Both Professional and Amateur Events to Be Staged At State Fair

JIM LINN IS IN CHARGE

Bigger Allotment Than Ever Before for Midway Announced by Board

Fast automobile races will be one of the stellar attractions at the forthcoming state fair, in which professionals and non-professionals of the Pacific northwest will compete for the $1,500 in cash prizes offered during the first three days of the fair. These races will be put on as extra events, the regular horse races being given as scheduled.

Special constructed racing cars will be used, and some of the fastest and most daring drivers of this section will participate. J. B. Linn, a member of the state fair board, is in charge of this special attraction.

are progressing, under the direction of H. C. Brown of Portland. The list of those who will send mounts includes J. H. McCleave of Victoria, B. C., whose splendid string were the delight of horse show crowds last year. Tentative arrangements are also under way to have the feminine members of the Portland Hunt club take part in a potato race against the equestriennes of Lincoln county. The matter was suggested to the fair board by the Lincoln county representative, and as the women of the coast county are known to be expert riders, it is thought that the feature could be made of special interest.

Two Carnival Shows
The regular allotment of space for the midway has been extended this year, to allow for the larger carnival attractions which will be made by two large amusement companies, one, the San Francisco Exposition Carnival company, making the western circuit for the first time this year. More concessions will be granted this year than formerly, and the public is assured that in every respect entertainment will be of a clean and wholesome nature.

Adequate police system has been provided for, and everything will be done to insure the comfort and safety of every out-of-town person who visits the fair. The Salem Commercial club, working in co-operation with individuals, will be prepared to direct strangers to homes where board and room may be secured, already listing to that end.

Grounds Well Organized
First aid and general information booths will be established on the grounds, and places arranged where lost and found articles may be registered.

All railroad lines in the state have granted special rates during the week of state fair, and this is expected to have much to do with increased attendance.

Various days have been set aside in honor of cities and organizations, with Tuesday known as Boosters' day. On that date Salem Cherrians will serve as official hosts. Guests will be members of civic organizations from all over the state. For their pleasure a special program will be put on, the visitors themselves being asked to put on characteristic drills, marches, stunts, interspersed with booster songs and yells. Wives of out-of-town boosters will be welcomed and entertained by wives of the Cherrians.

TONS OF GOLD ARRIVE IN U. S.

Large Liners Bring in Vast Quantities of Precious Metal from Europe

TREASURE IS GUARDED

Metal is Shipped as Freight But Stored in Special Strong Boxes

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Gold tons of it, coming here on every large passenger liner that plies the Atlantic, is handled by sea-men and longshoremen as nonchalantly as if it were scrap iron.

On such ships as the Olympic arrive millions of dollars worth of the precious metal—shipments such as would have swamped an old galleon sailing the Spanish main. But the heavy, steel-bound boxes of ingots or coin stored away in the holds of the giant liners arouse among passengers and crew far less interest than the presence of an internationally known actress or prize-winning Komeranian.

World's Gold Arrives.
It was recently announced that the United States sub-treasury vaults here already hold $1,500,000,000 in gold, one-fifth of the world's entire supply.

Gold is classified as freight and a certain rate per ton is paid for transporting it, although due to its value special consideration is given to its safety. On each of these big ships is a vault—known in ship language as the strong room. It is a big box or chamber, heavily lined with armor plate steel, located in one of the lower holds in such a position that it can be approached from but one direction, by a passage opening but from one door or hatch.

Would Trap Looters.
There is no space around the strong room for a would-be thief to work with a drill, and indeed, if he should get in he would probably find himself a prisoner.

Delivered to the ship in a European port, the purser carefully checks the number of boxes, notes the stated value of the contents, sees to it that proper customs permits for shipment have been issued and in the name of the ship signs the bills of lading. Under his personal eye it is stored in the strong room where it is again checked. The room is locked and the keys and combination of the door are retained in the purser's own care. On several of the ships electric alarm devices add to the protection.

Gold Has Precedence.
On arrival in New York the gold shipments receive first attention after the passengers have been discharged. A special force of longshoremen under the eye of a trusted boss is led to the strong room in company with a representative of the bank or banks to which the gold is assigned. The boxes are checked out, loaded on trucks, a certain weight to each man, and trundled away to waiting vans near the ship sides.

The longshoremen who handle the treasure make no fuss about it—it is all in a work day of eight hours—and gold or pig iron it is the same to them. However, once in the vans, when the ship is released of responsibility, there is a show of guards.

Treasure Is Insured.
What would happen to the gold if the ship should meet with an accident and go down? "It would have to go with the ship, unless conditions were such that it could be removed after the lives of all on board had been saved," is the answer of the lines. Like other freight, it is insured and not even treasure must be taken in to consideration when lives are at stake.

Gold shipments which have gone down are occupying the attention of scores of marine experts today. Numerous devices have been patented and many lives have been lost in attempts to salvage sunken treasure. Among hundreds of others a rich reward awaits the man who can salvage the treasure lost with the Lusitania.

Don't Overlook Diamonds

Kimberley was going back. The farmers were disgruntled. They said they couldn't eke a living from the rocky soil. And all the time, their ragged youngsters were playing with diamonds!

But the farmers didn't know. Many of them died poor. They thought the priceless gems were pebbles.

Some folk are just like those Kimberley farmers. They spend their time crying over high prices and then when bargains are presented to them they hold their heads high in the air and let opportunity pass them by. Don't be foolish. Your one best bet is to buy good goods here at YOUR OWN prices.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headache, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a table-spoonful of a glass of water before breakfast a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

Accident Commission Funds Purchase Bonds

State industrial accident commission funds totaling $46,500 were invested by the state bond commission yesterday in Oregon school district bonds as follows:

The investments were:
School district No. 18, Jackson county, $5500 at 100; school district No. 31, Klamath county, $12,000 at 100; school district No. 14, Lake county, $9000 at 98; school district No. 10, Morrow county, $20,000 at 98.

The Lake and the Morrow county bonds were bought through dealers, but the remainder of the bonds in which funds were invested yesterday were purchased directly from the school districts.
