

SCHOOLS OPEN AT EARLY DATE

Fall Term Begins at Many Places Next Tuesday, Superintendent Says

TEACHERS UNDER OATH

Construction of New Buildings in Some Districts Delays Start

Rural schools in Marion county are opening their fall terms much earlier this year than in former years, according to the records of Mrs. M. L. Fulkerson, county superintendent. The only exception is with those districts that are building new school houses.

A few schools will open next Tuesday, while the later ones have postponed opening until the week following the state fair. Three rural schools open Monday of state fair week.

Before the teacher can begin teaching for the coming school year, his or her contract must be filed with the county superintendent and this contract cannot be filed until the teacher has complied with the state law and has read certain books known as the state reading circle course.

As a precaution in patriotic teaching, each teacher must, with the contract, subscribe to the following:

"I solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the state of Oregon and the laws enacted thereunder, and that I will teach by precept and example respect for the laws of the United States and the state of Oregon; reverence for law and order and undivided allegiance to the government of our country, the United States of America."

SALEM AND EUGENE MAY AGAIN COMPETE

This year made the proposal that Eugene would come here.

Trouble Not Mentioned.

In the letter of the manager no reference was made to statements accredited to Salem student officials that they would guarantee absolute protection to Eugene students do come here, it being placed on the basis with all previous offers, that such a guarantee is a matter of course.

Difficulty Throughout Year.

The controversy of last year, during which Eugene is said to have severed relations with Salem, continued during the greater part of the year and was first started shortly after the Salem-Eugene game.

UNION LEADER BLAMES GUARDS

to disperse peaceably and return to their homes, with the distinct understanding that their lives would be protected whilst following out the terms of the agreement.

Crime Related.

"The miners, in good faith, did disperse and did return to their homes, but not quite 24 hours later an armed band of men, consisting of members of the state constabulary and deputies from Logan county, crept into the town of Sharples in the dead of the night, when the men, women and children of the community were in their beds, and when those armed thugs had completed their night's work, they had killed two members of the United Mine Workers of America and injured another two. They stealthily crept back to where they came from, and despite the fact that the responsibility for the commission of this most reprehensible crime was charged directly to the state, yet up until today, so far as I know, the governor of the state of West Virginia has not even interested himself in this most deliberate killing, which, it is alleged, members of his own state constabulary committed on August 27.

Citizenry Outraged

"The feelings of the citizenry of the entire state of West Virginia were completely outraged as a result of the crime, which was committed in Sharples, and resulted in a complete reorganization of not only the forces which had returned to their homes, but in addition there came hundreds of citizens from practically every county in the state to join in a fight for the abolition of this most terrible system which is permitted to be practiced by the state authorities.

The general impression that has been created by the governor is that the movement of this armed band of men is confined to members of the United Mine Workers of America. Nothing could be further from the truth. As a matter of fact, from my own personal observation of the men who are on the firing line consist of miners, railroad men, merchants, doctors, ministers of the Gospel, and almost every element of citizenry.

"Virginia for U. S."

"The slogan of the men on the firing line is, as they gave it to me: 'We fought for America in France. We returned home to find that we, in West Virginia, are not really and truly in America. We have made up our minds to do battle with West Virginia for the purpose of returning the state to our country.' Everywhere you go along the firing line, all that one will hear is: 'Let us win West Virginia back to America.'"

"Additional charges have been made by certain agencies throughout the country that the marchers have looted stores for food and supplies, and that in addition they have committed various other depredations. I talked to practically all of the merchants between the towns of Marmet and Sharples, and each and every one of them are willing to testify that they have not been molested in the slightest degree by any of the marchers.

"The responsibility for the present sad state of affairs in West Virginia must of necessity rest upon the governor. He has been calling for recruits for the past number of weeks to assist him in suppressing this alleged lawlessness, but up to date he has not been able to muster a sufficient number of citizens to make up a corporal's guard to go out and defend his policies.

Needs Federal Aid

"Federal troops are now on their way into the state. The citizens of West Virginia, who are on the fighting front today, defending their liberties against the onslaughts of men who are seeking to take them away from them, will undoubtedly respect the federal troops and mandate of your federal government. Their coming will bring about a peace in the disturbed area and that peace will continue to be here so long as federal jurisdiction over the affected sections remains in effect.

"But what is going to be done about the source of all this evil? Who is there in authority within the confines of this great commonwealth willing to stand up like a great big broad minded American citizen and seek to eradicate for all time the sources of these great industrial conflicts.

Action Hoped For

"Let us hope when this situation passes over and federal jurisdiction has been removed from West Virginia, that Governor Morgan will meet this situation by saying to the Felts agency and the non-union coal operators of this state: 'You must keep your Baldwin-Felts spies, gunmen and notorious guards out of the state.'"

"Such an ultimatum, served by him upon these people, will have a far-reaching effect in restoring that measure of industrial tranquility which the United Mine Workers of America believes the citizens of West Virginia are entitled to receive."

INJURED MEN TAUGHT CRAFT

Occupational-Therapy Department Added by State Accident Commission

BASKETS, RUGS MADE

Florence G. White of Oregon City Placed in Charge of New Work

An occupational-therapy department which has been organized here by the state industrial accident commission to work in collaboration with its physiotherapy department began work yesterday in its new offices in the Oregon building. Florence G. White of Oregon City has been placed in charge of the new work.

The work here is being organized on practically the same plan as that in the Portland commission offices. Men injured while working under the compensation act are brought to the physiotherapy department where tightened muscles, the result of their injuries, are gradually relaxed by frequent treatments. To train the weakened and almost useless muscles of the hands and feet again to perform their natural function is the work accomplished by the occupational workers. By such simple tasks as basket making and rug weaving, the muscles are strengthened until they are again ready for work.

Living Occupation Taught

For those permanently incapacitated for manual work the new department will offer instruction in the tasks which it is possible for them to accomplish. Where fingers have been removed the entire arm amputated, the men are taught work which will provide at least a living after they have been released from the commission's care.

Basket making is the only line of work which will be taken up by the Salem office for the present. Yesterday six men were at work learning the rudiments of the game. Rug weaving it is hoped will soon be added, but probably not for some time in the future.

Baskets Will Be Sold

The baskets which the department will make will be sold in Portland and in Salem. In Portland there is a ready sale but at least some will be sold here. The makers are allowed to keep the proceeds from their sales after the cost of the reeds which are furnished by the state has been deducted.

Miss White, who is instructing the eager students, took up occupational work in Portland and for some time was connected with the head of the Portland department.

AMERICA'S HEART IN NEW LIBRARY FOR LOUVAIN.

A visualization of the gift that will enshrine the cult of our justice where the Germans wantonly destroyed priceless treasures of five centuries shows it to be a worthy monument—the new library of Louvain—being erected by Americans. The new library from the architect's drawing shows how American gift to Belgium will look when completed. It is Flemish Renaissance in style. The corner stone has just been laid. The building is expected to be completed in 1925. On the right is seen the Memorial Tower, which will be 275 feet high.

Two Wills are Admitted By Marion County Court

Joseph Bauer has petitioned the county court for the filing for probate of the wills of Joseph Bromberger and Isabella Bromberger, both of whom made wills and who died within two days of each other.

Joseph Bromberger died August 20, 1921, and his wife two days later. In his will Joseph Bromberger named his wife as the sole heir to property valued at $3900. The will of Isabella Bromberger, which was made about two weeks before her death, named Joseph Bauer as executor of her estate.

The county court admitted both wills to probate and appointed as appraisers of the estate Joseph J. Keber, J. W. Ebner and G. D. Ebner, all of Mt. Angel.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Potter and Fred Wilson have returned from a motor car trip to Gandy, Neb. Hop picking began in the Albert Sather yard on Liberty hill yesterday. By Tuesday, picking will have begun in nearly all the yards around Silverton.

Thousand Dollars Awarded Independence Lodge Member

INDEPENDENCE, Or., Sept. 2.—(Special to The Statesman).—L. E. Fitzgerald received $1000 as a birthday present Tuesday from the Brotherhood of American Yeoman.

The organization has a provision that when a member attains the age of 75 years and is totally disabled he shall receive one-half the policy and the balance in subsequent payments. Mr. Fitzgerald has been incapacitated from work for almost two years and the policy carried amounting to $2000, one-half was paid to him in a lump sum.

The local organization, known as the Independence Homestead, has been inactive for a number of years, due mainly to the fact that many of its members have removed to other places. Interest in the organization has been revived and plans for much activity are in progress for the coming winter. On the first day in October, a meeting will be held in the Knights of Pythias hall for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing term, after which an effort will be made to hold meetings regularly on the first Tuesday evening of each month.

Mrs. Rol Walker who has been very active in Yeomanry circles in the Coos bay district, has been appointed deputy for the district. The present officers of the Independence Homestead are: Foreman, Mrs. F. R. Arrell; master of ceremonies, Frances Brown; correspondent, Mrs. Roscoe Staats.
