WOOD CAMP IS GIVEN MENTION

Aumsville Citizen Praises Conduct of Men Who Are Put on Their Honor

Asserting that the department of men sent to the Salem prison wood camp near Aumsville has been of the best, is reported by C. Porter, upon whose property the camp is established. Mr. Porter has been a neighbor of the many convicts who have worked at the camp since it first went into operation. His views are carried in a letter published in the September issue of the OREGON MONTHLY, LONG A HAND, as follows:

Describes Camp
To The Editor:—Having read your article in Long A Hand in regard to the prison wood camp near Aumsville, I beg a little space in your valuable paper for a few words relative to the same.

As I am owner of the farm on which the camp is located, I have been thrown in contact with the men at the camp almost daily since its establishment two years ago, and I must say that I have never in all my life run up against a better behaved and gentlemanly acting bunch of men than these prisoners here at the camp.

No Objection
I have talked with them and joked with them individually and in groups, both at the camp and in the woods where they were at work, and in all this time I have seldom, if ever, heard one of them utter an oath. Never have I heard one of them tell an immoral or smutty story. Never have I heard one of them speak a word that would reflect upon the purity of, or cast a slur upon, womanhood.

These men have made their mistakes and been pronounced guilty of violating the law, and they are now patiently, faithfully and uncomplainingly paying the penalty, and in many cases, sending every cent they can possibly spare of their meagre earnings to help their loved ones at home.

No Complaint
I say uncomplainingly, for I have never heard a word of complaint regarding those in authority over them, but often praise for favors shown.

As to whether this wood camp has or has not been a financial success, I am unable to say, but as a reformatory proposition, or as a place to fit the men for a new start in life after being discharged, it is most assuredly a success. I do not believe there is a man here at this camp who has been here any length of time but who, as a free man, would make a good citizen in any community. I believe those men have reached that period of experience in their lives when they would gladly follow the injunction of the blessed Master when he said to the woman who had transgressed to the extent of bringing upon herself the penalty of death: "Neither do I condemn thee; go, and sin no more."

H. C. PORTER, Aumsville, Oregon.

Midshipman Wilson Will Be Home for Vacation

Ralph Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilson of 1156 Court street, is expected home Saturday night from Annapolis naval academy where he has just finished his first year as midshipman and is now coming back to Salem for his annual 30-day vacation. His father will go to Portland today to meet him.

Ralph was president of the student body of the Salem high school before his graduation, in the class of '20. He went to Annapolis a year ago as naval cadet from Oregon. The winter was spent in academy work, but this summer the midshipmen have had a wonderful cruise in the good battleship Kansas, which is one of the famous steel monsters of the American navy. They visited Christiania, Norway; Portugal, Cuba, and many other places.

AGRICULTURE IS FAVORED TOPIC

Churchill Does Not Want It Made Farcical in State School Course

In a letter issued to the county school superintendent at Clatsop, J. A. Churchill, state superintendent of schools, expresses the hope that every rural school teacher who feels competent to teach agriculture will teach it, for it is yet in the course of study. Mr. Churchill, however, does not want a farce made of the subject, and demands that it be taught thoroughly by teachers who know its subject matter and are able to present it skillfully and understandingly.

Many inquiries are being received by the superintendent, asking whether agriculture is to be taught in the eighth grade of the elementary schools. Mr. Churchill says that the state department of education is very much interested in the subject, and would not like to have it taught in a way that would make it a farce. "I am sure that out of your experience," says his letter to the superintendent, "you know that if any kind of a searching examination based on the text-book in agriculture were given to the eighth grade pupils it would mean the slaughter of the innocent."

The large majority of teachers in rural schools are high school girls who have never had a course in agriculture. It is manifestly absurd to require a pupil to pass an examination in a subject when the teacher who teaches that subject has not been required by law to make a preparation to teach the subject; therefore, we will not require an eighth grade examination next January. May or June in agriculture. We shall, however, require that everyone who completes an elementary teachers' training course this year in Oregon be required to have a course in agriculture. In this way we hope to raise up a body of teachers within a year or two who will have had some training for teaching agriculture."

$10,000 Reduction Is Made from Carrier Estate

Sarah Elizabeth Carrier, executrix of the estate of B. E. Carrier, who died November 11, 1920, has petitioned the county court for permission to correct an error made in listing the value of the estate.

When the property was originally listed in order that the inheritance tax due the state of Oregon might be properly figured, there was included $10,000 worth of stock in the Meadow River Lumber company of West Virginia.

In her petition to the county court, Mrs. Carrier recites that this was listed as part of the estate in error, and that the block was her individual property. The court granted the petition and made the correction in assets of the estate.

When the B. E. Carrier estate was appraised and a record of it was filed with the county court, the total value given was $168,262.48, but with the deductions asked by Mrs. Carrier, the value of the estate is $158,262.48. On this valuation, the estate will pay an inheritance tax to the state of Oregon amounting to $3,272.87.

Site Is Selected for Grave of Leslie Toozie

Walter L. Toozie, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Toozie and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Toozie, Jr., were in Eugene yesterday, selecting a site for the grave of Leslie Toozie.

It was decided that burial should be in Odd Fellows' cemetery, at a site overlooking the University of Oregon, regarded as most appropriate, as Captain Toozie had been graduated from the university the year before he volunteered for services for the great war.

The funeral services will be held in Villard hall of the University.

INVOLVED IN PLOT TO FREE BERGDOLL

General Samuel T. Ansell.

Colonel C. C. Cresson.

Even though the mystery of the escape of Grover C. Bergdoll is still unsolved the special investigating committee of the House finds that many participated in the conspiracy leading to Bergdoll's escape, including General S. T. Ansell, former Judge Advocate, and Colonel C. C. Cresson. Both were involved by the majority of the divided committee of inquiry. Although Ansell is held directly responsible Cresson is also accused of having played an important part in the escape of the military slacker, according to the investigating committee.

versity, Sunday, Sept. 11, and the body will be accorded full military honors.

The services will be in charge of Rev. D. H. Leech, former pastor at Woodburn, and who is now pastor of the First Methodist church of Eugene. He will be assisted by President P. L. Campbell of the university, and Dean Colin Dymont, who was on the battlefield at the time Captain Toozie was killed.

Milk Goat is Carried By Party at Auto Park

Go as far as you like, and carry all the milk you want right along with you.

That's the policy of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hoobler, who stopped at the Salem auto camp grounds recently with their family. They are traveling in a car built by themselves, and in it is a space for their living milk can—their goat. When they stop at a place for the night, they stake the goat out to pasture, and when they resume their journey, the goat is put in its corner by the driver's seat, and the party has a continual supply of milk free.

The car is built on a truck chassis, and is completely enclosed.

New registrations yesterday at the camp ground were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Whennens, Raymond; A. Lamb, Raymond; Mr. and Mrs. J. Wagner, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Estes, Gridley, Cal.; E. V. Hanson, Seattle; Mrs. Flora Hartsook, Conwell, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Walter, Denver; H. A. Jarvis, Calexico, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Weaver and family, Rigby, Idaho; J. T. Rao, Portland; Mrs. F. Harrison, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Armstrong, Nampa, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. A. Belousk and family, Greenleaf, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Witzel, Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Leonard, Bellingham; H. W. Dinkie, Sublimity; Mr. and Mrs. John Bleiler, Seattle; T. Glansen, Portland.

When touring through the country never ask anybody how far it is from "here" to "there."
