

DAVIS TROPHY REMAINS HERE

Japanese Challengers Defeated by Williams and Washburn Yesterday

TWELVE NATIONS MET

Suzanne Lenglen Again Too Ill to Participate in Scheduled Doubles

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3

The Davis cup, emblematic of the world's team tennis championship, remains in America another year.

R. Norris Williams of Boston and Watson M. Washburn of New York, the cup defending doubles team, clinched the championship for the United States by defeating Ichiji Kumagae and Izeno Shimidzu of Japan 6-2, 7-5, 7-3 at the West Side Tennis club today.

The victory today in conjunction with William M. Johnston's win over Kumagae and William T. Tilden's defeat of Shimidzu in the singles yesterday, gave the Americans three out of five victories.

Contest Not Close

On Monday Tilden will play Kumagae while Johnston meets Shimidzu. The outcome, however, will not affect the status of the international play for 1921.

The victory of the American doubles pair which culminated in the retention of the cup against the challengers of 12 nations, was not as closely contested as the scores would indicate. Williams and Washburn as a team, were clearly superior to Kumagae and Shimidzu, particularly in the finality of their strokes. The Japanese, however, while they stroked the ball carefully and effectively, did not pair well.

It was on their earned points that the Americans won and it was in the scoring of these points and services that they showed their superiority to their opponents. There was but four points difference in their earned honors, whereas Kumagae had almost twice as many as Shimidzu. To offset this, however, Kumagae was less steady than his team mate and the Japanese made less errors than the Americans, due partly to their tendency to avoid taking chances for a winning smash. While Williams and Washburn had the same number of placements to their credit, Williams piled up far more errors. The same was true in a general way of Kumagae, who tried at times to make a forcing fight against the winners.

The match was played under difficulties, a thunderstorm intervening after the third set and delaying the play nearly two hours both days. It was a noisy greeting at the end of the play.

After the teams returned to the clubhouse, Kumagae, as captain of the challenging nation, said he and his team mates were well satisfied with the result of Japan's first appearance as a Davis cup contender. He said they would enter a team for the cup next year.

Miss Suzanne Lenglen, the famous French woman tennis player, was to have appeared in a mixed doubles exhibition match following the Davis cup play. She announced later that she was too ill to play, however. Her second failure to go through with expected play necessitated the substitution of a men's doubles match. More than 3000 spectators remained to see Clarence Todd and J. O. Anderson of Australia meet Willis Davis and Dean Mathey. The two pairs proved evenly matched and the most sensational playing of the day ended with a score none-gone all, when darkness ended the contest.

tion of the board. This has frequently been done by superintendents, but has not been required. L. H. Compton, warden of the state penitentiary reported a number of improvements. The old cove barn at the prison, he said, has been overhauled, a concrete floor laid and all outbuildings painted, including the shops. The farm and garden are reported in good condition.

Measles Invade School. Dr. J. N. Smith, superintendent of the state school for the feeble-minded, reported that in the last month there have been about 200 cases of measles at the school, greatly interfering with canning and packing operations for the winter. The Hunt Brothers' cannery of Salem took much of this work off the hands of the institution.

At the state training school all the boys have been vaccinated and the entire school subjected to the Schick test for diphtheria. All positive cases were administered anti-toxin.

flights were made over Boone and Logan counties today by army fliers. They reported everything quiet.

Reports Contradicted. LOGAN, W. Va., Sept. 3.—The state of "comparative quiet," reported earlier in the day by Col. W. E. Eubanks of the West Virginia National guard, continued tonight in the region of Spruce Fork ridge, broken only by sporadic firing along "crooked creek" and from the hills near Williams.

Various reports of resulting casualties were received, but the only one confirmed was that of the wounding of Boydan R. Sparks, a New York newspaperman.

From Williamson came reports that firing had resumed from the Kentucky side of the Tug river.

Plane Destroyed. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 3.—An army bombing plane, returning to Langley field, Va., was caught in a thunderstorm east of here this afternoon and is reported to have fallen in flames near Poe, Nicholas county, W. Va. Two other planes, also going to Langley field, returned here.

MADISON, W. Va., Sept. 3.—Detachment of federal troops today established themselves in several points in the region where for a week firing between armed men and deputy sheriffs has been in progress, and success in disarming some of those engaged in the shooting was reported by military authorities. Army officers stated, however, that the firing they had been sent to suppress still continued today.

Many Disarmed. Military headquarters were established here and posts were later stationed at Jeffery and Sharples. Late today the Sharples post reported to headquarters, according to a statement given out, that a body of men had been rounded up and disarmed.

These, with 200 other unarmed men who came from the mountain earlier in the day, were placed on a special train and transported to an unrevealed destination.

At Sharples a statement was made to the military authorities by a disarmed man that he knew of one man killed today on Blair mountain. He added that about eight others were wounded, but that his comrades had found it impossible to remove them because of the heavy firing.

On the Little Coal river branch of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad regular traffic was resumed today, since operation of trains was suspended several days ago. Newspapermen Lost. A squad of soldiers spent the day searching the mountains near Beech creek for five newspaper correspondents who had become lost. Information from Logan was that they had arrived there after a day in the mountains.

Moffitt Denies He Urged Watchman-at the Hospital

"I want to deny published reports that I am fearful of any trouble in the Salem hospital building, or that a special officer was placed at the new building, at my suggestion," asserted Chief of Police Moffitt, last night in reference to a report that the head of the police department had suggested the appointment of S. C. Custer as special watchman.

"Henry Myers, representing the building committee of the Salem hospital, came to me with the request that a nightwatchman be appointed. As is stipulated in such cases, I referred the matter to Mayor Halvorsen, and the appointment was made after the hospital board had agreed to pay Custer's salary."

Personally, I believe in the integrity of the union men of this city to such an extent that I am convinced that it would be a very unfair thing for anyone to attempt to impugn the motives of organized labor in this matter. On the other hand, it is easier to believe that every union man in Salem would protect the property of the hospital association, despite the wage difficulties existing at the present time."

Chief Moffitt's statements were made with reference to veiled reports that some hospital property had been destroyed.

Two Men Injured When Automobile Turns Over

Joe Asherman sustained a broken collar bone and severe bruises about the head and Frank Weiser received minor bruises when the car in which they were driving turned turtle in a ditch on the Mount Angel road last night a short distance from Silverton. Weiser, who was driving the car, claims that he did not see a sharp turn in the road and before he could stop the car it had turned over.

The windshield and top were broken and the car badly scratched when it landed in the ditch at the side of the road. The lights on the car were said to have been dim and to have been the cause of the accident. Weiser says that as near as he can estimate it he was driving about 20 miles an hour. Weiser was thrown against Asherman and as the result escaped more serious injury.

take "Tabby" long to work his old men into shape. The first few games will be away from home, the manager plans, and the first game here will be one of the major games, and will be preceded by a big rally.

Heavy Season Probable. Schools which Salem hopes to obtain games are Corvallis, Albany, Eugene, McMinnville, Marshfield, Woodburn, Jefferson High of Portland, and the winner of the Portland city championship. In addition, it is hoped that Salem will have such a record that it will be justified in challenging the school claiming the state championship. Letters asking for games have been sent to most of the schools, and as they open about three weeks before the Salem school, the local men will have their schedule practically full before school starts here.

Fall Fishing Season to Begin September 10

ASTORIA, Sept. 3.—The fall fishing season on the Columbia river will open at noon on Saturday, Sept. 10, and owing to the small demand for the lower grades of fish, the season probably will not be a very lively one, packers said today. Thus far only two companies have announced that they will operate their plants—the Anderson company and the Chinook Packing company. The price to be paid is 3 cents a pound for silverides, with no figure set for fall chinooks.
