing before Police Judge John T. Ford.

The case was the outcome of one of the employees of the county running a tractor on Main street Thursday afternoon. The tractor cut into the top of the street and a scarifer and grader that followed did considerable damage. The machines were being taken to North Dallas and the operator, all streets with the exception of Main street were closed on account of paving operations now being carried on here.
