Capitol Street Case
Is Considered Further

At a meeting held last night at the Commercial club of those interested in the extension of Capitol street to the Fairgrounds road, the general proposal was zone over, but nothing definite done, an account of the absence from the city of several members of the city council.

As Capitol street residents are in earnest in having the street extended, within a few days a meeting will be called to be attended by the mayor and members of the street committee and those interested in the extension of the street.

It is thought that some plan can be worked out by which the street can be opened for the three blocks and graded from the North Capitol street which is now being paved.

Silverton Threshermen
Are Halted by Rain

SILVERTON, Ore., Aug. 18.—(Special to The Statesman.)—Due to the heavy rain fall last night the threshing of grain had to be discontinued for the greater part of today. Some of the threshing machines started in immediately after rain today while others waited until later in the afternoon.

For all other purposes than threshing the rain was very welcome in this community. It is thought that enough rain fell greatly to benefit the evergreens which are ripening fast.

SCHOOL REPORT COVERS YEAR

More Boys Than Girls Attend in Marion County District Last Year

PAY IS MORE LIBERAL

Four New Buildings Mentioned in Annual Summary of Superintendent

During the past school year, ending June 30, 1921, there attended school in Marion county 1763 boys and 6902 girls, according to the annual report just issued by Mrs. M. L. Fulkerson, county superintendent of schools.

Boys are coming of school age faster than girls, as the increase over the preceding year was 499 boys and 405 girls, making a total of 904 more pupils attending school the past school year in Marion county than the preceding year.

Teachers Increasing.—The number of teachers employed in Marion county the past year was 389, of which 64 were men and 325 women. This is an increase of 40 teachers over the preceding year. Twenty-three more men taught school this past year than the preceding year.

In the county are 132 organized districts. There are 149 school houses, of which four were built the past year, according to the report.

During the school year Mrs. Fulkerson as county superintendent traveled 5000 miles visiting schools and attending to the duties of county superintendent.

More Paid in Wages.—The Marion county schools now have on hand library books to the number of 37,951, an increase of 402 during the year.

Teachers' wages for the year amounted to $336,860.58. This is an increase of $30,387.03 over the preceding year.

Very few schools rent rooms, as the total amount paid in Marion county for the year amounted to only $984.88. Improvements have been going on at the schools spent $35,914.05 in repairs and improving grounds.

The estimated value of school-houses and grounds in Marion county is $889,750, according to Mrs. Fulkerson's report. This is an increase of $25,162 over the preceding year.

Salaries Better.—Salaries of teachers in Marion county are much better than they were for the school year ending in June, 1920. For the past school year the average monthly salary of the men averaged $115 a month, while for the preceding year it was $125 a month.

Women teachers are also faring better than formerly in the way of salaries. Last school year their monthly average was $102.82 a month, while for the preceding year it was only $82 a month.

All Classes Do Better.

is doing much better than formerly. For the last year the one-room teacher averaged $101.77 a month, while for the preceding year the average was only $79.40 a month.

Principals of buildings having more than one-room did a little better this past year with an average monthly pay of $135.52 a month, compared to $130 a month for the preceding year.

Directors Show Interest.—In the matter of attendance the average for the past year was 94 per cent, the same as that for the preceding year.

Taking the county as a whole, Mrs. Fulkerson says that the cause of education has advanced materially during the past year. Directors are more willing to maintain first-class schools in their districts and are willing to pay for the better teachers.

Boys at McCredie Are Enjoying Annual Camp

Charles E. Knowland, King of the Cherrians, is home from a 10-day visit at Camp McCredie with the Boy Scouts. "Every boy is having a fine time and all are taking their turn at camp duty, which includes peeling potatoes and gathering up wood." Mr. Knowland said. Clifford Smart, formerly of the navy, has been a visitor the past few days and is instructing the boys in the way the navy ties various knots. George W. Bent, of Chemawa, is also proving a great favorite with the boys. Mr. Knowland said, as he is teaching them much of actual woodcraft and Indian sign language.

In the evenings, sitting around the camp fires, those musically inclined entertain. The boys will return some time early next week.
